ASSERTS LORIMER KNIFED DENEEN TO WIN SENATORSHIP

Representative Tippit Tells Investigators Aid to Stevenson Was a Factor.

RAILROADS BUSY WORKERS

Sidney B. Espey Names Two Attorneys Present During Fight in 1909 Legislature.

SAYS CANDIDATE ASKED FOR VOTE

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

The senate committee investigating the Lorimer scandal obtained telling testimony yesterday showing the bipartisan alignment which led up to the election of the junior senator.

Representative Thomas Tippit of Olney, leader of a Democratic faction of twenty-six in the Forty-sixth general assembly, told the committee:

1. That Mr. Lorimer entered into a specific agreement with the state Democratic executive committee to support Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for governor in 1908, against Charles S. Deneen, the Republican candidate and victor.

2. That Adlai E. Stevenson's son, Louis, urged Tippit and his followers to vote for Lorimer for senator.

3. That Tippit told Edward D. Shurtleff, Republican, after the election and before the legislature convened, he would support him for the speakership.

4. That Shurtleff was active prior to the senatorial election in advocating Lorimer's election.

5. That through their support of Shurtleff for the speakership the Democrats received fourteen chairmanships of committees and one-third of the patronage of the house.

6. That, while there were two Democratic factions in the house, they got together in supporting Shurtleff for the speakership and Lorimer for United States senator.

7. That his followers held a meeting in Chicago after the election and before the legislature assembled in which they decided to fight the leadership of Lee O'Neil Browne because Browne was backed by the United Societies and brewery interests.

Says Lorimer Solicited His Vote.

Representative Sidney B. Espey, Democratic member of the Forty-sixth general assembly from Benton, testified:

1. That Senator Lorimer, on the morning of the election, solicited his vote.

2. That either John G. Drennan, attorney for the Illinois Central, or former Judge Cantrell—he thinks the former—told him Mr. Lorimer wanted to see him in the room of Speaker Shurtleff.

3. That, accompanied by Edward H. Seneff, general attorney for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad company, he entered the speaker's room and found Mr. Lorimer, who asked for his vote.

Tippit Meets Shurtleff Here.

Attorney Marble, who examined Representative Tippit, first obtained from the witness the facts in connection with his following. After the election and before the legislature met Tippit came to Chicago and saw Shurtleff, who had been reelected to the legislature. Shurtleff learned from Tippit that the latter would support him for the speakership.

Senator Kern questioned the witness particularly as to the reward received by the Democrats for voting for Shurtleff. They got fourteen chairmanships and one-third of the house patronage. There was no express agreement the Democrats being willing to trust to Shurtleff's generosity, and he did not disappoint them. Tippit told Senator Kenyon the members of his faction told him what appointments they desired and he suggested them to Shurtleff. Browne was the go-between for his followers with the speaker.

Tippit said he did not remember his following ever holding a meeting to discuss what they should do on any question. The reason for the existence of his faction was the unwillingness of the men composing it to follow the leadership of Browne.

Tells How He Fought Browne.

"After the election," said Tippit, "Mr. Browne announced himself as a candidate for minority leader. He went up and down the state helped by the United Societies and the brewery interests. My following had a meeting in Chicago between the election and the convening of the legislature. We decided to make a fight against Browne's leadership. Several candidates withdrew in my favor and I became the candidate of the opposition."

Tippit added there were some members of the legislature who did not propose to turn the legislature over to the interests he named. He said there were other reasons operating against Browne, but they were purely personal and had no relation to his integrity or political ability.

Mr. Marble then interrogated him about the speakership election. He said the Democrats cast two ballots for Browne for the speakership. This ordinarily would imply leadership; but following the caucus held by the Democrats a meeting was held by his faction at which it was decided to act independently of Browne and his followers.

"I don't know," he said, "whether the election of Shurtleff had any influence on the

INTERVIEWS ON THE VICE CRUSADE.

Mr. John Oakhurst, the well known gambler, was asked for his opinion on the present war against gambling. "Oh, I suppose we'll have to lay low for awhile," said he, "until this spasm of reform passes by. I've gone through a lot of these crusades, and they don't last long. They're sporadic and are likely to happen about once in so often, but the public soon loses interest and we open up again."

Mr. Michael D. Piker, whose license was revoked because of the total depravity of his joint, was also interviewed. "My place will change hands for awhile," said he. When asked if he expected to continue in business he showed much surprise. "Sure," said he. "Why not?"

Capt. Stigmatism of the levee precinct, who failed to execute the orders of his superior until they were repeated to him several times, frankly confessed that he was in a quandary. "How was I to know that the orders were meant? I thought it was the same old bluff. Sometimes they mean us to carry out orders and sometimes they don't, so I leave it to you, how was I to know they meant 'em this time?"

Mr. James C. Sharp (Five Ace Jimmy), who has been hit by gambling and vice crusades so often that he is calloused, was very indignant when interviewed. "The whole trouble is with the newspapers. They get up these crusades to sell papers and raise a howl until the mayor has to take notice. I'd like to hand these newspaper guys something. First they're after Billy Lorimer, and now they're trying to down us. It's a conspiracy to hurt our business, and I wish they'd let us alone. There's too much of this reform business to suit us."

A man prominent in local politics, who has always stood for clean city government and clean politics, was interviewed. "Any crusade is better than none," he said, "and as long as the mayor is trying to clean up local conditions I am heartily with him. He has the power to stop public gambling at any time, and you may be sure that the gamblers will never start up again if they know he is in earnest in his fight to stop them. In six months we will be able to tell more about the effect of the present crusade."

An average member of the great public was asked to express his opinion on the vice crusade. He was enthusiastic in his demand for civic betterment.

"They ought to close all these tough joints and run the proprietors out of town. They ought to send a lot of them to jail. It's an outrage! By the way, how did the ball game come out today? I must go over and get the details."

EVANSTON WOMEN PLAN DANCE HALLS

Raise Money to Start $65,000 Clubhouse for Use of All Suburb Citizens.

IN TEN NIGHT AUTO TOUR

The Evanston Woman's club is going into the dance hall business. Three dance halls, managed or rented under club supervision, will form a part of the new $65,000 clubhouse for which the women are now conducting a ten night automobile campaign.

Evanston, it is said, is long on the classics, but short on dance halls. Those within its borders who have wished to turn for the moment from Tasso to Terpsichore have been restrained by the fact that the nearest dance hall is the Casino at Ravinia Park. Hence dancing has either languished or migrated.

Two Halls to Be Rented.

Each of the new halls will be fitted with good floors, pretty decorations, and anything else necessary to make it attractive. Two will be rented to dancing parties at the bare cost of light, heat, and upkeep.

The third may be turned into a public dance hall, managed by the women, and an admittance charged sufficient to leave a small profit. The move is still under discussion, and will probably not definitely be settled until the end of the campaign for funds is reached.

The campaign began on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, when fifteen automobiles, carrying two women each, left the Avenue house. They were gone an hour and a half and returned with pledges of $1,500. On Tuesday night a similar amount was raised. Twenty more women and ten more automobiles were enlisted in the campaigning crew last night, and it was said at midnight the subscriptions were almost doubled.

Try to Raise $25,000.

The clubhouse is to cost $65,000. The clubwomen are trying to raise $25,000 of the amount from the business men of Evanston in their ten night campaign.

"At the present rate," said Mrs. Rupert Dawes, head of the publicity committee, "we will have the $25,000 before the end of the allotted time. Many important men have not yet been seen. Nearly all that we have talked to are enthusiastic over the dance halls. We intend to make the club a place for men as well as women. We may even put in smoking rooms. It is to be a general meeting place for the whole town—something badly needed."

SNAKE ENDS CHECKER DEBATE.

Playing Policemen Insist It Is Other's Move, but Both Move When Live Reptile Appears.

"It's your move," said Patrolman Frank Crowley.

"No," replied Patrolman William Whitty, "it's your move."

The two policemen were playing checkers in the squadroom of the Desplaines street station last night. Just then Detective Philip Carroll walked in, stooped over Witty's shoulder, and dropped a small live garter snake into the middle of the checkerboard.

Then both men moved.

MRS. SCHUETTLER "CONFESSOR" FOR GAMBLERS' WIVES

Women Telephone Tragic Appeal That Places Where Husbands Play Be Closed.

SHE SPURS ASSISTANT CHIEF

Spouse Tips Police Official on Poolrooms and Card Games to Be Raided.

TOLD OF EMPTY PAY ENVELOPES

Telephone: Lakeview 1671.
Address: 8453 Bosworth avenue.

The above is the telephone number and location of the new, unofficial "bureau of complaints" for wives and mothers—innocent victims of the gambling evil. The building at the address given is a private residence. It is presided over by a woman. But complaints filed there receive prompt attention.

This "bureau of complaints" is the home of Mrs. Herman F. Schuettler, and Mrs. Schuettler just at present is the assistant chief of police's "one best bet" when it comes to learning the location of gambling houses which may be raided.

Women, fearing publicity too much to communicate to the assistant chief, have been telephoning to her every day since Schuettler was placed in charge of the gambling squad. Their request is always the same—that he shut up some particular gambling house which is eating holes in the family pay envelope and happiness.

Complaints Mostly of Poolrooms.

Ordinarily Mrs. Schuettler refers complainants to her husband. When the case is especially pitiable she speaks to her husband herself. And an official complaint from Mrs. Schuettler usually gets prompt, not to say hasty, attention.

Most women who telephone plead that the Monmouth Tennes racing service or roulette and faro games be broken up. The poker players seem to win once in a while; the race bettors hardly ever.

"I have been married a year," said one woman who called up. "Until two months ago we were happy. I knew my husband had gambled before we were married, but he had promised me to stop. He did stop, and, unless temptation had been thrown in his way, he would not have started again.

Victim of "Sure Thing."

"Two months ago he met a poolroom man who had a 'sure thing.' My husband bet his week's salary and lost. He told me he loaned the money to some one and would have it back in a week. Then he started in to win it back.

"He hasn't done it yet. We are head over heels in debt and have had to move three times because we couldn't pay our rent. Last night he confessed to me and said he would stop. He did, for today, but I know the next 'sure thing' will mean another beginning.

"He is a good husband, but simply can't stop betting on horse races. As a woman, I want you to beg your husband to stop the race betting, if he stops nothing else. I see they stopped it for a day and then let it begin again. I would rather have read anything in the world than that bit of news."

Mrs. Schuettler took the name and address of the woman and promised she would do everything she could.

Realizes Great Evil of Game.

"I know my husband is doing his best," Mrs. Schuettler said, "but I don't suppose they can stop it all in a day. I know very little about it. Gambling, of course, is wrong, but I never realized how terrible it was until the women began telephoning me."

Mrs. Schuettler is of the type described as "motherly." She has several grown children. The home is a pretty, tasteful place.

"I don't know why they telephone me," she said, "unless it is because they think a woman will better appreciate their situation. I seldom attempt to interfere with my husband's business, but some of the calls have been so pitiful that I simply had to tell him about them. At 11 o'clock last night a woman told about a gambling place on the west side. She was almost weeping.

Woman with Baby Appeals.

"'It's nearly midnight,' she said, 'and my husband isn't home yet. That's a sign he's losing. I don't know what to do. We hardly have enough food in the house, and I am talking to you with the receiver in one hand and a 2 months old baby on my arm. Can't you do something?'

"'I'll do anything I can,' I promised her. They are going to raid the place tonight. I felt so sorry for her that I could raid it myself."

As Mrs. Schuettler was talking the telephone rang. Her daughter answered it.

"It's for you, mamma."

Mrs. Schuettler put the receiver to her ear.

"Yes? Well, I can't promise anything. What's that? I'm sorry, but, well—you might call up a little later. Good-by."

"Another one," she explained. "She said if gambling wasn't killed she would kill herself. What could I do?"

PROMISED $10,000; SUES ESTATE

Woman Declares Father Offered Bequest So She Would Drop Contest for Alimony.

Mrs. Mattie White Spalding of Bloomington, Ill., yesterday sent attorneys to Kenosha, Wis., to get affidavits from court officers to be used in a suit against the estate of her father.

The action is the outgrowth of a sensational divorce action which Mrs. Spalding prosecuted against her husband, Dr. John B. Spalding, a health officer of Kenosha.

Mrs. Spalding wants $10,000 from her father's estate. She asserts that at the time of her divorce trial her father persuaded her to withdraw a claim for alimony by promising to leave her $10,000.

FOR CIRCUIT COURT.

Thomas Taylor Jr., R.	691
John P. McGoorty, D.	586
Seymour Stedman, Soc.	25

The Chicago Bar association yesterday voiced its choice of the men who are candidates for the Superior and Circuit court benches at the judicial election Nov. 7. Of the thirty-three candidates for the ten prospective vacancies in the superior court, seven Republicans and three Democrats received the indorsement of the bar. A Republican was given the highest vote for the Circuit court judgeship, where but one man is to be elected. There are three candidates for the office. A total of 1,330 lawyers cast their ballots, but twenty-two of this number were thrown out because members had failed to sign their names.

Of the candidates nominated for the Superior court four are at present holding seats on the bench. McSurely, Fitch, and Kavanagh, the men who led in the race, are all candidates for reëlection, while Judge Dicker, who was fifth on the list, is judge of the Municipal court.

It was a heavy vote, according to the members of the association, and indicative of a keen interest among the members of the bar to express their opinions of the candidates and to denote by their choice their advice to the public.

Sitting Judges Are Indorsed.

The incumbents in office and those who have been off the bench for but a short period drew the heaviest vote, indicating in general an indorsement and a friendly attitude of the practicing attorneys for the men before whom they have presented their cases. The contention of the bar association that the primary was a nonpartisan one was supported by the fact that Joseph H. Fitch, a Democrat, received the second highest vote, although the bar association is overwhelmingly Republican.

Surprise was expressed by the canvassing committee that McKenzie Cleland, former judge of the Municipal court, did not receive the nomination of the bar. He drew 515 votes and ranked twelfth in the list.

Party Candidates Are Spurned.

The general results of the primary election indicate that the bar considered the primary chosen candidates far superior for bench timber than the political handpicked candidates of the two big party conventions held last month. Every one of the four candidates chosen by the Republicans at the April primary was placed in the bar ticket selected yesterday.

Judge McSurely, who headed the bar vote, was second at the primary, while Judge Kavanagh, who got the biggest vote last April, was third on the bar ticket. The second highest vote was received by Judge Fitch, who led in the Democratic primary race in April. Former Judge Freeman, who ran fourth in the Republican primary, occupied the same place in the bar primary vote.

Former Judge Barnes got seventh place yesterday, but ran third in the primary. Judge Dicker's present place on the bench was held responsible for his high mark as fifth man in the contest yesterday, while the wide reputation of Mr. Foell among Chicago attorneys give him sixth place.

Democratic Politicians Satisfied.

Many Democratic politicians said the party got its share in three of the ten candidates chosen by the bar when the political complexion of the bar organization was taken into consideration. Friends of Daniel Cruice were especially pleased with his showing, although he failed to make a place on the ticket.

Thomas J. Dawson was the lowest man of any candidate of the two big parties, as had been predicted. His connection with the legislators who were implicated in the Lorimer bribery scandal, as their attorney, was mentioned freely at the time of his nomination by the Democratic convention as certain to react against the party ticket.

WATERWAY BILL KILLED IN HOUSE; LACKS 18 VOTES

Twenty-seven Members Are Absent or Fail to Cast Ballots When Roll Is Called.

MAY CALL NEW SESSION

Deneen Expected to Give Another Chance for Reopening of Battle Over Canal.

REVIEWS FIGHT IN STATEMENT

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The administration's deep waterway bill went to its death, so far as the present extraordinary session of the legislature is concerned, this afternoon. There were fifty-nine votes in its favor and sixty-five in opposition. The bill needed seventy-seven votes for passage.

The missing eighteen could have been obtained, mathematically, from the twenty-seven representatives who were either absent or who sat in their seats and refused to vote.

Of these fourteen were Republicans and thirteen Democrats.

Immediately thereafter the house adopted a joint resolution introduced by Representative Shanahan calling for a recess tomorrow until Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 5 o'clock p. m., for the ostensible purpose of acting on three appropriation bills which are to be passed in the senate tomorrow morning unless something peculiar happens.

Fight on Adjournment Plan.

An amendment, proposed by Representative Gilbert of Chicago, would have provided that when the two houses adjourned on Nov. 9 they would adjourn sine die. This resolution was ruled out of order on a point raised by Representative Lee O'Neil Browne of La Salle county. Speaker Adkins held with Browne on the point of order.

Subsequently, Representative Gilbert introduced his proposition as a separate resolution, and on a viva voce vote, without a roll call, and with the noise about equalized between the two sides, Speaker Adkins ruled the resolution lost. The Shanahan resolution is a joint resolution and must go to the senate for concurrence.

It is the plan of certain senate leaders to have a caucus of the Republican senators tomorrow and act upon the question of a sine die adjournment. It is possible this caucus will stand for a refusal of the house joint resolution adopted today, decline to consider appropriation bills further, and demand that the governor prorogue the two houses.

May Call Another Session.

It may be stated as a political certainty, considering the temper of all concerned, that if the senate refuses to accept the Shanahan resolution, Gov. Deneen will prorogue the general assembly and summon another extra session, which will be called upon to consider the waterway question, congressional and senatorial apportionment, and some serious questions concerning important measures which were passed in the regular session and are supposed to be in full operation. One of these is the automobile law.

The following statement was made by Gov. Deneen tonight:

"The action of the general assembly today places our state in a peculiar position, and, so far as I know, an unprecedented position. In 1908 the people of our state voted for a constitutional amendment by an overwhelming majority whereby the water power in the Desplaines and Illinois rivers was to be utilized to pay for the digging of a waterway between Lockport and Utica.

"I have endeavored during my term of office to place the state in a position where it could utilize this water power so that the plain purpose of the constitutional amendment could be realized and the construction of the waterway undertaken without cost to the people of the state. The opposition has claimed that the work could not be done without federal aid.

Taft Would Aid Commission.

"I interviewed the president and in April last addressed a letter to him in reference to the creation of a federal waterway commision to negotiate with the state regarding coöperation by the federal government in the construction of the proposed waterway and deepening of the channel of the Illinois river from Utica to the Mississippi river. The president in a letter addressed to me said that in his message to congress he would recommend the creation of such a commission.

"The action of the house today prevents our state from having an authorized agency through which to deal with the federal government. The state therefore is without power to act and the power in the constitutional amendment lies dormant.

"In the meantime the corporations which are interested in the acquisition of this water power are aggressive and vigilant and should they be able before another general assembly meets to acquire the power sites necessary for water power development the state will be forever debarred from carrying out the purpose of the constitutional amendment to make the water power pay for the waterway.

Many Lose Valuable Asset.

"Through the passage of the constitutional amendment in 1908, our state assumed the leadership in the conservation movement. It now steps back to the rear and unless succeeding legislatures take a different view from the present one, one of its most valuable resources, worth $2,500,000 a year, created entirely through the expenditure of public money, will be allowed to pass into private hands.

"As the general government officials have taken the position that the federal government shall not expend any money in the construction of the waterway between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river until the state of Illinois shall have acted under the power conferred upon the general assembly by the constitutional amendment of 1908, the action of the legislature today creates obvious complications in the realization of the lakes to the gulf deep waterway."

Despite the statement of the governor that today's action prevents the state from having a commission, a movement, started late tonight, which found unexpected approval among house and senate leaders, contemplates the appointment of a waterway commission to negotiate with the federal government regarding coöperation in the construction of the proposed deep waterway.

Result of Caucus Doubtful.

The result of the caucus of the Republican senators tomorrow is still an open question, even to the senators who are credited with the control of the Republican side. The presence of thirty-six senators has been assured, and it is probable the three pending appropriation bills will be passed by the necessary two-thirds vote, carrying emergency clauses into the measures.

Regardless of the senate action, however, and a recess until Nov. 8, as provided by the Shanahan resolution, it seems probable that there will be a show down at that time upon a sine die adjournment on both sides of the legislature, with pretty well established assurance that the general assembly will quit then, and will be summoned to return to Springfield early in December for what may be a general reopening of the regular session.

The administration people knew that they were whipped before the house met to take up the waterway bill on third reading. Gov. Deneen, confined to the executive mansion with his broken leg, had been in constant touch with the representatives who were making the fight in behalf of the bill, which, enacted into law, would have made possible the immediate undertaking by the state to obtain the waterway sites along the deep waterway course.

Judah Explains Long Fight.

No fireworks accompanied the finishing stage of the proceedings. The bill was laid before the house and was read at large. Representative Judah, in charge of the proposition, was recognized by Speaker Adkins. He spoke for twenty minutes regarding the history of the waterway project and the conditions attendant upon the water power site angle of the controversy.

Mr. Judah spoke of the incorporation of the Illinois Valley Gas and Electric company, which started as a miniature company and which he said had issued $10,000,000 in bonds upon $6,000,000 capitalization.

Mr. Judah said the Marseilles power site has been leased privately and is selling power to the McKinley syndicate, controlled by Congressman William B. McKinley and that the owner on the opposite side of the valley from Marseilles has leased his power rights to the Marseilles Hydraulic company, owned and controlled by the same interests and with the same personnel of officials as is selling the power to the McKinley combination.

Fears Two Years' Delay.

He said that the Illinois Valley Gas and Electric company has franchises in fifty cities and villages for the sale of power from those sites, which were to be obtained by the state. He said failure by this session to enact the bill would postpone action by the state until the legislative session of 1913, would involve the possibility that federal aid promised through President Taft and a friendly waterway sentiment in congress would be seriously threatened, and that the opportunity of the state to get possession of the water power sites under auspicious circumstances and with a minimum of litigation would be lost.

No reply to Judah's argument came from any member of the opposition and without further ceremony Speaker Adkins directed that the roll be called.

The roll call on the passage of senate bill No. 5 was as follows:

Lorimerites' Opposition Solid.

The solid strength of the Lorimer influence was exerted against the bill, and was able to deliver all of the old bipartisan alliance, excepting a few votes coming from Illinois river districts. The Cook county vote split almost to a man, on the Lorimer and anti-Lorimer line of cleavage. The McKinley territory, over on the western side of the state, was solid against the governor. Roger C. Sullivan's friends from Chicago voted for the bill, as had been expected.

SOCIAL CENTERS IN SCHOOLS URGED AT MADISON MEETING.

Delegates to National Conference Ask That All Classes Unite More Closely for Common Good.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—To get the big universities closer to the people and to promote wider use of public school buildings as social centers, to make the American democracy more of a democracy, is the aim of the first national conference on civic and social center development which opened tonight.

The chief address was by Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. He said the plans of the conference, if carried out, would do more to make America a real democracy than any other possible agency.

Dr. Charles R. Van Hise told how the University of Wisconsin has taken the lead toward developing a broader system of education. He said the state universities as well as public schoolhouses belong to the people and should be employed for educational purposes along all lines.

Dr. Josiah Strong of New York, coöperating with Van Hise as president of the Social Center Association of America, said the movement was the most important civic social undertaking of the age.

GOVERNOR FORCED INTO THIRD RACE

Defeat on Waterways Means He Will Seek to Succeed Self in Office.

HURBURGH FOR SENATE?

H. S. Magill Also May Attempt to Take Seat Away from Shelby M. Cullom.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Defeat of the waterway bill today has definitely placed Gov. Deneen in the open as a candidate for renomination, in the judgment of nearly every politician who sizes up the political conditions in Illinois tonight.

This is made so certain that the friends of State Senator Charles F. Hurburgh of Galesburg are passing around the word that he is in the running for United States senator against Shelby M. Cullom, and that he will go into the direct primaries regardless of Senator Cullom's attitude or any other complication which has been stirred up over the gubernatorial mixup.

Senator Hurburgh tonight said he had the question under advisement and had been in consultation with the men who have stood with the progressive element in the senate during the last two legislative sessions.

Hurburgh to Speak Soon.

"I will make up my mind definitely within the next two or three days and say publicly what my course is to be," Senator Hurburgh said. "My colleagues in the upper branch of the general assembly, particularly those who have stood behind the policies which have made a record in Illinois for real progressive legislation, have conferred concerning the senatorship.

"They express the belief that that record should be placed before the people of the state and it has been suggested that I enter the contest for the senatorship. I have that now under advisement. If I am a candidate it will be in the interest of no faction in state or national politics and without any political combination as the basis of a candidacy."

This is taken by the political leaders as tantamount to the real start of the Hurburgh campaign and accepted generally as such all through the capital.

Magill Also Seeks Senate?

Coupled with this is the repeated declaration that State Senator Henry S. Magill of Bureau county is to become the active senatorial candidate of the Jones-Merriam progressives, and as the standard bearer jointly with Senator Jones, the candidate for governor in the progressive campaign in Illinois for La Follette for president.

Meantime the old Cullom contingent expresses its hearty sympathy with the proposition of having two senatorial candidates in the campaign, and with each of them running as a progressive. The last clod was laid on the suggestion that Senator Cullom has quit the senatorial race by the immediate avidity with which the federal crowd leaders seized upon the opportunity tonight to put in some licks for the senior senator.

Senatorial politics cut a big figure this afternoon, particularly with regard to the near fight over the question of a recess or a sine die adjournment. There is a substantial element in all factions which feels that there is always a possibility of the election of at least one United States senator, and possibly two, by the present general assembly, if it can manage to stay in technical session for a while.

ELECTION BOARD'S BALLOT HITS SULLIVAN SUPPORTERS.

Judicial Candidates Will Appear in Order of Total Vote Received at Primaries—Other Place Arbitrary.

The board of election commissioners yesterday decided upon the order of names as they will appear on the official election ballots. In placing the names the Hearst-Harrison body aimed a blow at Roger C. Sullivan and the regular Democratic organization. The board decided that the first four candidates for the Superior court places should appear in the order of their total votes received at the April primary. The six Superior court candidates on each ticket, chosen at the party conventions, were placed arbitrarily by the board of election commissioners. As in former elections, the party order on the ballot will be Republican first and Democratic second.

The decision puts Thomas J. Dawson last on the Democratic ticket. It places John J. Coburn, who for years has been known as the official orator for "Bathhouse John" Coughlin and "Hinky Dink" Kenna in the First ward, as the leader of the Democratic ticket. Ross C. Hall, M. L. McKinley, and Clarence M. Goodwin also are put at the end of the ballot.

The complete list of party candidates as they will appear on the official ballot follows:

George W. Hunt Will Be Democratic Nominee for Governor and Edward Wells His Opponent.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 25.—On the face of the returns, sufficiently complete to make the result practically certain, George W. Hunt will be the Democratic nominee for governor against Judge Edward R. Wells of Prescott, Republican, in the first state election Dec. 12. Henry F. Ashurst and Mark Smith seem to have won out as Democratic nominees for United States senator. Ralph D. Cameron of Flagstaff and Hoval A. Smith of Bisbee are their Republican opponents.

McLaughlin Seeks Inquiry Into Juvenile Court Law Operation.

STARTS STORM IN HOUSE.

Letter from Mrs. Henrotin to Gov. Deneen Prompts Action.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Investigation jointly by the state board of administration and the state board of charities of the operation of the juvenile court law, and the conditions uncovered by the charges against the Park Ridge institution was proposed in a resolution introduced today in the house of representatives by Representative J. J. McLaughlin of Chicago.

The resolution provoked a storm of hostility between the Democrats led by Mr. McLaughlin and John O. Hruby, and from Republicans, including Chester W. Church and Morton D. Hull and Frank Reid of Aurora.

Mr. Hull's contention was that the McLaughlin resolution set up a statement of fact which should be established by affidavit or otherwise before the house should order an investigation.

Due to Mrs. Henrotin's Letter.

It developed tonight that the machinery for such an investigation has been started, due to a letter to Gov. Deneen from Mrs. Charles Henrotin, following the refusal of Mrs. Henrotin to have further dealings with the commission Peter Bartzen, president of the county board, had named.

Mrs. Henrotin's letter requested the governor to initiate an investigation by the state authorities, and accordingly Fred H. Wines, representing the state board of administration, and Archibald L. Bowen, secretary of the state board of charities, have been designated to conduct such an investigation.

Mr. Bowen said tonight no steps will be taken by them, however, until all pending investigations in Chicago have been concluded.

Gist of the Resolution.

The McLaughlin resolution, which was referred to the committee on judiciary, says that investigations in Cook county have tended to show that wards have not received the care, protection, and education required by the Juvenile court law.

It says, further, that evidence indicates that many of the wards' morals have been impaired by mismanagement and that the public funds authorized for the maintenance and care of the wards have been misappropriated, improperly paid, and improperly drawn.

The resolution therefore asks that an investigation be directed of all the institutions having charge of the wards and of all officers connected with the placing of the wards in any of the institutions or in private family homes, or the visitation and care thereof, or in any manner affecting the welfare of the wards, by the board of administration, and that the members of the board have authority to issue all processes necessary to procure the attendance of all witnesses and the production of all books, documents, and papers relating to the subject of the investigation which they may deem requisite and to pay all expenses incident thereto, and make a report to the next general assembly.

SUPREME COURT REBUKES PETIT

Disapproves Indiscriminate Use of the Writ of Habeas Corpus by Judges.

ACTS IN CONTEMPT CASE.

Directs Sheriff to Compel Policeman Gard to Serve Sixty Days in Jail.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Illinois Supreme court today expressed disapproval of the indiscriminate use of the writ of habeas corpus when it directed Sheriff Zimmer of Cook county to enforce the sixty day sentence imposed by Judge Kickham Scanlan on Policeman Edward S. Gard for contempt of court. Judge Adelor J. Petit released Gard on a writ of habeas corpus. The Supreme court declares Judge Petit was without jurisdiction.

In November of last year William Schubert, under arrest on suspicion of burglary, was taken before Judge Scanlan, who discharged him. At the time Judge Scanlan asked whether there were other charges against Schubert and Gard replied in the negative. Later, however, Gard rearrested Schubert on warrants previously sworn out. Then Judge Scanlan ordered the arrest of Gard and sentenced him to serve sixty days in jail for contempt of court.

Mandamus Asked by Wayman.

Gard appealed to Judge Petit on Feb. 11 for release under a writ of habeas corpus and the writ was granted. Then State's Attorney Wayman applied to the Supreme court for a writ of mandamus to compel Sheriff Zimmer to carry out Judge Scanlan's order. It was on this petition that the court gave its opinion regarding the use of the habeas corpus writ.

There is no adverse criticism of the sheriff in the case, the court remarking that as between the opinion of Judge Scanlan and Judge Petit the sheriff was between two fires and could not be expected to decide which judge had jurisdiction in the matter.

Writ a High Prerogative.

The opinion of the court, which was written by Judge Hand, says:

"The writ of habeas corpus is a high prerogative writ and when properly issued supercedes all other writs and by reason of this fact it should be confined to its legitimate office, otherwise an ignorant, reckless, or partisan judge, by usurpation may through the writ work a great wrong to society and the state by discharging offenders who have been lawfully convicted and sentenced to imprisonment by other courts, while legally exercising coördinate jurisdiction with the court granting such discharge.

"It has never been the office of the writ of habeas corpus to operate as a writ of review, and we take it that no well considered case can be found where it has been held that the writ may properly be used to review the judgment of a court where the judgment sought to be reviewed had been rendered by a court which had jurisdiction of the person and subject matter of the suit in which the judgment had been rendered."

Lack of Jurisdiction Alleged.

The court cites a number of cases in support of this proposition, reviewing and commenting upon them at length, and then says:

"It is manifest from the foregoing decisions and the statute, that when a petition is presented to a judge for a writ of habeas corpus to discharge a prisoner held under judicial process, the question of the jurisdiction of the court to render the judgment, which is the foundation of the process by which the prisoner is held, lies at the threshold of the habeas corpus proceeding, and if it appears from the petition, return, or in any other legitimate manner, that the court that rendered the judgment by virtue of which the process issued from which discharge is sought had jurisdiction of the person of the prisoner and of the subject matter of the suit in which the judgment was rendered, then the judge to whom the petition is presented should decline for lack of jurisdiction to discharge the prisoner.

Subject Only to Review.

"If the court had rendered the judgment upon which the process issued by which the prisoner is held had jurisdiction of the person of the prisoner and the subject matter of the suit, then the case of the prisoner is not one for discharge upon writ of habeas corpus, but for review by appeal or on writ of error, as no court upon habeas corpus can sit as a court of review to retry cases which have been legally decided upon full jurisdiction by other courts, especially other courts of competent jurisdiction.

"It is clear from the petition and return that Judge Kickham Scanlan had jurisdiction to commit Edward S. Gard for contempt. Those jurisdictional facts appear on the face of the petition and return.

"Judge Adelor J. Petit was without jurisdiction to enter the order of discharge, and the order of discharge, being beyond his jurisdiction to enter, was absolutely void.

"It is clear, in view of the holding of the courts and the statute of this state, that the order of discharge of Edward S. Gard, entered by Judge Adelor J. Petit, was a usurpation of judicial power, and that the order entered by Judge Kickham Scanlan in the contempt proceedings was not annulled thereby, but possesses today the same vitality it possessed upon the day upon which it was entered."

MERIT BODY WINS 10 YEAR OLD SUIT

Supreme Court Upholds Its Power to Revoke Employes' Certificates.

ARCHITECT STARTS CASE.

Decree Gives Damages to Child Injured by Dangerous Machinery.

The right of the civil service board to revoke the certificates of men employed under the commission was upheld yesterday by a decision of the state Supreme court. The case was that of Theodore Laist. It was first filed ten years ago.

Laist passed the examination for city architect and was certified. Later it developed that he had not qualified as an architect under the state laws. His certificate was revoked, and he brought mandamus proceedings. The lower courts held that the civil service board was in the right. The Supreme court sustains the opinion.

Gives Damages to Child.

Employers who put inexperienced children at work before dangerous machines must pay for the experiment if it fails. This was the verdict of the Supreme court yesterday in the case of Maggie Glaich against the Hogan Envelope company. Maggie, after a few weeks of experience at simpler tasks, was put at work in front of a fast printing press. The press took her hand off. Maggie's mother filed suit for damages. She got them. The envelope company tried to get an appeal hearing and failed.

A new trial was granted in the cases against Frank Cassesse and Mike Guiseppi, two Chicago Italians convicted for the killing of Salvatore Manno on the dying statement of the victim. In reversing the judgment of the Criminal court of Cook county the Supreme court says the statement was not made under the belief of immediate dissolution. The case was remanded to the Criminal court for another hearing.

The First M. E. church of Irving Park is given full possession of property bequeathed by Annie S. Adams. The testator's stepson contested.

Reaffirms McDonald Case.

Benjamin Briggs Goodrich, former confidential agent of Mrs. Dora McDonald, widow of "Mike" McDonald, gambling king, must go to state's prison for an indefinite period for embezzling $5,000 from Mrs. McDonald. The Supreme court denied his appeal for a new trial. Goodrich was convicted a year ago last May. It was contended by the state that Goodrich planned to get hold of all of Mrs. McDonald's property.

Isaac Marks, 4718 South State street, a pawnbroker, was granted a new trial on charges of receiving stolen property knowingly. The word "give," written on the margin of a verdict form submitted to the jury by the judge, caused the Supreme court to reverse the judgment of the Criminal court and remand the case for a new trial. It was held that the notation might have been construed by the jury as marking the verdict it was to return.

DAUGHTER OF WEALTHY MAN MISSING IN NEW YORK CITY.

Police Have Been Searching Eight Days for Girl Who Disappeared Like Dorothy Arnold.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—This city has been searched day and night for eight days by detectives of the police department and of the two largest private agencies in the country for Miss Consuelo Fajardo, a Porto Rican heiress. Miss Fajardo is the daughter of Luis Fajardo, of Fajardo, Ward & Co., sugar importers, having offices in the Whitehall building.

The young woman disappeared from the hotel Felix-Portland, 132 West Forty-seventh street, on Wednesday morning, Oct. 18, as suddenly and as strangely as Dorothy Arnold was swallowed up in the crowds of Fifth avenue nearly a year ago.

Miss Fajardo is known to have had a sweetheart, who was frowned upon by her father, and the father refuses to believe that she has been kidnaped.

"BLIND TO VICE:" 35 LIEUTENANTS

Only One Out of 36 Police Officers Ever Saw Sign of Illicit Resort in Chicago.

GIVE LIE TO M'WEENY.

Chief's Story of Card Index Is Flatly Denied by All of His Subordinates.

The civil service commission discovered the bitter truth last night—with one exception the Chicago police lieutenants are totally blind.

Up to yesterday, although there have been frequent evidences of loss of eyesight on the part of individual officers, the commissioners had clung to the hope that the rest of the force could see. But last evening this hope died the death. Out of thirty-six police lieutenants called before them for the special purpose of telling what they knew about vice only one was able to say positively that vice existed in his district.

The others were all positive that Chicago is immaculately pure. They have been traveling their districts day and night, they said. Their senses have been keenly alert. And not a single one of them has ever seen vice in any of its manifold forms or even discovered evidence that vice had ever existed.

Give the Lie to McWeeny.

In testifying as they did before the civil service commission the lieutenants gave the lie direct to Chief of Police McWeeny. The chief, whom the commission also found to be suffering from astigmatism, cataracts, and paralysis of the optical nerve as well as sclerosis of the retina and myopia of the pupil, had said that there was no vice in Chicago because his lieutenants had told him so.

He said also that every station in the city there lieutenants maintained a card index system containing the names of all shady hotels and suspected houses.

When the lieutenants were called before the commissioners last evening they all, with one exception, denied that such card index systems existed.

One officer, Lieut. George Hutchinson of Desplaines street station, went so far as to say that in all the time he has been on the force—a period covering twenty-seven years—he had never heard of such a card index system.

It appears, therefore, that in addition to his various other optical ills, the chief of police is suffering from illusions. According to the testimony of his officers he sees things that don't exist.

Lieut. Howard Only "Seer."

The lone lieutenant who had seen vice in Chicago was Thomas J. Howard of the Lake street police station. He put a list of disorderly houses on the west side into the hands of W. W. Wheelock, special counsel for the commission.

By that action he placed himself in the same class as Assistant Chief Schuettler. Both of these officers, it appears, can see at least as well as the ordinary citizen.

The names of the unfortunate blind men who appeared before the commission yesterday are:

James E. McCann,	Thomas F. Cronin,
Joseph O. Thomas,	Louis M. Custy,
J. L. Mooney,	James Palozynski,
Michael T. Morrissey,	Michael J. Crane,
P. J. Maloney,	John Egan,
Max Heidelmeier,	Ernest Meuller,
M. J. Crotty,	Joseph Smith,
Maurice Moore,	W. O. Ambrose,
James F. Walsh,	Charles Larkin,
John T. O'Hara,	Thomas J. Coughlin,
Martin J. O'Malley,	John F. Sullivan,
Joseph C. Mullen,	Maurice Bowler,
Charles J. Johnson,	Thomas Monihan,
John E. Pitcek,	John D. Hartford,
J. D. McCarthy,	Edward T. Conroy,
Michael Madden,	George Hutchinson,
J. E. Doherty,	Thomas F. Meagher,
	Michael J. Clohesy.

Two blind police sergeants also were discovered. They are:

Sergt. John Burns, South Englewood.
Sergt. John J. Griffin, Irving Park.

Lieuts. Hutchinson, Meagher, and Ambrose testified, as did their superiors, Inspector Dorman and Capt. Plunkett, that the west side levee was entirely free from resorts. It is known that investigators for the commission were in places of bad character in their police precinct on Tuesday night.

Blindness was not the only malady that the civil service commission discovered in the department yesterday, however.

It was found that apparently all of the officers of the Harrison street station are muscle bound.

Try to Trace Everleigh Order.

This alarming symptom developed when an attempt was made to follow the tortuous path which Mayor Harrison's order for the closing of the Everleigh club pursued after it left his office.

It was learned that although the order which was issued early Tuesday afternoon was couched in such terms as indicated the necessity for immediate action it did not reach the Twenty-second street police station until 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The club was closed at 1 o'clock yesterday morning after Chief of Police McWeeny had personally telephoned the Twenty-second street station and ordered the mayor's order carried out.

Mayor Harrison arraigned what he called "bungiesome police methods" in commenting on the sidetracking of his order.

"I've called for an explanation," the chief added. "In spite of red tape that order got out of this office in plenty of time to have reached the Twenty-second street district at evening roll call. I've got a report on the matter from Inspector Wheeler, but I'm not satisfied with it and I'm going to investigate further."

Women Taken in Saloons Freed.

Municipal Judge Walker yesterday discharged eleven women, arrested Tuesday night in loop saloons because they were found without male escorts.

"A woman has as much right in a saloon as a man," the judge said in discharging them and striking at the police order against unescorted women in saloons. "And if you get these women why don't you get the women who go to the fine hotel cafés?"

At George Silver's notorious Rialto café, on the corner of Clark and Randolph streets, six or seven women sat at tables unattended by escorts last night.

Silver himself explained that the vice crusade could have but little effect upon his resort, at the same time denying that he retained any interest in the café, which is now operated by a former business partner.

"I haven't any real opinion on the business," said Silver, "for I have got out of it, but if Judge Walker says that women have a right to go into a place such as this, I agree with him."

In the notorious underground resort of Simon Tuckhorn, 24 Quincy street, which has the appearance of a hole burrowed into the brick structure, three young women were sitting alone at tables waiting for male visitors. Every man who came into the place was eyed and ogled.

"Off with the Old; on with the New" at Orphanage.

MISS LILLIAN REHTMEYER

"Talcott day" was celebrated yesterday by 200 children at the Chicago Nursery and Half Orphan asylum, 1932 Burling street. "Talcott day" is the annual and jubilant occasion when all the little girls at the asylum get new dresses and shoes, and all the little boys get new shoes, new shirts, and new knickerbockers. This year the children gave a program and an exhibition of manual training work. Many visitors were present, and Miss Lillian Rehtmeyer helped fit on the shoes. "Talcott day" was made possible through the philanthropy of Mrs. Mancel Talcott, who left a will providing that a certain sum be set aside to provide the children of the asylum annually with new clothes.

"VENUS BATHES" TOO OFTEN

University of Chicago Hazing Stirs Faculty to Action.

"IT" CLUB IN GRAVE DANGER.

Organization Discovered in Act of Initiating Freshman.

"It is Venus taking a bath."

Thus spake a member of the "It" or Three Quarters club, a hazing society of the University of Chicago, as he stood solemnly on one foot yesterday in the middle of the campus. The members of the Three Quarters club are not permitted to use the personal pronoun. They are always "It." Another spoke:

"It is a towell," said he.

"That's wrong," corrected one of the hazers. "You're a Turkish towel."

"It is a Turkish towel," agreed the "It" gravely.

Mystery Deepens.

"It is a cake of soap," observed one more "It."

"It is water," explained a fourth.

"And," they said together, "it is all, all for Venus' bath."

The hazers clapped their hands. Onlookers applauded. And just at this precise moment a faculty member came toward them.

"What is this?" he demanded.

"It is not 'this,'" they admonished. "It is It."

"It is Venus taking a bath," added one.

"It is a towel."

"It is a cake of soap."

"It is the water."

Faculty Plans End of Club.

"Well," said the faculty member, "here is the splash," and he ordered them to resume their normal personalities. Furthermore, he called the attention of the faculty to the occurence, and it is rumored the days of the Three Quarter club are ended.

It has seventy-five members. Three members of the freshmen delegation of each fraternity are taken into its sacred ranks each year. Once in they become "Its," and are compelled constantly to announce the fact by wearing a yard of green ribbon, three-quarters of a yard wide, to their hats, and never going at less than a trot while they are on the campus. For three weeks after initiation they perform stunts similar to Venus taking a bath. Sometimes it is a little bird, sometimes it is rain drop, sometimes a dewey morning, but, from the present developments, it looks as if it would be no more.

COUNTRY GIRL SEIZED IN RAID SAYS SHE WAS A PRISONER.

Accuses Proprietor of South Side Flat with Making Death Threats—Lured with Cousin from Nekoosa, Wis.

Carmen Henkle, an 18 year old girl from Nekoosa, Wis., who came to Chicago a few weeks ago, yesterday told how she was lured to a flat on the south side. The girl, with Dorothy Medlestad, was arrested by detectives from the Desplaines street station. Loretta Brown, Carmen's cousin from Nekoosa, also was taken into custody.

Following the Henkle girl's recital a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Mrs. Inez Jackson, keeper of the resort at 3625 Ellis Park, on a charge of violating the Mann act. Miss Henkle said she and the Brown girl had been held prisoners under threats of death.

"About six months ago Loretta came to Chicago from Nekoosa, where we lived with our parents, and got work as a servant in Oak Park," said the Henkle girl. "She met a man named Fred, who took her to Mrs. Jackson's resort. This man forced her to write to me to come here.

"I came about five weeks ago and went to Mrs. Jackson's flat, where I was forced to drink wine with men callers. I was unable to get away until two weeks ago. Loretta and I then escaped and rented a room at 1648 Ogden avenue."

TELLS SECRET OF HYSTERIA.

English Physician Says Displaced Kidney Brings On Melancholia, Which Sometimes Grows Acute.

The Chicago Medical society last night heard two eminent English physicians say displaced kidney causes neurasthenia, chronic headaches, and insanity. The speakers were C. W. Suckling and William Billington, both of Birmingham, England.

"I will say many cases of hysteria in women are due to displaced kidney," said Mr. Suckling, a neurologist. "And out of a great majority of many cases that come under my eye a surgical operation rights the headaches or the neurasthenia or the hysteria or the melancholia, the last of which I have seen so severe as to cause suicide."

Mr. Billington, a surgeon, described the methods of diagnosis and operation.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND BOUGHT HER HOSE SIX SIZES TOO BIG.

Elgin Woman Asking Divorce Also Alleges She Was Held Extravagant on Spending Dime in Three Days.

Mrs. Olaf Gylleck, in a petition for separate maintenance filed yesterday in an Elgin court, told some of the ways in which her husband encouraged her to practice economy. She says he is worth $6,000, and has an interest in a creamary near Clinton, Ia. She says he:

Made wife support household.

Left her 10 cents for household expenses while he was away. Returned in three days and swore at her for spending it.

Bought her stockings six sizes too large because he could get them at a bargain.

Charged her 35 cents a dozen for eggs from her own hens, while eggs were selling for 12 cents in the stores.

Wouldn't let her visit a dentist.

Made her wear hideous hats which he bought her at bargain sales.

Barred women friends.

"He would buy anything in the world that he could get at a bargain and make me wear it," she explained. "My stockings were always too large or too small, and I haven't had a pair of shoes that fit since I married him.

"He made me raise chickens, then compelled me to pay him triple prices for the eggs. Then he ate the eggs. When my teeth were nearly aching my head off he wouldn't let me go to a dentist. If he caught me entertaining a woman friend he made a scene.

"He left me 10 cents to run the house for three days while he went on a trip. When he came back he swore at me for being reckless. I'd spent it all. He forced me to earn money on which to run the household and then took it away from me."

HELD FOR "SPEEDING" IN 1910.

Maurice McGauran Arrested in Evanston by Policeman Who Remembers Him Eighteen Months.

Although a year and a half had elapsed since Maurice McGauran, 632 East Forty-fourth street, a chauffeur, is alleged to have driven his employer's automobile through Evanston at a speed of forty-five miles an hour, he was recognized last night and placed under arrest by Policeman Lee Larkin.

ASK THAT HORSE, BEQUEATHED $2,000, PAY INHERITANCE TAX.

Collector in Quandary to Determine Levy Rate, as He Can't Figure Probable Longevity.

If horses were able to talk, "Old Bill" might devise some means of dodging the tax collector, but there seems to be nothing to do but pay his inheritance tax. Bill is the proud recipient of a bequest of $2,000, which is to make him a member of the idle rich class for the rest of his life.

Mrs. Mary L. Mulville, who recently lived at 4321 Indiana avenue, made the bequest in her will. W. K. Lincoln, tax collector, insists that the horse must pay the tax or go to jail, insisting that the horse is not a blood relative of the testator. "The trouble is in deciding how much to tax him," said Lincoln. "We can determine how much a man owes us by Geaque's (pronounced 'Jokes') present value tables, but I have no tables on longevity relating to horses, cats, or dogs. If my office for does not find a longevity table applying to animals we will have to toss a coin."

Richard W. Clifford, executor of the estate, contends that the bequest is charity and is therefore untaxable.

SAYS HE HURLED HER BONBONS AT "SHORT, STOCKY" ROBBER.

Girl Tells Police Frank Oates of Evanston Put Highwayman to Flight with Gift Carton of Sweets.

The night moon hung low over the lake when Frank Oates, 2000 Sherman avenue, Evanston, was walking briskly up Lake avenue, Wilmette, on the way to visit a girl friend. In his hand was a beribboned box of bonbons.

Oats suddenly was halted by a "short stocky man carrying a stout club."

"Throw up your hands," commanded the stranger.

Oats hurled the pound carton of sweetmeats into the face of the robber, who fled.

At least this is what Oats told the young woman. She inquired at Evanston police station yesterday to see if Oates had reported the encounter. He had not. So she did. Now the police are looking for the short man with the stout club.

MERCHANTS OPEN 'NO SUBWAY' WAR

Northwest Side Business Men Announce Campaign of Publicity Against Tubes.

FEAR HUGE CITY DEBT.

Pressure to Be Brought to Bear on Aldermen; Mayor Will Be Appealed To.

A campaign of publicity directed against the proposed traction subway in which the first move will be the posting of 100,000 placards setting forth arguments against the underground lines, was announced last night at a meeting of the Northwest Side Commercial association in the Great Northern hotel. This association is part of a federation of fifty-three Chicago commercial organizations.

Besides posting the placards the members of the organization, which is composed of merchants who are fighting for business that now goes into the loop, will bring pressure to bear on the aldermen of the northwest wards to induce them to oppose any subway scheme whatever.

In resolutions adopted at the meeting it was set forth that on a basis of a loop subway costing $50,000,000, the tubes to the outlying districts would cost more than $500,000,000. This enormous debt, it is pointed out, would mortgage future generations of Chicagoans hopelessly.

Fight Big Loop Stores.

Benjamin Levering, 4611 Magnolia avenue, spoke on the resolution. He said that the downtown stores already profit immeasurably from the fact that many street car lines have their terminals in the loop district and that much of the business which should legitimately belong to the outlying merchants is thrown to the downtown merchants.

"We propose to write to Mayor Harrison setting out our position in full and protesting against the discrimination which the subway will make possible," said Mr. Levering.

The resolutions adopted were the ones approved at a meeting of forty-one business men's and civic organizations in the Great Northern hotel Oct. 11.

Fears Enormous City Debt.

Figures compiled by Mr. Levering were presented. In these the cost of a subway is estimated in the plans of Bion J. Arnold at $54,450,000 for fifty-two miles of downtown subway. Estimating the trackage of the outside districts at 481 single track miles, the cost for that is placed at $500,240,000. This is nearly equal to the assessed value of all buildings and lands in Chicago.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, E. A. Drach; first vice president, R. J. Carroll; second vice president, F. A. Alden; third vice president, Banjamin Levering; fourth vice president, Andrew Foreman; secretary, F. J. Deutler; treasurer, William Boeddener.

Merger Hearing Delayed.

Hearing on the proposed merger of the elevated and surface lines has been postponed until next week. Ald. Peter Reinberg, chairman of the local transportation committee, announced yesterday that the report of the subway commission to be made next Tuesday will be considered before the consolidation problem.

Samuel Dauchy, chairman of the City club's traffic and transportation committee, yesterday submitted that organization's schemes of improving the transportation service between Chicago's depots, to the council committee. The City club committee has prepared three plans for bettering the service.

A subcommittee of the council committee, comprising Ald. Block, Foell, and Long, will meet this afternoon to consider an operating agreement between the Chicago and Southern Traction company and the Chicago City Railways company. If the operating agreement is approved it will mean a five cent fare from One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Vincennes road to the downtown district, or to Cicero by transferring.

'WOMAN BURNING TO DEATH' CRY FAILS TO CONFUSE POLICEMAN

Arrested Burglar's Accomplice Tries in Vain to Draw Bluecoat's Attention So Prisoner Can Escape.

Policeman Clark Quinn's eagerness to rescue a woman from what proved to be a fictitious fire last night nearly caused him to lose a prisoner he had run blocks to arrest.

Quinn and Donnelly of the East Chicago avenue station saw a man leaving the back door of Mrs. Lillian Hayes' house at 61 Maple street with a bundle of clothing and silverware. Quinn started after him while Donnelly remained to see what had happened. The alleged burglar led the way south in North Clark street. Quinn fired to no effect, and then the fugitive ducked into the Newberry library. Quinn caught his collar just as he slipped inside the door. Several pedestrians turned to help Quinn. But a young man came running up shouting:

"There's a woman burning to death in that flat across the street."

Quinn dropped his prisoner and started across the street. Then he thought, sped back, and grabbed his prisoner. The young man disappeared as promptly as he had come. The alleged burglar gave his name at the station as Fred Brown. The police say he has spent a year in the house of correction for burglary and that the young man with the false alarm was an accomplice.

GIRL HELD AS MOTHER DIES

Negress Says Policeman Kept County Ward from Parent.

MAINTAINS COLORED HOME.

Mrs. Anna Waterfield Tells Inhumanity in Trial of Probation Officer.

A negro mammy stepped out of the third act of some unwritten and unstaged "Uncle Tom's Cabin" yesterday afternoon and threw her spell over a courtroom full of people, who for the last three days have assembled to hear sordid stories and ugly confessions.

When the colored woman finished her lines, delivered in sonorous voice with dramatic pauses, the audience began a still hunt for handkerchiefs, and it was fully a minute before the proceedings were continued. The recital took place before the county civil service commission, before whom John H. Witter, suspended chief probation officer, is on trial.

Tells Policeman's Inhumanity.

Mrs. Anna Waterfield, the negress, who was the principal witness of the afternoon, had testimony of that kind to offer. She runs a home for colored Juvenile court wards at 1807 West Sixty-first street. Severe criticism of Mrs. Waterfield's home had been reported by county investigators, but she took the stand to accuse Patrolman William H. Birch, special officer of the Illinois Industrial School for Girls, of neglect.

The climax of Mrs. Waterfield's testimony came when she told of Birch's refusal to allow a colored girl, Pearl Hughes, a charge of the Illinois Industrial school, to attend the funeral of her mother.

"I had telephoned Mr. Birch that Mrs. Hughes was dying, and I asked him if he would not send Pearl over to see her mamma," said Mrs. Hughes in her drawling southern dialect. "He promised to send Pearl around, but she never came. Then we sent the mother to the county hospital, and again I asked Mr. Birch to send the girl to her mother for a last visit. He promised and broke his word. Mrs. Hughes died without seeing her girl. Once more I telephoned Mr. Birch to be sure to send Pearl to the funeral, and he said he'd see to it sure that she came.

Daughter Kept from Funeral.

"I told him the body would rest at the church and there would be a carriage at my home at 8 o'clock in the morning, and that Pearl's little brother would be there.

"That carriage was there at 8 o'clock the morning of the funeral, but no Pearl. The hearse came up for the body of poor Mrs. Hughes at half past 8, but there was no Pearl.

"I held the carriage at the house with the brother for several minutes, but no Pearl came. Finally, I and the little fellow drove over to the church, and there stood the hearse with Mrs. Hughes in it, and there was the carriage with the brother waiting for Pearl to come, but no Pearl.

Sad Story Moves Audience.

"They took the body into the church and the service began, but there was no Pearl. The minister delivered the funeral sermon. The choir sang two hymns over the body. Then they had to close the lid. Pearl did not get to look upon the face of her dead mother."

Mrs. Waterfield did not seem conscious of the fact that her simple story of a humble negro pauper funeral had carried her audience. Mrs. Waterfield said that the Pearl in question was at the time of her mother's death at the House of Good Shepherd in Chicago, where she had been sent by the authorities of the Park Ridge school. Officer Birch was not present to hear the charge.

Mrs. Waterfield said she had four sisters of the Hughes family from time to time, Irene, Marjory, Juanita, and Pearl. She said the first three had disappeared. She said Officer Birch had come and taken all of her best looking girls away.

Dr. William Healy, who has private office in the Juvenile home, halted the trial when he refused to make public any of his medical records of children in the home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, 138 Fourteenth avenue, Maywood, added more adverse testimony to that already given against Mrs. Hazel Brunst of Maywood. Mrs. Brown said she had seen Juvenile court wards who boarded with Mrs. Brunst eat out of her own garbage can. Miss Minnie C. McBride, principal of the Washington school at Maywood, testified that the children staying with Mrs. Brunst never attended school regularly.

Women Laud Industrial School.

The Illinois Industrial School for Girls at Park Ridge, which has been the object of persistent attacks by the county administration since the investigation of the Juvenile court system began, was given the unanimous indorsement of the Chicago Women's club yesterday. A meeting of the club was devoted entirely to a discussion of the school.

STREET CAR HITS FIRE ENGINE; FIREMEN THROWN IN STREET.

Three Persons Injured When Collision Occurs at Van Buren and Leavitt Streets.

Two firemen were injured and the front vestibule of a Van Buren street car was damaged at 11:10 o'clock last night when the car struck fire engine No. 31 at South Leavitt street. The firemen were responding to a false alarm. Those injured are:

James Dusenbury, 50 years old, 3517 West Congress street, driver of engine; right leg broken.

Lieut. Daniel Ahern, bruised.

Joseph O'Connor, motorman, slightly cut.

The firemen were driving north in Leavitt street and Dusenbury was ringing the gong when he approached the crossing. The car, well filled with passengers, struck the side of the fire engine, throwing the two firemen to the street.

RAH! RAH! PUPILS BAR SHAKSPEARE

Young Moralists of Hammond High School Arise and Get Poet's Bacon.

WORKS HELD NAUGHTY.

Verdict of "Thespians" and "Iolas" Righteous, Faculty Agrees, and It's All Over.

Consternation will come to publishers today when it is learned that the pupils of the Hammond High school yesterday officially and summarily ejected the literature of William Shakspeare, an English playwriter and poet, author of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "Julius Cæsar," "The Twelfth Night," etc., etc., from the school.

Mr. Shakspeare was sniffingly termed "the George M. Cohan of the Elizabethan age" and "a cheap grand stand player," and an "immoralist." His writings were found by the Hammond students, after mature and critical judgment, to be licentious, inartistic, and unworthy of study. Particular scorn was manifested against the impressionistic verse of Mr. Shakspeare yclept "Venus and Adonis," hotly qualified as the "most licentious literature in the English language"—probably not excluding the report of the Chicago vice commission, though not contemporaneous.

Verdict Is Held Righteous.

And—worse blow to publishers—the teachers of the high school admitted the righteousness of the pupils' stand late yesterday afternoon, when confronted by Beebon Amoss, ambassador extraordinary of the Thespian and Iola clubs, comprising practically all the students of literature in the school.

"We respectfully ask that every writing of Shakspeare be removed from the school's curriculum and that none of his likenesses, either in picture or sculpture, be displayed within the building," firmly declared Ambassador Beebon. "We request the substitution of Ibsen and Shaw for Shakspeare."

There was a short conference between Prof. James McDaniels, Prof. Ralph McElroy, and Prof. Clyde Alle, in charge of the literary departments. The instructors then announced to Beebon that the change in the English courses will be made forthwith in compliance, with the pupil's wishes.

Rest of World Found Wrong.

"We agree with you that he isn't entirely clean," they are reported to have told Beebon.

The pupils' action was taken yesterday afternoon at a joint meeting of the Thespian and Iola clubs. This followed a discussion for several weeks, in which the sentiment of the entire enrollment of the school was found arrayed against the judgment of the rest of the world as ripened during some 50 years.

"The admirers of this Shakspeare person will be glad to admit now that Bacon wrote the stuff," said one Hammond litterateur last night.

BURGLARS, PLEASE READ THIS.

"Please, Mr. Burglar, return my dead mother's engagement ring and you may have the remainder of the articles you took from my home," was the plea made yesterday by Mrs. Myrtle I. Wood to the burglar who, on Sept. 28, entered her house, at 852 West Fiftieth place, and stole clothing and jewelry valued at $200. The engagement ring is valued at $75.

Representative Thomas Tippit of Olney Says Pact Won Votes of Democrats.

senatorial contest, but I knew nothing about it or heard any such suggestion."

Tippit said the men who attended the meeting in Springfield were the same as those who assembled in Chicago and decided to back his candidacy for minority leader.

"Do you know," asked Senator Kern, "how it happened that your caucus nominee (Browne) was abandoned and there was such singular unanimity by the Democrats in voting for Shurtleff?"

Tippit gave a vague reply and Senator Kern interjected that the Democrats in the legislature had gotten together for Shurtleff and later on the senatorship despite their factional differences.

"It was general talk," said Tippit, "that the United Societies were organizing the Democratic minority in the legislature—Democrats. Many of the minority were not willing to have the word go out that the Democratic party was subservient to those interests and that they were running the Democratic party in Illinois."

Mr. Marble asked the witness with whom he talked in reference to voting for a Republican for the United States senate.

Tippit replied that in February or March at one of the week end adjournments he went to his residence in Olney and there met former Democratic State Treasurer Wilson. Wilson asked Tippit if the Democrats could not unite on a liberal Republican to beat Hopkins.

Suggests Shurtleff for U. S. Senator.

"I said 'Yes,'" testified the witness, "'but what will become of us?' 'It won't hurt you,' he replied. 'You cannot elect a Democrat.'"

Wilson suggested that the Democrats vote for Shurtleff, but Tippit objected that Shurtleff could not get enough Democratic votes.

"I said, 'What do you think of Lorimer?'" testified Tippit. "He says, 'I don't like Mr. Lorimer so well, but anybody to beat Hopkins.'"

In response to a question from Senator Jones the witness said he suggested Lorimer because he thought Lorimer could get more Democratic votes than any other Republican.

"For the reason," he continued, "that Mr. Lorimer had stood for Adlai E. Stevenson for governor of Illinois and through his influence and the influence of his friends it had the effect of cutting down the Republican majority from 298,000 in 1904 to less than 24,000 in 1908. I told him (Wilson), I think, at that time that Mr. Lorimer had met with the Democratic state executive committee prior to the election of 1908 and entered into an agreement with them for the election of Mr. Stevenson as Democratic governor of Illinois.

"Mr. George Brennan told me this personally. I know that we classed all Republicans Lorimer Republicans—for Mr. Stevenson. My information is that the election of Mr. Lorimer was favored by Adlai E. Stevenson. Louis Stevenson said to me he would like the Democrats to vote for Mr. Lorimer because of what Lorimer had done for his father during the election."

Rejoice at Lorimer Election.

Tippit said three-fourths of the members of the Democratic state committee favored the election of Lorimer. Charles Boeschenstein said to him the election of Lorimer was the best piece of political strategy achieved by the Democrats of the Forty-sixth general assembly.

"What was Mr. Lorimer to get for that betrayal of his party?" asked Senator Kern.

"I don't know anything about that," responded Tippit. "Never heard of anything."

In reply to a question by Senator Kenyon the witness said he accounted for the slump in the Republican vote to which he had referred by the attitude of the Lorimer Republicans.

"Our information was that the liquor interests were favorable to Republican success," he said.

Tippit said he communicated to his followers his conversation with Brennan as to the agreement Lorimer had entered into with the Democratic state executive committee. "Therefore, we considered it good Democratic policy to vote for Mr. Lorimer," he said.

"During the time of your conversation with Wilson," asked Attorney Marble, "you were discussing Lorimer with your followers?"

"Yes, sir."

Shurtleff Active for Lorimer.

Tippit denied he had made a poll of members of his faction prior to the senatorial election. He understood generally that nearly all the Democrats would vote for Lorimer. He was not exactly certain how he would vote until his name was called, and then he voted for Lorimer. He admitted he advised with Speaker Shurtleff. "I may have told Mr. Shurtleff," he testified, "that the Democrats would vote for Lorimer."

Tippit said Shurtleff took an active part in behalf of Lorimer. Lorimer's name was seriously considered only a couple of weeks prior to the election, although it had been discussed long before that.

"From the time Lorimer's name was discussed, Shurtleff advocated his election?" asked Mr. Kern.

"I think so," answered the witness. "He did not present any arguments to me in favor of Lorimer. Whatever conversations I had with him would be that I thought the Democrats ought to help elect Lorimer, but I didn't know whether they would be willing to make the sacrifice."

Tippit said Lorimer made no speeches in the campaign of 1908 in favor of Stevenson, nor was he interviewed along such lines by the newspapers.

Lorimer Plans Secret "Knifing."

"You understood it was a secret deal whereby Lorimer's followers were secretly to knife the Republican candidate?"

"There was no secret about it. At least his followers were open enough about it."

Tippit said, however, before the election he understood the general impression was Lorimer was not supporting the Republican candidate.

Denies He Received Money for Vote.

Tippit denied he had received a dollar for his vote for Lorimer, distributed any money to any members of his faction following the adjournment of the legislature, or heard of any jackpot or other corruption fund. He had heard talk of a corruption fund among members of the legislature, but it was jocular in character.

He said he had both a bank account and a safety deposit box, and produced his bank book to show that from November, 1908, until September, 1909, he had deposited $5,601.42 in bank. The largest sum deposited was $1,427.40 in January and the next largest $1,095.50 in September. He "might have had some $100 bills in his safety deposit box." He said he did not meet Blair in Olney on July 20 or at any other time and had not seen him or Representative Espey of Benton following the adjournment of the legislature.

Attorney Hanecy refrained from any extensive cross examination of the witness.

Espey Explains Vote.

Sidney B. Espey, mayor of Benton, Ill., a Democrat who voted for Lorimer in the Forty-sixth general assembly, also denied recollection of any meeting with Blair or Tippit at Mt. Vernon in May, although he admitted he was in the town about that time to buy 120 acres of land.

"Who first asked you to vote for Lorimer?" asked Attorney Marble.

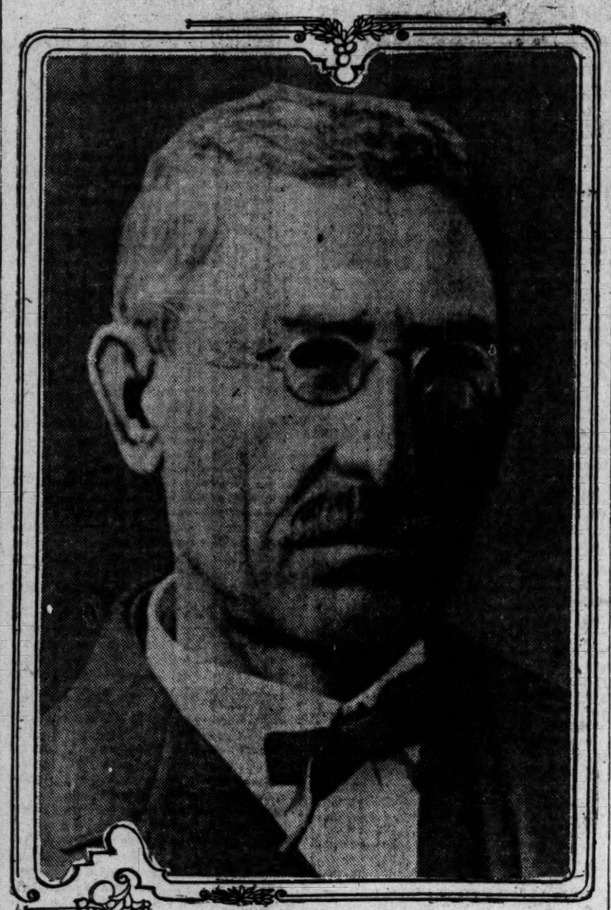

"I can't remember. Senator Lorimer himself asked me about it on the morning of his election," replied Espey. "He asked me to vote for him and I told him I would."

Espey thought he had not solicited others to vote for Lorimer. He said his conversation with Mr. Lorimer took place in the speaker's room. Either John G. Drennan, attorney of the Illinois Central railroad company, or former Judge Cantrell had told him Lorimer wished to see him. He said he had asked E. H. Seneff, general attorney of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad company, who was with him at the time, to go inside with him, but Seneff had taken no part in the conversation. He also testified to his friendly relations with the railroad attorney, saying the latter had negotiated the sale of some coal lands for him. He said he had voted for Lorimer because he liked him personally.

Espey denied vehemently ever having told D. T. Woodward of Benton $100,000 or any other sum was used for the election of Senator Lorimer.

There will be no meeting of the committee today because of the funeral of William A. Barton, father-in-law of counsel for Senator Lorimer.

STEPHENSON AN 'EASY MARK'

Millionaire Required to Pay His Political Workers Liberally.

MANAGER TELLS THE STORY.

Senator Could Have Had Support for Nothing Had He Been Poor.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 25.—Because Senator Isaac Stephenson was reputed to be worth $30,000,000 some of his political workers thought they ought to be paid for their time and this was the reason it cost the senator so much to secure the nomination at the primaries in 1908, according to testimony before the senatorial investigating committee today.

W. R. Knell, former sheriff of Milwaukee county, testified as Stephenson's campaign manager in the county he expended $11,800.

"Why did you have to spend so much money in one county?" asked Senator Heyburn, the chairman.

"Because the other candidates were spending a lot. We felt we had to meet them."

"Soaked" for Being Wealthy.

"Was it a question of matching dollars? If the senator received 5,000 votes in the county his campaign expenses appear to have been $2 for every vote. Is that right?"

"That's right. If Senator Stephenson had been a poor man his workers might have campaigned for him for nothing, but as it was known he was rich and was said to be worth $30,000,000 it was thought only right that those who worked for him should be paid for their work."

Spends $107,000 in State.

It was shown that, despite his expenditures in the county, Senator Stephenson received only third place. In the entire state he admittedly spent $107,000.

J. Earl Morgan, a son-in-law of the senator, testified he spent $2,550 in the campaign. He said he was not required to give an accounting.

Robert J. Shields of Superior, said by witnesses to have worked as an employé of Edward Hines, the lumberman, in Stephenson's behalf, again went on the stand and denied having taken any part corruptly in the distribution of money to legislators.

CHURCH PRAISES AND HONORS FUNK

Oak Park Congregationalists Suspend Rules to Re-elect Lorimer Witness Trustee.

CHARGES BRANDED PLOT.

Adopt Resolutions of Confidence in Integrity and Commend Service to Public.

In order to emphasize their confidence in Clarence S. Funk and to show their contempt for the charges made against him in the alienation suit of John C. Henning, the members of the First Congregational church of Oak Park last night suspended its rules and by a unanimous vote reelected him trustee.

At the same meeting the members of the church adopted resolutions stating their belief that the suit was instituted in an effort to discredit Mr. Funk's testimony before the Lorimer senatorial investigating committee.

The action of the church, according to the Rev. William E. Barton, the pastor, is unprecedented. Trustee Funk attended the early session, but left before the resolution was passed.

Suspend Anti-Re-election Rule.

When the election was called to select a trustee to succeed Mr. Funk, Dr. W. W. Newell moved that the rule which prohibits a trustee from being reelected be in this instance set aside. This was put to a vote and adopted unanimously. Mr. Funk was the only trustee whose term of office had expired.

The resolution follows:

Whereas, Clarence F. Funk has completed a term of three years' service as a member of the board of trustees of this church and under the constitution of the church is ineligible for reelection; and,

Whereas, Mr. Funk, because of his courageous conduct in connection with the investigation of the election of William Lorimer, has been subject to base and groundless attacks upon his reputation, made, we believe, for the sole purpose of impairing if possible the strength of his testimony in the eyes of the various investigating bodies and the public; and,

Whereas, we, the fellow church members of Mr. Funk, desire publicly to declare our esteem and confidence in him; now, therefore, be it

Funk Highly Commended.

Resolved, By the First Congregational church of Oak Park, in its regular annual meeting assembled, that we hereby express

First, our appreciation of his loyal and efficient service to this church.

Second, our hearty commendation of his courageous, unselfish, and public spirited conduct in connection with the Lorimer investigation.

Third, our vigorous condemnation of the dastardly attempt to defame his character and blacken his reputation, particularly by the malicious and cowardly abuse of courts of justice; and,

Fourth, our great esteem and high regard for him and our unbounded confidence in his sincerity, his integrity, and his uprightness of character.

The resolutions, when put to vote, were adopted unanimously and with applause.

BARTZEN PICKS DR. SCHELL

Will Appoint Him County Physician Unless Mind Veers.

SUPPORTED BY GERMANS.

Regarded as Turn-Down to Coffey, A. M. Lawrence, Et Al.

Dr. Charles P. Schell, 1700 West Chicago avenue, is slated for the job of county physician. He probably will be appointed by President Bartzen at the meeting of the county board tomorrow, unless the president changes his mind, as he did a short time ago with reference to Dr. T. J. Connelly. The statement was published that this physician had been tendered the place before Mr. Bartzen was ready to make the announcement, and then he became angry and declined to make the appointment.

A delegation of Germans who called upon Mr. Bartzen was practically promised the place for Dr. Schell, who also is said to have the backing of John P. Tansey, Democratic leader in the Fifteenth ward.

Dr. Crowe Declines Reappointment.

Within the last two or three days the place was formally tendered to Dr. Thomas S. Crowe, the county physician who resigned three months ago when the civil service examination for internes was under investigation. Dr. Crowe was exonerated, and Bartzen offered to reappoint him. Dr. Crowe declined with thanks.

In making this selection President Bartzen is turning down A. M. Lawrence, County Commissioner Coffey, Harry Gibbons, and Superintendent of Public Service Slattery.

Each Had a Candidate.

Each of these had a candidate for the $3,000 job. Messrs. Slattery and Gibbons were the backers of Dr. Connelly, County Commissioner Coffey was sponsor for Dr. J. A. Riley, and Mr. Lawrence had a doctor named Lee as a candidate.

Dr. Schell is 35 years old and was educated in the Chicago public schools and the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He is married and has one child.

THINKS DR. KNABE KNEW HERSLAYER

Detective Chief Believes Woman Physician Admitted the Person Who Killed Her.

MOTIVE SOUGHT IN VAIN.

Missing Knife Regarded as Tending to Disprove the Theory of Suicide.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—"If Dr. Knabe was murdered, as appears, I am satisfied she was murdered by a person with whom she was acquainted and that she voluntarily let this person into her apartment. But the theory of suicide still will not let itself be neglected."

With this statement Capt. William Holtz, chief of the detective department, tonight summed up the result of the police investigation of the circumstances of the death of Dr. Helene Knabe, former state bacteriologist, whose throat was cut while she lay on her bed last Monday night.

Capt. Holtz declared he did not intend to reflect upon the character of Dr. Knabe in saying he believed she knew her murderer, if she was murdered.

"Dr. Knabe's reputation was unblemished," said he, "and she lectured to young women and men on the necessity of social purity as well as on physical culture and hygiene. There are many possible motives for her murder. It is certain that robbery was not one of them, and physicians have decided that personal assault was not committed.

Basis of Capt. Holtz's Theory.

"The heavy street dust that had settled upon the outside sills of the windows of Dr. Knabe's flat was undisturbed when our men examined them. The electric lights in the bedroom were burning when Dr. Knabe's body was discovered yesterday morning. These are but a few of the indications that lead me to believe she knew the person that killed her, if, indeed, she did not commit suicide.

"We are working on the murder theory, but there is this to be said for the suicide theory. Dr. Knabe was a trained gymnast and she could have put up a powerful resistance to an assailant. There were no signs of a struggle on the bed or in the bedroom. Blood was not spattered about. Any one familiar with anatomy, as she was, could have cut the throat with a strong right handed slash, such as killed Dr. Knabe.

"This does not account for the knife being missing, but there have been many cases in which the friends of a suicide have sought by removing evidence to prevent the fact of suicide appearing. And many of Dr. Knabe's friends were in the flat before the police arrived."

Coroner Thinks It a Murder.

"I cannot see anything but murder in this case," said Dr. C. O. Durham, the coroner. "The instrument of death was not found, and circumstances indicating suicide appear to me negligible."

Some of Dr. Knabe's friends today said she recently had been despondent over her debts, that even her furniture and instruments were th property of her cousin, Miss Augusta Knabe.

Miss Knabe and Katherine McPherson, Dr. Knabe's assistant, who found her dead, denied that they had seen a knife in the bedroom, or that they had covered up any evidence tending to show the physician killed herself. Miss Knabe admitted Dr. Knabe owed her several hundred dollars, and had other debts.

"But, poor girl," she would have paid it, if she had not been killed," she declared.

Two cigars were found today in the apartment where Dr. Knabe lived alone. Miss McPherson said Dr. Knabe had brought the cigars home from a banquet of a medical society as a joke.

JURY INDICTS MAC FARLAND; HE DECLARES CHARGE FALSE.

Newark, N. J., Man Who Is Accused of Having Poisoned Wife Denies He Is Guilty.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 25.—Allison McFarland was indicted by the Essex county grand jury today on a charge of murdering his wife by the use of cyanide of potassium.

The accused man was not in court, but when he heard that the indictment had been returned he said his defense would be that his wife's death was accidental or suicidal, and gave out an explanation of the case.

"I had plenty of motives for divorce, but none for murder," he said. Continuing he declared that both a solution of bromide and the cyanide solution were in the house, but that the latter was labeled "Poison—Cyanide solution." The charge that he had changed the labels he branded as "rankest nonsense."

INDIAN SUMMER.

(Reprinted by request.)

Yep, sonny, this is sure enough Injun summer. You know what that is, I reckon, do you?

Well, that's when all the homesick Injuns come back to play. You know, a long time ago, long afore your granddaddy was born even, there used to be heaps of Injuns around here—thousands—millions, I reckon, far as that's concerned. 'Jibways, Pottawatomies, Iroquois, an' lots o' others—reg'lar, sure 'nough Injuns—none o' yer cigar store Injuns, not much. They was all around here—right where you're standin'. Don't be skeered—hain't none around here now—leastways, no live ones. They been gone this many a year. They all went away an' died, so they ain't no more left.

But every year, 'long about now, they all come back—leastways, their sperrits do. They're here now. You can see 'em off across the fields. Look real hard. See that kind o' hazy, misty look out yonder? Well, them's Injuns—Injun sperrits—marchin' along an' dancin' in the sunlight. That's what makes that kind o' haze that's everywhere—it's jest the sperrits o' the Injuns all come back. They're all around us now. See off yonder, see them tepees? They kind o' look like corn shocks from here, but them's Injun tents, sure as you're a foot high. See 'em now? Sure, I knowed you could. Smell that smoky sort o' smell in the air? That's the campfires a-burnin' an' their pipes a-goin'. Lots o' people says it's jest leaves a-burnin', but it ain't. It's the campfires, an' the Injuns are hoppin' 'round 'em to beat the old Harry.

You jest come out here tonight when the moon is hangin' over the hill off yonder an' the harvest fields is all swimmin' in the moonlight, and you can see the Injuns an' the tepees jest as plain as kin be. You can, eh? I knowed you could after a little while.

Jevver notice how the leaves turn red 'bout this time o' year? That's jest another sign o' redskins. That's when an old Injun sperrit gits tired dancin' an' goes up an' squats on a leaf t' rest. Why, I kin hear 'em rustlin' an' whisperin' an' creepin' 'round among the leaves all th' time, an' ever once in a while a leaf gives way under some fat old Injun ghost an' comes floatin' down to the ground. See—here's one now. See how red it is. That's th' warpaint rubbed off'n an Injun ghost, sure's you're born.

Purty soon all the Injuns'll go marchin' away agin, back to the happy huntin' ground, but next year you'll see 'em troopin' back—th' sky jest hazy with 'em and their campfires smolderin' away jest like they are now.

FATHER AT RICHESON'S CELL

Accused Preacher in Boston Tells Parent He's Innocent.

FAMILY RALLIES TO DEFENSE

No Poison Container Found With Avis Linnell's Body.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 25.—Col. Thomas Varland Richeson of Amherst, Va., visited in jail today his youngest son, the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, accused of the murder of Avis Linnell.

Since the young man left his Virginia home seven years ago to enter the Baptist ministry his father had not seen him until today. In the first words of greeting through the bars of his cell door the clergyman exclaimed:

"Father, I am innocent."

The veteran confederate soldier, who has all along expressed belief in his son's innocence, grasped the bars for support, while he answered only:

"My boy! My boy!"

Family Rallies to His Defense.

For an hour or so father and son conversed and Col. Richeson then left the jail and was driven, it is believed, to the home in Brookline of Moses Grant Edmands, father of Miss Violent Edmands, to whom the clergyman was to be married.

It was reported that a family reunion was held at the Edmands home tonight attended by the father, Miss Lillie V. Richeson of Saranac Lake, N. Y., a sister, and Douglas Richeson of Chicago, a brother.

The exhumation of the body of Miss Linnell precipitated the first court clash between attorneys. Judge Murray today ruled against the petition of Attorney Dunbar that the defense be present at a second autopsy.

No Poison Receptacle Found.

The body was examined by Medical Examiner Leary, following which District Attorney Pelletier issued a statement declaring no poison receptacle was buried with the body. The coffin was forwarded to Hyannis and reburied.

The Suffolk county grand jury will consider the evidence at a special session tomorrow.

MRS. JOHN B. DRAKE IS DEAD

Mother of Owners of Blackstone Hotel Passes Away.

FATAL SEIZURE UNEXPECTED

Hemorrhage of Brain Causes Coma, Continuing to End.

Mrs. Josephine Corey Drake, widow of John B. Drake, formerly proprietor of the old Grand Pacific hotel and formerly vice president of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, died yesterday afternoon at her residence, 2114 Calumet avenue. She apparently had been well and was stricken suddenly last Sunday with hemorrhage of the brain and remained unconscious until death.

Mrs. Drake was born in Madison, Ind., and was the youngest daughter of Francis Edwin and Vernera Leonard Corey, who, like Mr. Drake, came to Chicago in 1855. Mrs. Drake was married in 1863 and is survived by two daughters, Miss Helen V. Drake and Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, and three sons, Tracy C., John B., and Francis E. Drake, respectively president, vice president, and director of the Drake Hotel company, owners and managers of the Blackstone. She leaves also two sisters, Mrs. James Mix and Mrs. B. F. Carver, of Manchester, Vt. Mrs. Drake was interested in philanthropic and charitable work and for a number of years was one of the vice presidents of the woman's auxiliary board of the Presbyterian hospital, having endowed a room there in memory of her parents. She also supported a visiting nurse in memory of her husband. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

PLEAS FOR POSITIVE PROOF DELAY THE M'NAMARA CASE.

Many Talesmen Who Oppose Conviction for Murder on Circumstantial Evidence Challenged by State.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25.—More than any other cause, objection on the part of talesmen to finding a verdict of guilty on circumstantial evidence hampered progress today in obtaining a jury to try James B. McNamara for alleged responsibility for the death of Charles J. Haggerty, a machinist, who was killed in the Los Angeles Times explosion a year ago.

Two talesmen were excused because they expressed a fixed belief that McNamara is guilty.

Talesman W. L. Coward said he had a fixed belief that the Times building was wrecked by a gas explosion, but was willing to convict the defendant if the state showed him to be guilty beyond reasonable doubt, and further would be willing to accept a demonstration by the state that dynamite caused the explosion. He was challenged by the state and released. The defense took an exception to the ruling.

TAFT MAKES PLEA FOR FAIR SPORTS

President Tells College Students They Should Play Game Honestly.

OPPOSES CHEER MASTER.

Invasion of Wisconsin, "Land of the Enemy," Will Be Opened Today.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 25.—President Taft tonight bade farewell to Minnesota and departed for the real "home of the enemy"—Wisconsin. His speech here tonight was on the arbitration treaties and was devoid of politics.

The president made two other important addresses during the day. One was on the subject of the Panama canal at the luncheon of the Young Men's Republican club of Minneapolis, and the other was a lot of homely advice to the young men and young women students of the University of Minnesota.

To the latter the president suggested that the activities of college life might better be devoted to more elevating subject than "barbaric yells," and he also said the young man who started in life without means was far better equipped than the rich man's son with an income sufficient to live upon without working.

Asks Fairness in Sport.

He also made a plea for fairness in sport, whether it be upon the college gridiron or the professional baseball field. He deplored the action of baseball crowds in attempting to put the visiting team at a disadvantage by insulting remarks and calls hurled from grand stand and bleachers.

The president spoke generally of the responsibility of university men and women.

"University men go out into the world without any money as a rule," said Mr. Taft. "And those who have not money usually serve the public best. If there is anything that is a burden; if there is anything that is an obstable; if there is anything that it is difficult for a young man to overcome, it is an income that will enable him to live without work.

"You look about, after you have been out of college twenty-five years and pick out, if you can, a single man who has made a real success, and had a great deal to live upon when he left college. If you find him, he is entitled to a great deal more credit than you are if you have had to hustle in order to get enough to eat, for he has had to overcome more obstacles and more difficulty than you."

Might Study Good Manners.

Mr. Taft suggested that American universities might well devote a little more attention to a study of manners. The Anglo-Saxon, the northern races, he said, prided themselves on their straightforwardness, on their telling each other just what they thought; whereas they might learn a great deal from the politeness of the Latin races."

On the subject of sports the president said:

"I wish our university games could be attended with a little less partisanship and better treatment of the other side in our applause and in our appreciation of good plays. I love baseball. I love to go to see a game. But when I see the players on the diamond on the other side beset with insults, by all sorts of catcalls and cries to put them at a disadvantage, I feel as if there might be an improvement and that we might depart from showing our deep interest in our side by that method; and that we might show appreciation and applause after the game and after the decision is reached."

TAFT AGENT O.K.'S CITY PLANS

Secret Service Operator Wheeler Leaves for Pittsburgh.

MEET PRESIDENT IN KENOSHA

Delegates from Chicago to Bring Guest to Start Three Day Program.

Before President Taft is within hailing distance of the Illinois state line tomorrow evening he will be met by a delegation of Chicagoans in charge of the arrangements for his three-day stay here. With every detail of the long program of speechmaking, sightseeing, and entertaining outlined, and every move of the presidential party scheduled, Lucien C. Wheeler of the secret service, Mr. Taft's personal representative, left last evening for Pittsburgh to arrange for the visit there.

"Chicago knows how to make arrangements—and how to carry them out," he said. "I think everything is satisfactory. No city can excel Chicago in hospitality, and I am sure Mr. Taft will be satisfied."

To Meet Taft at Kenosha.

When the president reaches Kenosha on his way to Chicago he will be met by Harry A. Wheeler and Charles S. Dering of the Association of Commerce, Marquis Eaton and Fred L. Rossbach of the Hamilton club, and Congressman George Edmund Foss, all members of the general committee.

The party will arrive at the Chicago and Northwestern railway station at 7:55 p. m. and will start immediately in automobiles to the First Regiment armory at Sixteenth street, where the massmeeting will be held. All along the route will be policemen blocking off traffic.

Doors of the armory will be thrown open at 7:30 p. m. and up to 8:15 p. m. admission to 5,000 reserved seats will be by tickets. Seating will be by a staff of fifty ushers under A. W. Giessner, editor of the Galena Gazette.

Two Women on Platform.

On the platform will be about 300, among them three score college presidents—with Mrs. Ella Flagg Young and Mrs. Julia Gulliver, a Rockford school principal, as special guests, the only women on the platform—foreign consuls in Chicago, representatives of all branches of state and federal governments, and presidents of various Chicago clubs. Guy Guernsey will preside and Mayor Harrison will give the speech of welcome.

Then comes the hurried trip to the La Salle hotel where Mr. Taft will lead the grand march of the Irish Choral society. Saturday noon the president will address the Chicago Bar association at the La Salle on the "Recall of the Judiciary." George Von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy, will be here Saturday to assist at the dedication of the new naval training station at Lake Bluff in the afternoon.

Sunday afternoon Mr. Taft will be taken for an automobile ride through the park systems, and in the evening will speak before the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall on "Peace." On Monday morning he will lay the cornerstone of the new building of the Hamilton club in Dearborn street.

Mr. Taft will leave for Pittsburgh late Monday afternoon.

Mrs. C. L. The bridemaids were in white muslin frocks with pink sashes, and carried shower bouquets of pink carnations.

Illinois D. A. R. Chapters Open Conclave.

Members of the Chicago Men's Equal Suffrage league gave a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman yesterday for J. B. Braly, president of the Men's Equal Suffrage league of California.

"The anti-suffraget is akin to the despotic czar," said the Californian. "The one believes fallibility of the individual. They differ only in falability of the individual. They differ only in numbers, not in principle."

Braly was felicitated by Mrs. Grace W. Trout, president of the Chicago Political Equality league, for his part in the victory of woman suffrage in California.

Governors Going to Ball with Taft.

With President Taft as the central figure probably more government and state officials will be present at the Irish Choral society's ball at the Hotel La Salle tomorrow night than at any previous affair held in Chicago. Acceptances have been received from many state governors now in attendance at the mining congress and United States senators and congressmen.

The attendance will be limited to 500 couples, and practically all tickets have been disposed of. The halls will be decorated with American beauty roses and a special box, draped with the American and Irish colors, will be erected in the gold and ivory ballroom for the president's use.

The grand march, led by Mayor Carter H. Harrison, will begin at 10 o'clock. Numerous dinner parties will precede the ball.

Round About Chicago.

The Toodles Get Their Encyclopedias.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

MR. TOODLES repaired home to his happy flat in Hyde Park to find Mrs. Toodles frying bacon for dinner over a gas jet in the dining room.

"They've come," said Mrs. Toodles breathlessly. "The kitchen is crowded full of them."

"How long are they going to stay," asked Mr. Toodles, trying to be cheerful.

"Why, forever, I hope," said Mrs. Toodles.

"Not if I can help it," said Mr. Toodles grimly. "Did Uncle Jim come, and your brother Bill? If they did I suppose it's all off with that bottle of whisky that I was keeping as a medicine."

"Why, whom are you talking about," asked Mrs. Toodles in surprise.

"Your relations," said Mr. Toodles.

"But my relations didn't come," said Mrs. Toodles. "It's the encyclopedias."

"O," said Mr. Toodles. "Why didn't you put them in the bookcase?"

"I told you to get the thin paper kind," said Mrs. Toodles with a tear in her eye. "Still they're encyclopedias, even if we did get the thick paper kind. We've got them, anyhow. We've got them; that's the important thing. O, I'm so glad! Just think! We have the gold mine of information and the storehouse of all human knowledge and all that sort of thing right here in our flat."

"Hurrah!" shouted Mr. Toodles feebly. "Well, I don't see that you have to put any of the wisdom of the ages in the ice box to keep it fresh. What's the matter with moving it to the front room?"

"There's so much of it," said Mrs. Toodles. "I can hardly get into the kitchen. The janitor unpacked the books and piled them on top of the gas range and the ice chest and in the middle of the floor. I can't get out there to cook. The bookcases that I ordered with the encyclopedias are piled up on top of the books. It looks like a fire."

Mr. Toodles looked at the encyclopedias and the bookcases and groaned. Then he walked around the four room flat and figured where the books could go.

"You've got me," said Mr. Toodles. "This is a brick building, you know."

"Why, of course, dear," said Mrs. Toodles. "I know it's brick. As soon as we get the dinner dishes cleared away we can look in volume seven or eight, or whatever it is, 'Bra to Brz,' and find out just what brick is made of and how they put them on the cars and how much they cost and how many kinds there are, and everything."

"Well, I can tell you one thing without looking in volume 'Bra to Brz,'" said Mr. Toodles, "and that is this: Bricks are not constructed of gutta percha and will not stretch."

"O, you've been looking at the encyclopedias down in the office," said Mrs. Toodles. "Won't it be fine when I have a chance to read the encyclopedias, too, and find out about everything?"

"I wish I could get some dynamite and a pickax," said Mr. Toodles. "I would like to dig my way into that kitchen through volume 'Air to Ake,' and volume 'Del to Dem,' and volume 'Jar to Jel,' and find 'Kuz to Fla.'"

"What do you want to find out about?" asked Mrs. Toodles as she cracked two eggs into a pie plate and held them over the gas jet.

"I want to find the word 'flat,'" said Mr. Toodles. "I will skip the part about how flats were invented and who did it. I couldn't hate him any more even if I knew his name. I will jump the page of how they used to put flat owners in jail in the time of Tiglath Pilezer or some old Babylonian gink with a name like that, and I don't give a hip hurrah to know that under Julius Cæsar all flats in Rome had to have a south front and all janitors who didn't turn the heat on promptly on the first cold day in the fall was taken out and broken on the wheel. All that won't interest me at all."

"It will me," said Mrs. Toodles. "My, isn't an encyclopedia wonderful!"

"What I want to find out when I hit volume thirty-nine or seventy-nine or one hundred and twenty-three, or whatever it is," said Mr. Toodles, "is the three pages dealing with modern flats. I'll jump the sociology and the archæology and everything of that kind and read until I find where it tells where you can stow away a set of encyclopedias in a four room flat so that you can get into bed at night without climbing through the bathroom window."

"I'm sure the encyclopedia will tell us, dear," twittered Mrs. Toodles. "I'm so glad you insisted on getting them."

"I insisted on getting them!" exclaimed Mr. Toodles in consternation. "Why, I was dead set against the idea all the time. You were the one that wanted them. You never heard of an encyclopedia until you got stampeded by the advertising that the opportunity of getting them would be gone forever on a certain date. Then you got feverish right away."

"O, well," admitted Mrs. Toodles, "I did say that seeing that our only chance of getting encyclopedias would be gone after a certain date we ought make up our minds whether we could afford to be without them for the rest of our lives."

"Sure," said Mr. Toodles. "I noticed that the lines in the ads about 'Get a college education for two cents a day' and 'Join the ranks of the great scholars of the ages' didn't make near the hit with you that the stuff did about all bets being called off at 12 o'clock on a certain date."

"I don't like to miss opportunities," said Mrs. Toodles.

"No," said Mr. Toodles, "and I remember the night you rushed home and signed the coupon in the paper and mailed it in to the encyclopedia gang. You had seen a big sign down the street which read: 'Repent Now, Or Where Will You Spend Eternity?' I told you at the time that that sign was in front of a Salvation Army barracks, but you thought it had something to do with the encyclopedias."

"Anyhow," said Mrs. Toodles gleefully, "we have them, and that's one consolation."

"Well, I won't be consoled," said Mr. Toodles, "until I find volume seventy or two hundred and ninety-eight, which I hope is 'Cer to Cus.' I want to dig up a few fancy swear words to use on this memorable occasion."

In the World of Music.

Violinist Introduces a Pretentious Novelty.

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

CONSPICUOUS on the program of violin music presented last evening in Music hall by Hugo Kortschak, second concert master of the Thomas orchestra, was the "Chaconne," by Max Reger. Many things contributed to its prominence. It was the novelty of the evening. It represented the latest composition from the pen of this much discussed German master, to be heard in Chicago. It assumes the most pretentious form that has been associated with the instrument and its message is couched in an idiom so involved that nobody understands it. It has been asserted that the whole trend of the art at the present moment is toward the intimate and the mysterious, and it is entirely possible that Reger is just so much ahead of the times that even the conscientious listener finds it difficult to determine whether his music be mystery or only mist—possibly even in the German sense, in which event the inability of the tonal art to convey olfactory impressions renders its symbolism the more indefinite.

Beyond the confession that the writer found it altogether impossible to fathom the composer's intentions there is little to record. It means nothing to say that the work impressed as unbeautiful, because there are but two elements in music that are inseparable from the idea of beauty, emotional eloquence, and symmetrical form. Time has wrought so many remarkable changes of opinion that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that this work may yet convey to future listeners a message that will touch the sympathies. At first hearing, however, the impression is entirely antipathetic. Stupendous egotism seems to speak in the choice of the chaconne form, for Bach has exhausted the possibilities of this style of contrapuntal variations for the instrument, nor will new possibilities arise until the present idiom is further expanded.

Reger has not attempted such an expansion here. Rather, he has restricted the harmonic scheme of Bach, and upon this narrowed foundation he has imposed a theme of superlative insignificance, elaborated with awe inspiring monotony. Deadly dullness is the total result. For this sad outcome the performer was in no way responsible. He brought to the presentation of the work technical resources that represent a high standard of virtuosity and a command of tonal beauty and variety that bespoke a sensitive and imaginative musical consciousness, as well as splendid intellectual powers.

Fortunately the program was rich in music long since approved by the world of music. The Brahms sonata for piano and violin, opus 78; a movement from the ninth concerto of Spohr, two Hungarian dances by Brahms-Joachim, and the Ernst F sharp minor concerto afforded Mr. Kortschak ample opportunity to demonstrate his gifts and attainments to better advantage than the Reger work permitted. These numbers were presented in a manner that justifies for Mr. Kortschak a distinguished place among the violinists of the city, and for his collaborator, Mr. Arthur Rech, that especial reward that should be the portion of the sincere, sympathetic, and self-effacing pianist and accompanist.

The recital was attended by an audience that filled the auditorium and included most of the representative musicians of the city.

Mary Garden on Marriage and Her Art.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Ever since Miss Mary Garden returned from Europe she has been so elusive that one could not get a chance to hear her chat. She was always just about to go out to see her sister in Greenwich, or to somewhere else in the country, or just come back from the terrible, long journey and therefore too fatigued, and finally she was just about to go to Maine for the musical festival, so that one was almost in despair of seeing Miss Garden chez-elle, as Miss Garden might put it, until it was learned on Tuesday that Maine had been conquered and that the singer was back recuperating and getting ready to move on Philadelphia, where her season with the Philadelphia Opera company is soon to begin. She will make her debut in "Carmen."

"I love it," she said of the rôle of Carmen. "I do enjoy singing it. I believe one should keep to traditions in singing a classical opera, and I am going to sing Carmen as Bizet wrote it. I am not going to do any—what do you call them?—'stunts,' but I shall be absolutely natural. I shall sing exactly what's written, as I did when I astonished the critics by singing Marguerite in that way. I do not think one should put eccentricities into classical opera.

"Then I shall sing Prince Charming in Massenet's 'Cinderella.' What shall I wear? Let me see. O, a black velvet Louis XIII. costume. It is my third male rôle. There was Cherubin, you know, and then the Juggler."

"Do you like male rôles?" was asked.

"Well, I like them well enough. I adore the Juggler; it is such a delightful character. But then I really do like a woman's rôle better. The reason is because I am three-quarters feminine and only one-quarter masculine. Some women, they say, are three-quarters masculine. On the whole, I don't believe I like masculine rôles. Perhaps when I get to be about 35 I may change."

From time to time reports have come from Europe that a Russian prince or some other romantic person had proposed marriage to Miss Garden, to be followed by definite statements to the contrary. Miss Garden said today that she is not now contemplating matrimony.

"Marriage!" she laughed. "Perhaps when I get to be 45 I may consider it. I really do not know anybody that I should care to marry. Not that I have any objections to marriage itself. But when a woman marries I should think that in order for both persons concerned to be happy she would have to give up her art, if she has one, and I don't know anybody for whom I should be willing to give up my art.

"Certainly giving up my art for a man would not gain me any more money, because I earn more money than anybody would give me. It would not be enjoyable, after a woman has been earning what I have, to hear somebody demand: 'What have you done with that last $20 or that last $100 I gave you?'

"As it is, what I do with my money is nobody's business but my own, and my money is all my own.

"Then there is the way of looking at it that I owe my life and career to the public. I could not expect a man to give up his life to me and my career, and I should certainly have no time to devote to a family.

"The life of an artist has to be serious and quiet. If one does not give the best there is in one to the public the public soon finds it out, and then one's grip is gone. You see, we artists are wedded to the public, and the public makes or unmakes us.

"Of course, a man is much calmer than a woman," added Miss Garden, "and his nerves are better. Perhaps a husband might calm one's nerves. Still, I am not marrying a nerve specialist, and one should certainly not acquire a husband just to calm one's nerves. I think the color of one's surroundings has a great effect on the nerves, by the way, and the hotel people are going to change the color of this room to Nile green for me before I come back. That is my favorite color, and I think it is soothing.

"I think I should like to write a column a month for some newspaper," Miss Garden went on. "I should do it for no salary at all, except for the privilege of telling truths and giving my opinions on the topics of the day.

"Woman suffrage? I don't believe in it. I cannot understand what the suffragists are fighting for. I don't think we women are put here for that purpose; the temperament of a woman is so entirely different from that of a man. We are not half so frank and straightforward as men. Men are so much more trustful. Yet it is wonderful how easily some foolish woman can wind a wise man around her finger. But it always makes me angry to see a man in that predicament."

"Have I achieved my ambition?" Miss Garden remarked. "No; not yet. But I cannot tell you what it really is. Those who have read my hand tell me my life is only just beginning. I have had ten years of pretty happy life. But one should keep one's ambitions at the bottom of one's soul."

"Where do you like best to sing?"

"I am fond of singing in this country. But the greatest honor bestowed on a woman, the greatest I know of, is to walk out on the stage of the Opera house in Paris—not only to walk out but to be accepted, and I have been accepted. How did I feel the first night I appeared at the Opera in Paris? I really did not have emotions that night. I have no emotions. I am not an emotional woman.

"Yes, I have seen a change in musical taste over here," said Miss Garden in answer to a question. "I see the old school getting out of the way, the 'Traviatas,' the 'Rigolettos,' and the 'Lucias,' and it is owing to a change in the taste of the public for music. Mozart and Glück will never go out. But there are things that have had their day, especially Verdi operas. We have to live up with our time and with the music of our day. I think the French school heads the new movement, though I do adore Richard Strauss."

"Today if you go on the French stage you have got to have something besides a voice. You must have a personality. A mere voice bores them in Paris, and it is getting to be the same way in America, where people don't like to hear a voice coming out of an expressionless face.

"And the man who has brought this about over here is Oscar Hammerstein. He was always the man who knew what the moment demanded. It is ridiculous to say that a city where there are about sixty theaters could not support two opera houses. If Oscar hadn't had a moment of disheartenment, if there had only been somebody to back him up, he wouldn't have given up the fight here."

Mormon Choir on Pilgrimage.

Traveling in a special train of up to date railroad cars over almost the same route taken by their Mormon forefathers in ox team "prairie schooners" sixty-four years ago, 246 members of the Mormon tabernacle choir, the largest regular church choir in the world, are making a pilgrimage of nearly 5,000 miles from Salt Lake City to New York.

They will give concerts at the American Land and Irrigation exposition in Madison Square garden.

The choir will reach Chicago on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road at 12:30 p. m. today and will give a concert this evening at Orchestra hall, with Prof. John J. McClellan as organist. The pilgrimage is under the patronage of Gov. Spry of Utah and other officials.

Many Would Learn the Hebrew Tongue.

On the experimental course in Polish language, instituted last month in the Carl Schurz High school, depends the attitude of the board of education toward further additions to the language courses. This was announced yesterday by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent, following a petition for Hebrew instruction. The petition, signed by fifty-six pupils of the John Marshall High school and approved by Louis J. Block, principal, was turned over to Harry A. Lipsky, a board member, for presentation to Mrs. Young.

The Tuley High school sent in a similar petition recently and others are being prepared at the Medill and Wendell Phillips schools. Mrs. Young said no action could be had on the petition until February. She could not tell what would be done in the matter then.

"A Hebrew scholar told me that the texts that would be used in Hebrew instruction would involve religious ideas. This would be a serious objection at the outset," she said.

Bids were opened yesterday for the construction of a new Nicholas Senn High school at Ridge and Francis avenues. An appropriation of $600,000 has been made for this building.

Praises American Student Life.

The American university and student life is better than that of Germany, declares Dr. A. Oliven, commissioned by the German government to arrange itineraries in this country for a group of 300 scientists, who will arrive here in September of 1912.

"Students have a better opportunity in America for a general education; in Germany we specialize," said the doctor. "Students are more sober here. In Germany they fight and drink beer. They are learning to be sensible, like the Americans."

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice

The Overambitious Wife.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright, 1911, by Laura Jean Libbey.]

THE curse of many a hard working, industrious, peacefully inclined workingman's life is an overambitious wife. She is the woman who is never content with the home her husband is able to provide for her; she is bitterly dissatisfied with his income as well as the appearance she is able to present.

Her heart is filled with envy over the success of her neighbor's husband and the way his family lives. The entertainments they give, the number of servants they keep, all add fuel to the fire of her repinings. She assures herself she could make a far more brilliant social record than they or any of their friends if she could but prod her husband's ambition to the point that he would strive for a higher position and more money.

He knew no peace until he was forced into politics. "That is the way the man across the street got up," were the words dinned into his ears day and night. He had been glad to sit down and read his paper of an evening—wearied from the labors of the day.

"You must be at the political meetings if you would amount to anything," his wife would assert, in a tone of voice that brooked no dissenting response.

He is pushed into the vortex of public life by his wife's strenuous, unrelenting hand. He finds himself on a toboggan which admits of no leaping off. A quiet home is a thing of the past; politicians and their families take charge of it for their headquarters.

"We must dine and wine them," declares the wife. "Now, don't say 'no.' You will never arise to prominence unless you make yourself a jolly good comrade, a hail fellow well met among them."

"But the expenses!" moaned the husband. "What I take in at the office won't pay the bills. Do you want me to put a mortgage on the place to wine and dine people I don't care a rap for and who don't care for me?"

"To succeed politically one must make sacrifices," answers the ambitious wife. "I see great things in store for you, my dear. Do let me have my way!"

A mortgage was put on the business—likewise on the home. It was of little use to inform her of his troubles; he shut them within his own breast, bearing them alone.

Election time was fast approaching; the leaders informed him that he was expected to "put up" if he wanted things to go his way; the man who secured a plum should be willing to dig down deep in his pocket. He would have dropped matters just where they were, starting in to retrieve his fallen fortunes before all was lost, were it not for her ambitions.

He was elected to the state legislature. His wife was overjoyed. He was correspondingly blue.

"It would be all very well for a man who has an income to keep up this sort of thing," he groaned. "I cannot go on with my business and attend to lobbying bills which bring in only vainglory."

His wife aroused herself from her happy day dreams.

"Legislators' wives are but a few steps removed from the first lady of the state," she mused aloud, adding: "It will be a gay season, parties, receptions, luncheons without number. I shall have to have a befitting wardrobe. I am proud of your successful career, my love."

The overambitious wife is an unscrupulous taskmistress. Sooner or later the husband of such a woman must cry a halt before he is swamped in the seething sea of utter ruin and penury. The man who permits an overambitious wife to push him over the precipice of bankruptcy to satisfy her mad craving for social prominence is not to be pitied; instead, he deserves censure.

He's Out of Work.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been out of employment for eight months. Two young ladies are deeply in love with me. Each wants me to marry her, and each has a good position. One is willing to support me, and the other wishes me to get a position first. I am undecided which one to take, and wish you would give me your opinion. PERPLEXED."

You are not in a position to think of marrying. If you aren't able to hold a job, what right have you to marry?

Better Give the Girl Up.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I made an appointment with my sweetheart to meet me and have lunch. I was at the appointed place, and five minutes later I saw my sweetheart cross the street with a young man. I followed the couple a block, only to find that the young man took her to lunch. When I ask her to go to a theater she will not go unless I buy the most expensive seats. She will go to Saturday night dances with girl friends who frequently do not return home until Sunday afternoon. I have begged her to give up the company of these girls. What would you advise me to do? E."

Better give the girl up. She doesn't seem to amount to much. She lacks character and doesn't seem to be the right sort. Why waste time with her? Life is too short.

Christmas Present Query.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Is it proper for me to give each of my men friends a Christmas present when there are several with whom I keep company? We are all young—19 and 20 years. If it is proper to give them something, will you kindly suggest what? W."

No, I do not think it would be wise to give them presents. If you wish, it would be entirely proper to send each a Christmas postcard.

Singing as a Beauty Exercise.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright, 1911, by Lillian Russell.]

NOTE—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. Miss Libbey will reply to queries on social problems. Mrs. Eddington will give advice on housekeeping. Personal replies will be given if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed.

SINGING is one of the best beauty exercises known. It is necessary for the singer to breathe deeply and to hold the breath in for several seconds before expelling the air. A deep breath held for eight seconds expands the back muscles below the lungs, giving strength and beauty to the back and shoulders. I have known this to plant a dimple where only scrawny flesh was before.

Holding the arms above the head and breathing deeply and holding the breath eight seconds each time will strengthen and develop the chest muscles. These two exercises alone, done ten times each, twice daily, will develop the shoulders, chest, and hips, and reduce the waist line.

Women who sing and breathe properly never can suffer from lung diseases. We hear of a singer dying of consumption, but I am positive the cause never came from voice strain. I know, in fact, many cases of girls threatened with weak lungs who have been ordered by their physicians to take singing lessons to develop their lungs and bodies, and the results have been wonderful. Splendid lung development must come with proper breathing, as it expands every muscle in the body.

To produce a beautiful tone, one must have the breathing apparatus in perfect control. With some singers the proper breathing and lovely voice are natural, but they do not know how or why they sing well, and in time they acquire bad habits in technique through ignorance, and often lose a beautiful voice entirely by not knowing or caring how they produce the tones.

There is nothing more beautiful than a lovely, well placed voice; and to place a voice, one must call upon one's mentality. It is one of the unseen realities. As you think it, so it is.

The formation of the throat has little to do with tone. It is the mind that sings, and the mind expresses the quality of tone. Every tone that a singer sounds is an expression of his or her soul. What is called feeling in a song is the thought from within. That thought deepens, broadens, or narrows tone at will. But it must be within before it can be impressed upon the listener.

The public does not know what there is in one voice that pleases it more than another, but where there is sweetnes of tone there is also sweetness of nature. Voices that wear out early generally wear out from temper.

I know two great singers whose careers were ended in early life simply by jealousy and temper. One singer of recent years would become so enraged at some trifle in her dressing room that she could not sing, and the opera would have to be changed, while the audience had to wait while the impresario rushed about to get another prima donna in her place. Today that woman's voice is gone. She has ruined not only her life but her art by giving way foolishly to outbursts of temper that were totally unnecessary and unreasonable.

Instead of singing and growing more splendidly healthy in mind and body, she has shriveled up and become ugly and wrinkled—even her skin has grown sallow and thick.

She did not understand that one must sing in one's heart before one can sing with the mouth.

Remember: Every good action and every good thought makes for beauty.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MRS. J. B.: Castile soap is excellent for the face and hands, or a good home made soap, or one of the floating soaps. To test the soap touch the new cake to the tongue. If the taste is not too strong or sharp the soap may be used on the face and hands. Hot water, as well as water that is too cold, should not be used. Use moderately warm water.

M. W.: You should never wear low shoes if your ankles are weak. Wear high laced shoes and massage the ankles every day. This will help to strengthen them.

MILLY: If your arms are thin they can be improved by massaging and exercise. To massage the arms grasp one arm with the hand of the opposite side and begin either at the shoulder or the wrist, working up and down the arm with a wringing, twisting motion. Massaging them with cocoa butter also is good. Deep breathing is good for filling out the hollows in the neck. I am sending you instructions for deep breathing and a good cold cream for the face and a hair curling fluid.

S. H.: Deep breathing should be practiced constantly. The first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. Take deep breaths with the mouth closed and retain a few seconds, then exhale through the nostrils. This is an excellent exercise for straightening rounded shoulders. It is also good for enlarging the bust. If you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope I shall send you instructions for deep breathing and also a simple and harmless remedy by which a number of my friends have enlarged their busts.

H. O.: A simple remedy for rough hands is to rub them at night with sweet almond oil and wear loose fitting gloves to protect the bed linen. Send me a self-addressed stamped envelope and I shall send you the recipe for a glove paste with which to keep the hands soft and white.

Economical Housekeeping.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Late Grape.

THE grape, Concord especially, remains in the market at minimum prices. It will be with us until Christmas, but never was it cheaper so late in the season than this year. So cheap is this grape that the pleasant, wholesome grape juice ought to be on our family tables at least once a day. It seems shameful that so many bushels are going to waste, as we hear they are, when the grape is such a valuable food.

These later grapes may be a little overripe, although this is not invariably so, and therefore not quite as good for some purposes as those which came first. Yet they will be sweeter and have their own rare excellence to the end. They should be used to make the jelly and juice for immediate consumption.

A government bulletin comparing the taste of the juices made from different kinds of grapes says that we get in the Concord "that sprightly, foxy taste so well known." Such a description may be accurate, but it may also have disagreeable suggestions. The juice of this grape is the darkest of any, but if carefuly made and clear it may be more of a beautiful, deep red than the thick, deep purple which so many get. The same is true of the jelly.

Uses and Food Value of Unfermented Grape Juice—In the above mentioned bulletin the following paragraphs are given concerning the use and food value of unfermented grape juice:

"The uses are many. It is used in sickness, convalescence, and good health; as a preventive, restorative, and cure; by the young, by persons in the prime of life, and by those in old age. It is used in churches for sacramental purposes, at soda fountains as a cool and refreshing drink; in homes, at hotels, and at restaurants as a food, as a beverage, as a dessert, and in many other ways. When people become accustomed to it they rarely give it up. When properly prepared unfermented grape juice can be made to please the eye by its color and attractive appearance, the sense of smell by its aroma or fragrance, the palate by its pleasant flavor.

"It is food and drink, refreshment and nourishment, all in one. Not a by-product but made from fruit going to waste—one of the blessings given us that some are too careless, others too ignorant, to make use of.

"The effects of unfermented grape juice on the human system have been studied for a number of years, especially at the so-called grape cures so long in vogue in Europe. A smaller number of investigations have been made in laboratories. It is quite generally claimed that using a reasonably large amount of unfermented grape juice with an otherwise suitably mixed diet is beneficial and that digestion is improved, intestinal fermentation diminished, and that gains in body weight result.

"It should not be forgotten that the abundant diet and hygienic methods of living practiced at the grape cures play an important part, but even taking all this into account it seems fair to conclude that some of the good results can be directly attributed to the unfermented grape juice.

"Grape juice contains the same kind of nutrients as other foods. The percentage of water is high. It contains less water than milk, more carbohydrates, and less protein, fat, and ash. Carbohydrates, largely present in the form of sugar, are the principal nutritive ingredients. It is evident, therefore, that grape juice is essentially an energy yielding food and may help the body to become fatter, though it cannot materially assist in building nitrogenous tissue."

Grape Nectar—One pint of grape juice, two lemons, one orange, one cup of sugar or a little less, a pint of ice water. Serve cold. If served from punch bowl garnish with slices of orange and lemon.

Grape Punch—Boil together one pound of sugar and half a pint of water until it spins a thread; take from the fire and when cool add the juice of six lemons and a quart of grape juice. Stand aside overnight. Serve with plain bottled water or soda water.

Grape Sherbet I.—For four persons mix one-half pint of unfermented grape juice with the juice of half a lemon and one-half of a heaping tablespoon of gelatin dissolved in boiling water; freeze quickly; add beaten white of one egg just before finish.

Grape Sherbet II.—Boil two cups of sugar with the grated rind of one lemon and two cups of water for five minutes. Soak one-half tablespoon of gelatin in a fourth of a cup of cold water and pour over it the boiling sugar. Add one cup of grape juice and the juice of two lemons. Strain and freeze, adding the beaten white of one egg when the mixture is of the consistency of mush.

Grape Catsup—Eight pounds of grapes, four pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, three tablespoonfuls of ground cloves, three tablespoonfuls of cinnamon. Boil all together two hours, then strain through colander and bottle.

Grape Vinegar—This may be made just as any other fruit vinegar is made, but the pulp must be squeezed from the skins before the vinegar to cover is added. Follow formula for any fruit vinegar for finishing.

CHINA TOTTERS AS REBELS GAIN

Assembly Impeaches Minister of Posts; Sends Ultimatum to Manchus.

RULERS READY TO FLEE.

General and 21 Others Killed by Bomb; New United States Agent Named.

PEKING, Oct. 25.—Further defections to the rebels, including Nan-Chang, capital of the province of Kiang-Si, and Kwei-Lin, capital of Kwang-Si, have served to increase the tension here of the revolution.

To add to the seriousness of the situation, the Tzu Cheng Yuan, China's first national assembly, today gave to the Manchus what the legations consider an ultimatum.

The assembly impeached Sheng Hsuan Huai, president of the ministry of posts and communications, and demanded his dismissal with severe punishment.

A reply is required from the government by tomorrow, failing which the assembly will dissolve and the members return to their respective provinces. From the temper shown it is believed the assembly will carry out the threat.

The only course open to the government is either to sacrifice a man considered by foreigners the strongest member of the cabinet, or, retaining him, declare war on the assembly, as well as the vast majority of Chinese.

Imperial Family Ready to Flee.

It is commonly reported in Peking that the imperial family is ready for flight. The road to Jehol, 115 miles north-northeast of Peking, is studded with troops. Other rumors designate the foreign settlements in Tien-Tsin as the possible refuge.

The charges against Sheng Hsuan Huai were formulated by the people of Sze Chuen, Hu Peh, and Hu Nan. Sheng negotiated the loans for the nationalization of the railways and has been a leading advocate of the anti-provincial policy regarded largely responsible for the revolution. The inhabitants of these provinces have shown strong opposition to the proposed railway.

At the meeting of the assembly today members urged that they were not against foreign loans but against the methods employed and the results, which were tantamount to robbing Chinese, who had already begun the railways, and selling them out to foreigners.

Opposite View by Legations.

An opposite view is taken by the legations of the four interested powers, who consider that the loans and the Hu-Kwang railway and currency reform projects would have served the highest interests of China.

Sheng's secretary produced a written statement from his chief, who, like the other members of the cabinet, was absent from the meeting of the assembly, but he was shouted down.

Cries of "Decapitate Sheng!" were heard. No one attempted to defend the minister. When the assembly rose to vote, even the front row Manchu princes, evidently intimidated by the radicals, stood up, demanding the noted Mandarin's degradation.

Gen. Yin Tchang's silence has given rise to innumerable speculations. The war ministers in the field seem to consider it unnecessary to communicate anything but his needs to the presidents of the other government boards. Only the palace seems to know his intentions.

Report Army Disorganized.

The imperialist commander has not been followed by any foreigners, even the foreign controllers of the railway having withdrawn. Therefore it is impossible to ascertain whether reports regarding the imperial army are true. Some reports say this army, upon which the dynasty's hope depends, is seriously disorganized.

It is reported that the rebels have outflanked the imperialists 180 miles north of Hankow and captured a war chest containing $750,000.

Trains go south laden with soldiers and equipment, but they do not return. The troops set forth without sufficient ammunition; then quantities of ammunition follow, but no commissariat supplies. There are rumors of mutinies, retreats, and desertions.

It is now said the engine drivers, who were reported as having been shot for refusing to take trains forward, were really shot because they proceeded, the soldiers not desiring to meet the enemy.

General and 21 Killed by Bomb.

CANTON, Oct. 25.—The newly appointed Tartar General Fung Sen was assassinated by a bomb upon his arrival to assume his duties today. Twenty-one others were killed and eighteen injured. It is reported that Mme. Fung Sen was killed.

The general, accompanied by his wife and a large escort of soldiers, was coming ashore when a bomb thrown from the roof of a building dropped among the party. The fatal explosion that followed caused a fire that burned seven houses.

The bomb thrower, a native of the Sunning district, was mortally injured.

NEW CHINESE MINISTER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—S. Alfred Sze has been selected to be Chinese minister to Washington to succeed Chang Yin Tang, now in Mexico. Mr. Sze is a graduate of Cornell university and connected with the Chinese foreign office.

The Chinese government has withdrawn its request of the United States for permission to postpone payment of the current installment of the Boxer indemnity. This action is interpreted as indicating China's success in obtaining a large loan from some secret source.

WRECK OF BATTLESHIP MAINE POINTS TO EXTERIOR EXPLOSION

Testimony of Ensign Powelson in 1898 Confirmed So Far by Removal of Mud from the Hulk.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Oct. 25.—The removing of the mud from about the wreck of the battleship Maine is progressing rapidly, and everything now confirms the testimony of Ensign Powelson before the court of inquiry in 1898, which brought about the verdict of an exterior explosion.

The boilers, the port bunkers, and everything between midships and the bow section from the magazine is bent to starboard. Over the magazine the traverse armor bulkhead has been found as reported by the divers in 1898.

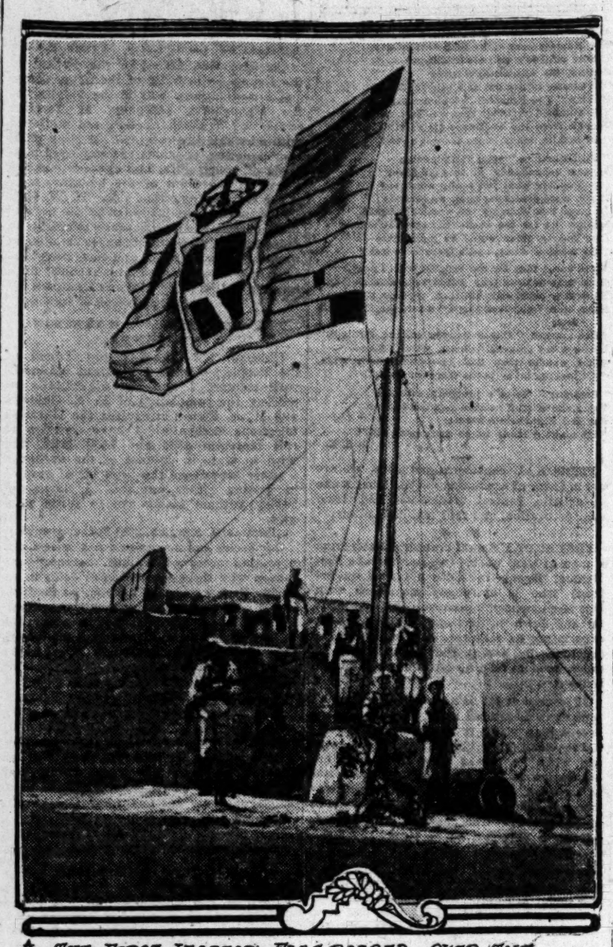

Experts are sanguine that the entire exposure of the ship will show the real cause of the explosion.

Hardy Denies Bearding Morgan.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Thomas Hardy denies that J. P. Morgan attempted to buy the manuscript of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," and that the author refused to sell it to the American at any price, although he was reported to have had the naming of the figure.

REBELS ALARM MEXICO CITY

Victory of Zapataists in Federal District Frightens Congress.

DEPUTIES SCORE MADERO.

Galleries Applaud When Diaz Is Praised in Floor of Chamber.

Mexico City, Oct. 25.—Astounded by the realization that the forces of Zapata had entered the federal district, sacked a town and then stood off a detachment of the federal army, the chamber of deputies tonight demanded that the acting minister of war and the minister of the interior appear before that body and render full reports degarding the insurrection and measures taken for its suppression.

To consider the action of the deputies, the president called a special session of the cabinet, and it was agreed the deputies should be given details of the campaign against the rebels.

Francisco I. Madero shared the denunciation leveled at the government by excited deputies, and the galleries applauded.

One deputy made complimentary reference to Diaz and his government, and again the audience shouted its approval.

Mila Alta today was in the hands of the government troops. Some fifty bodies remain unburied in the streets.

Reluctance of government officials to admit defeat and conflicting statements make it almost impossible to ascertain the number of killed in the Milpa Alta battle. However, from best information a fair estimate seems to be 75 or 80 killed, three-fourths of them federals.

JUDGE SCORES MRS. FOSTER

Divorce Defendant Told Testimony Cannot Be Believed.

BEECHAM ALSO ON STAND.

Operatic Composer Denies Any Wrongdoing in London.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Maude Christian Fairfax Foster, whose husband, George Foster, the artist, is suing for divorce on the ground of alleged misconduct with Thomas Beecham, son of the pill maker, was on the witness stand for seven hours and a half today.

During this time the judge criticised her statements as most unsatisfactory. Yesterday his honor told Mrs. Foster bluntly that no one would believe some of her statements.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Foster's examination Mr. Beecham took the stand. He denied he had been guilty of any misconduct.

What's the Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mr. Walter S. Bowen, 616 La Salle street, and Anna Nuhfer, 831 East 89th street, the only laxative given is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 700 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

FIRST PORCELAIN MADE BY CHINESE

World's Obligation to the Race Expressed in English Name of Kingdom.

ART OF GREAT ANTIQUITY

Enameling Discovered Elsewhere, but Carried to Perfection in China.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL.D.

ICHANG, Hupeh Province, China, Aug. 31.—Our word china expresses our obligation to the middle kingdom, which taught the world how to manufacture porcelain, the noblest of ceramics. Few human inventions antedate pottery; few, go back as far as we can in antiquity, were more widespread. Earthenware was virtually of worldwide distribution.

Stoneware, faience, and terra cotta are not exclusively Chinese products. But porcelain, i. e., pottery made of a white, translucent, hard paste, not to be scratched by steel, homogeneous, resonant, and vitrified, was certainly invented in China. China remains unsurpassed and unrivaled in porcelain.

Wheel made pottery, which marks a distinct step in the industry, is of great antiquity in China. The manufacture of porcelain probably dates from the early Christian era.

Kaolin a Chinese Name.

"Kaolin" is the name of a Chinese place from which the best white clay is obtained. "Petuntse" is also Chinese, meaning "white briquettes," in which form the finely pulverized stoneware is brought to the potter. Under the blowpipe petuntse fuses perfectly into a white enamel. Petuntse of a superior quality is reserved for the glaze. Lime is added to increase its fusibility. It is the lime which gives Chinese porcelain its characteristic green or blue tinge, conducing also to produce a brilliant surface and a pellucid depth.

No shops are so gay or look so clean and attractive as those which expose for sale endless varieties of objects in porcelain and baser wares.

Chinese predilection for pottery, especially porcelain, precluded any considerable development of the glass industry. Glass was introduced through trade with Syria and Asia Minor, which began in the second century. China imported glass until 435 A. D., when Indian merchants taught them how to manufacture it. The art was lost for a time. But in 1430 a Chinese visited Western Asia and returned with foreign glassmakers. The natural flexibility of glass softened by heat never appealed to the Chinese. They preferred it in its hard state, which they cut and polished as they did a semi-precious stone.

Painted Snuff Bottles.

Few visitors to China are able to leave without a glass snuff bottle, painted on the inside. Old specimens, painted by good artists, are rare. The inner surface of the narrow necked bottle must be especially prepared, because it is too smooth to take the paint. The bottle, partly filled with pulverized ferrous oxide mixed with water, is shaken for half a day. A milk white coating suitable for taking color forms on it. The artist lies on his back, holds the bottle to the light in his left hand, and with a fine sheep's hair brush, fixing his eye on the outer surface, he watches the gradual development of the picture as it emerges from under the glass. But first he has outlined the design with India ink. Ordinary bottles are painted in half a day. The subjects are landscapes, flower pieces, and genre.

The Chinese call enamel "Arabic porcelain," from which it appears that they do not claim an independent invention of this, "the master art craft of the world." But many of the world's masterpieces of enamel have been produced in China. The art of enameling was probably introduced into China in the thirteenth century, following the conquest of eastern Europe by the Mongols.

Three Kinds of Enameling.

Enameling reached its richest phase under the Ming dynasty, when it was characterized by a boldness of design and breadth of treatment combined with a striking depth and purity of color which has never been surpassed. Enamel is a vitreous glaze or a combination of vitreous glazes fused to a metallic surface. Chinese practice three kinds of enameling—cloisonné or cell, in which the cloisons are formed by a trellis work of metal wire soldered to a metal foundation, the cells being filled in with soft enamel colors; champlève or pit enamels, also called "imbedded," to distinguish it from cloisonné or encrusted, the cells being either pits modeled in the original casting or hollowed out with chisels, and painted enamels, known by the Chinese as "foreign porcelain" or Canton enamels, similar in technique to the Limoges enamels of France, but in China the enamels are painted on copper. The Chinese consider copper less noble for the decorator's brush than porcelain.

APOLLO COMMANDERY NO. 1. K. T.—Sir Knights: You are requested to assemble in the asylum on Thursday, Oct. 26, at 12:30 p. m. to attend the funeral of our deceased sir knight, George Appleton Meech. Services at Rosehill chapel at 2 p. m. sharp. NATHAN L. MAHER, Em. Commander. HENRY S. TIFFANY, Recorder.

TRUE TO FORM.

A detective, called before the civil service commission investigators to produce a list of dives in the district to which he is assigned, was asked by the attorney for the investigators:

"Suppose we would prove to you that there are many dives in that district other than the ones you have a list of?"

"I wouldn't believe it," said the detective.

There you have the mental processes of the police department laid bare.

FOOLISHNESS IN CANADA.

Not much can be said for the wisdom of Canadians who encourage the growth of an anti-American sentiment in the dominion. Nations are far from being superior to the effect of trivialities. National sensitiveness is tender and small hurts easily become large injuries.

If Canadian patriotism were as well informed as it is violent at times, it would be known in the dominion that towards it there is no sentiment on this side of the border other than friendly. Another sentiment can be cultivated. It would be foolish and childish to do so, but there is no reason to hope that Americans, finding that they have an angry neighbor to the north, will retain their good natured disposition towards it.

The rejection of the reciprocity agreement in Canada was accepted in the United States as a selection of policy which the Canadians had a perfect right to make. It was an economic question and the Canadians consulted their ideas of their best interests. That decision was not construed as a declaration of unfriendly intent. When the two countries can determine their important issues in amity it would be folly to permit controversies, unimportant materially but important sentimentally, to bring about a period of bad feeling or to lay the foundation for more serious animosity.

THE CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION.

Eleven years ago, when George E. Cole was first elected president of the Citizens' Association of Chicago, THE TRIBUNE, in commenting upon an announcement regarding the prospective work of the association, said: "We shall look for the promises of this association to be made good."

Mr. Cole served as president of the Citizens' association during 1901 and 1902 and has ever since been one of its guiding spirits. Recently he has again been chosen to serve as president for the coming year. This fact serves to recall the editorial remark above mentioned and a survey of the work of the Citizens' association during the last eleven years induces the conviction that the association has "made good" its promises.

In 1901 the association secured the indictment of corrupt South town officials and brought about the abolition of the useless township governments in the city. In 1902 it indicted the county civil service commissioners for malfeasance. In 1903 its exposure of "graft" led to the reorganization of the sanitary bureau of the health department on a more effective basis.

In the same year, at the suggestion of the editor of THE TRIBUNE, it began a systematic campaign against the policy-shop swindle, which was taking several million dollars a year from the poor of the city. By securing the enactment of an ironclad anti-policy law and by relentless prosecutions it has freed the city from this evil.

In 1904 the association, by presenting evidence to successive grand juries, aroused such a strong public sentiment against racetrack bookmaking that State's Attorney Healy, acting upon its suggestion, in the following year permanently closed the racetracks in Cook county.

In 1906 the association exposed thievery in several county offices, with the result that two prominent elective county officials were sent to the penitentiary; stolen funds amounting to $50,000 were recovered by the county, and its annual fee receipts were largely increased.

In 1908 the association aided in defeating an attempt to cripple the development of the sanitary district power plant by requiring the sanitary district to procure frontage consents before building its transmission lines. It also successfully attacked the ancient jail dieting "graft." During the last three years its attention has been chiefly devoted to city hall matters, while keeping in touch with municipal affairs generally.

The people of Chicago have reason to feel pride in the record of the Citizens' association. The association is solely dependent for working funds upon membership dues, which are $10 a year. If it had a larger membership it could widen the scope of its work. Now that Mr. Cole has assumed once more the presidency of the association, a renewal of its greatest vigor may be expected, if the association is given proper support. Mr. Cole is one of the most effective of the men who have devoted themselves to the correction of public abuses. His courage, his fairness, his good sense and his unquestioned sincerity have earned him the respect and even the liking of many men he has fought to the hilt of the knife. He is one of the most useful citizens Chicago has had in her civic history.

JUDICIAL SHELL GAME ENDED.

One of the most important and sorely needed decisions rendered by the state Supreme court in a long while is that handed down yesterday in the Gard case.

Gard was a patrolman sentenced to jail by Judge Scanlan for a flagrant case of contempt of court. After his arrest he was released by Judge Adelor Petit on a writ of habeas corpus.

The Supreme court now holds that a judge cannot review the action of a judge of concurrent jurisdiction and orders Sheriff Zimmer to arrest Gard and recommit him to jail.

The ruling will bring this abuse of the habeas corpus writ to an end in this state. The practice among certain complacent judges of letting offenders go under the habeas corpus proceeding had grown to be a very grave scandal. It was a reduction of justice to farce, an outrageous perversion of the object of the great liberty writ. The Supreme court expresses itself upon the action of Petit, and the rebuke is merited. But the main point is that a grave evil is ended.

GUILTY GORMANDIZING.

Considerable sympathy will go out to Mr. Taft when the dietary stratagems of his traveling companions have been revealed. The president is reported to be under martial law administered by Maj. Thomas L. Rhoads, his physician—a wise regulation, no doubt, in view of the fact that on his travels there has been a disposition on the part of patriotic communities to endanger the health of the executive by making him feel the necessity of sampling numerous locally famous comestibles.

The wisdom of Maj. Rhoads' severity may be admitted, but the acts of other members of the party in endeavoring to avoid the strict regimen cannot be condoned, colored as they are by deceit. The picture of Mr. Taft sitting on the observation platform after a frugal meal and wondering where his companions are, while the same companions are hidden in a drawing room guiltily eating their way through a hot apple pie, is pathetic.

We are informed that it is a common occurrence for Mr. Taft to be lured away after he has partaken of an abstemious apple, and for his companions then to lock themselves in one of the rooms of the car and gorge on the guilty pudding or the conspirant pie.

Reports from the Taft party predict that the president will learn of these deceits and that there "will be an awful row." Nothing seems more probable.

THE CUT-OUT MUFFLER.

It seems that one of the city prosecutors, after studying the ordinance against the cut-out muffler, concluded that it was "too broad" to be enforced. Expressing this opinion in open court to Justice Caverly, that jurist agreed, and discharged four men arrested for disobeying the new law.

The ordinance was therefore not sent on its way to be tested by a review. Mr. Sidney Gorham, secretary of the Automobile club, does not consider the ordinance too vague, and it, therefore, was not amended on Monday by the council committee. But where does this leave the matter of the muffler nuisance? The city prosecutor's office and one magistrate have found the ordinance unenforceable. Is it to be enforced or not? The cut-out muffler is one of the worst and least excusable of local public nuisances. Its use is unnecessary in level streets if the driver is as conservative as he ought to be.

TO MAYOR HARRISON'S improved vision all kinds of vice look alike.

MR. LORIMER'S zealous attorney is having awfully hard work to keep the facts from coming out.

THE OUTRAGEOUS PRICE OF ANTITOXIN.

THE health department says the community should be agitated over the amount of diphtheria in town. The health department is right. Were things as they should be there would be no diphtheria.

For sixteen years we have known what to do for diphtheria. How to diagnose it, how to prevent it, how to cure it. The death rate from it is dropping down, but it is villainous that there is any death rate from it. Several things are conspiring to murder those who have the disease. One of them is the cost of antitoxin.

Antitoxin was discovered by Von Behring of Germany. It was put to practical use by Roux of France. These men gave their discovery to the world.

A number of manufacturers went into the business in this country. They had to buy no patent, pay no royalties. It does not cost much to make antitoxin. Five thousand units can be made for 50 cents, the cost of the syringe is 10 cents—say a total of 60 cents. Some manufacturers make it for less. They sell it to the state for $1 for 5,000 units.

If, however, you are a laboring man getting $2 a day and your child needs 5,000 units, you pay the druggist $7.50. If the diphtheria infection is on the tonsils 3,000 units are all that is usually needed, but if it is in the nose 15,000 units are about the dose—$22.50.

If your child has been sick for three days with the disease 20,000 units are about what is needed—$30.

Mr. Workingman, you cannot afford it—your child must die. If the high price is not murderous, what shall we call it?

The state has come to the rescue. Antitoxin is furnished free at the following stations:

Pagona's pharmacy, 881 West Polk street.
C. A. Biese, 4228 Irving Park boulevard.
T. F. Cannon, 679 North Clark street.

The free antitoxin furnished by the state and the cheap antitoxin furnished by the Memorial institute are just as good as the products sold at an exorbitant price. If you can afford to pay but do not care to be robbed you can get a high grade antitoxin at less than one-third the robber prices. This is made by the Memorial institute, telephone West 862. Telephone it and it will tell you where is the nearest place at which you can get their antitoxin.

The selling prices of Memorial institute antitoxin are: 1,000 units, 88 cents; 3,000 units, $1.85; 5,000 units, $2.

HOW TO FUMIGATE.

J. H. S. writes: "Will you give a simple recipe for fumigating? Would it not be well to fumigate any filthy house recently vacated before reoccupying it?"

REPLY.

To fumigate: Buy one pint of formalin for each 800 cubic feet of air space. Close the large openings, such as doors, windows, ventilators, fireplaces. Sprinkle the floor, walls, and all furniture and bedding with an excess of water. Make things pretty sloppy. Open all closet doors. String clothes lines across the room. Wring sheets in hot water. Put the formalin on the sheets, one pint for each 800 feet of air space. Leave the room unopened for eight hours, then throw open the windows and air the house for several hours. Scrub and clean exceptionally well.

This airing, scrubbing, and cleaning is the most important part of the process, which, taken together, is called fumigating. If the windows, door cracks, and keyholes are stripped you can use less formalin—say one pint to 1,000 feet of air space. The permanganate method is better, but it is more complicated and less safe.

This fumigation does not kill insects or bugs. A little formalin or other antiseptic poured around does no good.

Fumigating of filthy houses where there has been no contagion is excellent, provided we remember that the airing, sunning, scrubbing, and cleaning constitute the more important part of fumigating.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

A. L. writes: "What is the cause of meningitis in a child one year old? A child was nursed by its mother, who was in good health. This child was apparently well until about eight months old. It lived until fifteen months, but did not do well after eight months, always refusing food of all kinds."

REPLY.

This child probably had meningitis or infantile paralysis. These diseases are due to germs. The germs are different from each other, but they spread in the same way and cause diseases that are a good deal alike.

Infantile paralysis is the more probable in the case of a baby eight months old. This disease has been spread rather widely in this country during the last five or six years. There has been a good deal of it in Eau Claire, Wis.; Mason City, Ia., and in certain parts of the east. Fortunately in Chicago there has not been much. It is contagious. The germ gets into the nose. Usually it does not do any harm, but occasionally it gets through the nose and into the nervous system.

The preventive measures to take are: First, to keep away from all children having the disease or having been in contact with those having had the disease; to see that all children that have been in contact with it have their noses carefully looked after and kept very clean.

It is wise to be on your guard against very mild cases just as much as against severe ones.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright, 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

ITALY'S queen has just bestowed the dignity of dame du palais and of lady in waiting upon Signora Marconi, the Hibernian wife of the celebrated Italian inventor of wireless telegraphy, who is himself the son of an Irish mother. The honor has come to Signora Marconi as one of the first rewards conferred in connection with the present war between Italy and Turkey as a recognition of the incalculably valuable services rendered by her husband's inventions and devices to the Italian forces on land and on sea.

It is no exaggeration, indeed, to assert that the wireless telegraphy of Marconi has doubled the fighting strength of Italy in its conflict with Turkey.

Signora Marconi was known prior to her marriage as the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien and is one of the fourteen children of the late Lord Inchiquin, half-sister, therefore, of the present lord, who is prouder, however, of his title of The O'Brien—that is to say, of being the chieftain of all the O'Briens—than of his peerage and of his high seat in the house of lords.

Signor Marconi himself is the son of a leading banker of Bologna who married at Nice Annie, the youngest daughter of Andrew Jamieson of Daphne castle and Fairfield, Enniscorthy, County Wexford. William Marconi, the inventor, is the younger of the two sons of this marriage. He was at one time engaged to Miss Josephine Holman of Indiana, but the engagement was broken off. There was a widely circulated report to the effect that he was about to marry Miss Nina McGillivray. But he finally led to the altar the sister of Lord Inchiquin.

Lord Inchiquin has inherited, along with Dromoland castle, in County Clare near the village of Newmarket, the unique prerogative of making use of the royal liveries of Great Britain for his servants, a privilege which is confined with this exception to the master of the horse to the king, now Lord Granard, during his term of office. The privilege was granted to Murrough O'Brien, first Lord Inchiquin, a brother of that Connor O'Brien who was the last lawful king of Thomond.

Murrough O'Brien usurped the throne of Thomond on his brother's death and then surrendered it to King Henry VIII. The king presented him in return with the barony of Inchiquin and the earldom of Thomond, along with the hereditary use of the royal livery, the patent expressly stating that the prerogative was granted to the Lords Inchiquin as "compensation for their giving up sovereignty over the south of Ireland."

Until that time the portion of the Emerald Isle now known as County Clare and County Cork was known as O'Brien's Country and as Thomond's Country.

The patents signed by Henry VIII. provided that the barony of Inchiquin should pass along with the right to the royal liveries to the first lord's son, but that the earldom of Thomond should go to his nephew, son of the last lawful king of Thomond, and whose succession to the throne had been set aside and usurped by his uncle.

The earldom of Thomond descended in a direct line until the eighteenth century, when the eighth Earl of Thomond died without issue. Since then the earldom has been dormant and it is on the cards that the crown may one of these days call it out of abeyance or otherwise revive it in favor of the present Lord Inchiquin.

The Gladstone administration in the early seventies offered to get this done for the late Lord Inchiquin, but he declined to accept the favor at the hands of any but his own political party, namely, the Conservative, and this when it came into office did not care to make him this concession owing to the vigorous manner in which he criticised its Irish legislation.

The Lords Inchiquin have served their country well, some of them as admirals, some of them as soldiers, and others as statesmen. One of them followed Charles II. into exile and was appointed by Louis XIV. to be a general of the French army and his viceroy of Catalonia, while another Lord Inchiquin was King William III.'s captain general of Jamaica.

The present Lord Inchiquin is a soldier by profession and is nearly related to William Smith O'Brien. The latter, his granduncle, a younger brother of the thirteenth Lord Inchiquin, after being member of parliament for Limerick was convicted of high treason and sentenced to death as the leader of the Irish insurrectionary movement of 1848. He refused to accept the commutation of his sentence from death to penal transportation, so a special act of parliament had to be passed in a hurry to admit of the alteration of the sentence.

After spending a number of years as a convict in Tasmania he was eventually permitted to return to Ireland, where he died, full of years and honors.

Lord Inchiquin, although his estates when he succeeded to them were a source of little or no revenue, burdened as they were with all the charges in favor of his stepmother and his thirteen brothers and sisters, managed to repair his fortunes by marrying the daughter and coheiress of Johnston J. Foster, popularly known as "Plushette" Foster, the inventor and principal manufacturer of plush. By this union he has become possessed of great wealth and of a country seat in England known as Moor park, in Shropshire.

His favorite home, however, is Dromoland castle in County Clare, which is full of interesting relics, among other things a magnificent huge mahogany table saved from the wreck of the flagship of the Spanish armada, which came to grief on the Clare coast. Six large lions of Spanish chestnut support the table. There are also other pieces of furniture and of grand old silver from the Spanish admiral's cabin.

The question will possibly arise as to how the O'Brien estates were preserved from confiscation when the sixth Lord Inchiquin followed Charles II. into exile.

It seems that he surrendered them for safety's sake to his brother, Connor O'Brien, married to Mary Mahon. Notwithstanding this Connor took up arms against Cromwell and was killed in battle. When his body was brought home his widow declared, "We need no dead men here." On the following day she dressed herself in blue and silver and drove in state to Limerick, offering to surrender to Cromwell's general, Ireton. Next day she married Col. Cooper, a Cromwellian soldier, and thus saved the Dromoland and Leamanagh castle estates of the O'Briens from confiscation.

Tradition relates that she a few years later killed Cooper with a kick, and so many are the deeds of violence and of cruelty ascribed to her that her name is preserved throughout County Clare as that of "Moira Rhu," or "Red Mary," and her banshee is said to make its permanent abode in the ruins of Leamanagh castle, to visit the relatively modern Dromoland castle, and to show itself to the household of Lord Inchiquin there whenever any member of his family is about to die or to be overtaken by misfortune.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

A BALLADE OF BOOK MAKING.

The Hebrew censor, in that ancient day.
If holy writ be sooth, did fulminate
Against the unendurable array
Of volumes turned out at a rapid rate.
In vain "The Preacher" then did execrate
The volumed verbiage that was made to vend;
Though from the housetops did he ululate,
"Of making many books there is no end."

"Ecclesiasticus," thou didst inveigh
Against redundancy, at that old date;
One wonders what you really would say
If you were preaching now; we hesitate
To guess how strongly you would objurgate
Against it; for the books that now are penned
Your hearty curse would be inadequate—
"Of making many books there is no end."

What cared they for the Prophet then, I pray,
More manuscripts they would reduplicate
Than they could sell; but then, perhaps, there may
Have been "old-book shops," where they met their fate,
Price-marked "One obolus per volume, straight."
His sermons brought no more, we apprehend.
What wonder then that he should grimly state,
"Of making many books there is no end."

"Preacher," 'twas a prophetic estimate
You made of stuff no sane man can defend;
For end Hararians reiterate,
"Of making many books there is no end."

PERSONAL considerations aside, we are not in favor of cremating books. They make an artistic, genteel, intellectual, and cheap wall decoration, and they last indefinitely.

YESTERDAY'S mail brought a letter from a man in New Mexico (we think it was New Mexico; Evangeline does not give up her dead) who is extremely displeased with this Monument of Melancholy—by and large, up and down, in part and in whole. After excoriating its features, all and several, he concludes by hoping that it will do us as much good to read his letter as it did him to write it.

OF course, it did us no good whatever, and himself was injured by writing it. Whenever a man yields to an impulse to be disagreeable it does him ill, bodily and mental; when he checks such an impulse his circulation is improved and he feels better in his mind. If any one doubts the affirmative side of this proposition let him practice it for a week. The negative is not so apparent.

FOR the repetitive features of this column our contributing readers are wholly responsible. Take the subject of names. We loathe the topic; but subscribers the country over are rubbering out of car windows and scrutinising the names along village streets; and who are we that we should refuse to chronicle (infrequently, and under great pressure, of course) the fact that Dr. Hoax sells spectacles in St. Louis, or that Letzkus Brothers are profane merchants in Toronto, O.

OR take "Signs of the Times." It is to us a great affliction. But travelers all over the earth are tearing down signs and shipping them to us (charges paid), and who are we, again, that we should suppress the fact that on Irving Park boulevard one sees the announcement, "Fresh Picklet Herings and Rollmops," and on Evanston avenue "Wheelwright—French Hats."

THEN there is "Life's Little Irritations." Shall we, merely to gratify New Mexico's insatiate appetite for novelty, deny countless thousands of people the beneficial pleasure of voicing the little thorns of their daily lives? When a man has seen his pet irritation in print it ceases to be an irritation; thereafter it wears for him only a humorous aspect, and his temper and digestion are improved.

WE have a pigeonhole stuffed with novel ideas of our own (such as they are), and whenever we get a chance we slip one in; but who are we, once more, that we should give our notions precedence over those of our readers, who are laboring, without money and without price, for the greater gayety of the nations of earth? Let New Mexico start a column of its own.

WE think a great deal of our readers; so much, that we are taking the liberty of dedicating to them our forthcoming volume of verse. Naturally every reader will want a copy. Now is the time to subscribe.—Adv.

BUILDING COMPLIES WITH LAW.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In view of recent accidents and investigations, why is the building of the Henneberry company, at Twelfth street and Wabash avenue, not equipped with adequate fire escapes? It is an eight story building, in which are employed hundreds of young girls, and there is one fire escape in the front of the building, none in the rear nor on either side. H. W. C.

This building was inspected by this department on Oct. 18 and was found to comply in full with the present ordinances as to stairways and fire escapes, and has, therefore, every means of egress that is required for a building of that class. HENRY ERICSSON, Commissioner of Buildings.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Being a constant reader of your column, I had the opportunity of reading the complaints of E. E. Baldwin and M. A. Fountain against the Harrison telephone exchange. I have occasion to call Harrison 4384 and 7560 daily, and wish to state in defense of the exchange I never experience the least bit of trouble in getting either number. I never get Seeley without losing five to thirty minutes. THOMAS H. KELLEY, 3644 Forest avenue.

Our Seeley exchange equipment is new, our operating forces well trained, and there is no reason why there should be any delay in securing Seeley numbers in so far as the telephone company can control matters. Possibly this subscriber's delay may have been due to his calling a party line station and receiving a busy signal on account of others on the circuit using their telephones. Again, a delay might be due to parties called being out or not answering their telephones promptly.

We have so far been unable to get in touch with the writer of the above, in order to find out what numbers he is in the habit of calling. I have written him and will be glad to find out the reason for any specific trouble and have the lines which subscriber calls carefully gone over and tested out to make sure there is no trouble.

H. N. FOSTER, Traffic Superintendent of Chicago Telephone Co.

WHAT IS GAMBLING?

Mason City, Ill., Oct. 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Can you inform me through your valuable columns what is gambling in the state of Illinois? Would so-called "paddle wheels" erected on the streets of a village, in the principal business section, be considered unlawful, especially when found to be operated with secret wires by the proprietors? Would the fact that the mayor had given his consent make it lawful in the state of Illinois? C. M.

It would take columns to answer your first question. Gambling is defined in sections 126 to 137 inclusive of chapter 38 of the revised statutes of Illinois for 1908. There is no doubt that the facts you mention constitute gambling. The mayor has no power to suspend the laws of Illinois, although he may make their enforcement, for all practical purposes, impossible.

The first section dealing with gambling reads as follows:

"Whoever shall play for money or other valuable thing at any game with cards, dice, checks, or at billiards, or with any other article, instrument, or thing whatsoever, which may be used for the purpose of playing or betting upon, or winning or losing money, or any other thing or article of value, or shall bet on any game others may be playing, shall be fined not exceeding $100 and not less than $10."

THANKSGIVING ON FIFTH THURSDAY.

Du Quoin, Ill., Oct. 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please advise in your column what date Thanksgiving day falls on this year, the 23d or the 30th of November. G. H. KNETZGER.

The president's proclamation will be issued for Nov. 30.

NO ROBEY STREET EXTENSION.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I understand that the Robey street line is to be extended from Fullerton avenue to connect with Rosehill. Is this correct, and when will it be done?

When will the new extension of Western avenue be opened?

E. J. CROSS, 2009 Roscoe boulevard.

There is no present prospect of any line being built on Robey street, connecting the points mentioned in this letter.

The extension on Western avenue will be placed in operation as soon as certain special work is completed, which will probably be within the next two or three weeks.

CHICAGO RAILWAYS COMPANY.

GUILTY MAN FIRED.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On Geddings avenue, between Robey street and Lincoln avenue, most of the gas mantles in the street lamps are burned out and useless, leaving the street in a darkened and dangerous condition for those compelled to use it after nightfall. L. PARE.

The gas inspector informs me that the complaint of poor service was justified and that in consequence the resignation of the gas lamp lighter in that district was demanded and received and a new man placed in charge, and that the service is now good.

WM. CARROLL, City Electrician.

DEBTS AND TAXES.

Galva, Ill., Oct. 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Will you please tell me the law about personal property assessments? If I am in debt $5,000 and pay 5 per cent interest and have $6,000 loaned drawing interest, what do I have to give in to the assessor and be taxed on? X. Y. Z.

Section 26, chapter 120, of the revised statutes of Illinois for 1908 provides in part:

"In making up the amount of credits which any person is required to list he shall be entitled to deduct from the gross amount of credits the amount of all bona fide debts owing by such person to any other person for a consideration received."

POSTAGE STAMP SLOT MACHINES.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In certain drug stores in Englewood I have noticed slot machines in which postage stamps are offered for sale at more than the face value of the stamp. Two 2 cent stamps or four 1 cent stamps may be secured by putting a 5 cent piece in the slot. Upon inquiring for stamps at one of these stores I was directed to place a nickel in the machine of this character upon the counter. Is it not a violation of the United States postal regulations to sell stamps in this way at a profit, and are not the violators open to prosecution? Who should enforce this law? H. G. H., 440 West Sixty-first street.

Postage stamp slot machines have the indorsement of the postal officials.

NEW SIDEWALK FLOODED.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The city compelled me to lay a cement sidewalk on my lot, corner Forty-fourth and Belmont avenues, and there is a ditch around this lot which every time it rains becomes overfilled and, of course, the water washes upon my sidewalk.

I wish to be advised whether the department of city local improvements is not supposed to fix this without charge to me, or am I supposed to fix that also.

M. MISKA, 661 West Twelfth place.

The streets at this point are unpaved and the turnpike roadways are above grade and somewhat higher than the sidewalk, which was laid at grade, which caused the water to cover the walks during unusual flood conditions. However, the ward superintendent has dug ditches or drains to inlets to the catch basins to relieve this condition, and that is all that can be done until such time as the street has been paved.

N. E. MURRAY, Supt. of Sidewalks.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

TO A DEAD AVIATOR.

The following anonymous contribution was sent to THE TRIBUNE from Davenport, Ia., marked "Dedicated to Eugene B. Ely by a schoolmate":

THY LAST FLIGHT.

Thou hast flown hence
Some vision fair to see,
Launched on thy birdlike ship
Into eternity.

Straining our mortal gaze,
Stifling a heartbreak cry,
Seek we once more a speck
'Gainst the bright sunset sky.

Thou comest not again,
Bravest of all brave men.
Into the starlit night
Thou wingest now thy flight
Upward, on thy last quest,
Upward to home and rest.

JAIL FOR RECKLESS AUTOISTS.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—To many of us the first thing of special importance in the morning's daily is Mr. McCutcheon's cartoon. This morning's picture is no exception, and therefore I feel the freer to "speak my little piece." The first divisions shows a prostrate man, mentioned as "killed" later on. Now, does it matter to that individual whether the act of killing was intentional or "unintentional," as implied by the judge of the lower section of this cartoon?

If the sentence were applied to the mere fact of killing, regardless of whether the offender against human "life and limb" waited to see the result of his work, do you not think the effect would be still better and have a stronger tendency to "discourage automobile heartlessness" than to apply the imprisonment sentence only when the offender runs away, and let him off with a fine that really effects nothing, if he remains to "see it through"?

Really, it seems to me that this killing and injuring of pedestrians by automobiles will not be curbed to any great extent, to say nothing of stopped, unless every time an individual is struck by a machine the driver or his employer suffers at least one day's incarceration in a police station or some other state lockup. The disgrace of it is what is needed to take the "laugh" out of the offender and his associates in the auto when some pedestrian, with old fashioned notions of his rights, is struck by a machine.

A TRIBUNE READER.

ELEVATED BY EDITORIAL.

Fairfield, Ia., Oct. 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The editorial in yesterday's TRIBUNE entitled "The White Frost" to me was a refreshing change from those we are asked to read on such subjects as Lorimer, Mexican bull fights, etc., and I hope that your paper will contain more of these mind elevating articles in the future. This delightful editorial, together with the one in an issue of THE TRIBUNE one morning last spring entitled "The Sleeping Beauty Awakes" (which must have come from the same pen), proves that there is yet hope for the journalist who is compelled to fill his mind with thoughts on such sordid subjects as are demanded by a complex modern age.

VERNON L. HAGUE.

PRICES OF SCHOOL BOOKS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Ald. Block wants school books to be sold at cost. If he were posted on the school book business as carried on in the city of Chicago at present he would know that school books are sold almost at cost now, as they are handled on 10 per cent profit at prices fixed by the school board; and, considering the fact that school books are sold only about once a year, the percentage of profit on the stock carried by the average book store will not be over 5 per cent per annum after allowing for losses through books being changed. This certainly is small enough profit, and it would cost the people as much if not more in taxes if the school board handled the books, and the average family would not save to exceed 25 or 50 cents a year.

If Ald. Block is such a friend of the people as he poses to be, why does he not advocate that the city pass a law to sell groceries, meat, medicine, clothes, shoes, and coal to the dear people at cost, considering the high prices we are being charged for these necessaries of life? The above named provisions, etc., are more essential to everybody than are school books.

If we are going to be socialists in the lesser things, why not in the greater?

NILLIS JOHNSON, President of the Retail Booksellers' association.

OBJECTS TO SPARROW "SWATTING."

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We have been "swatting" flies all summer, and all summer we have chased dogs and cats until the poor beasts fly at sight of a human being, and still our killing instincts have not been exhausted. Now we are urged to turn our attention to sparrows—and soon some one else will want some other of God's creatures exterminated.

If these people, who place the child so high that there is no room in our city for animals, would spend some of their time in looking after the hungry and naked children they would not have so much inclination to criticise their neighbors. As it is, those dear little ones are looked after largely by the dog and cat lovers of the world.

"He prayeth best who loveth best
All things both great and small;
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all."

"GET EVEN" MOVE NEAR BOOMERANG

Legislator and Friend Try to Oust Policemen; Rearrest Threatened.

THEIR EFFORTS FUTILE.

Charges Filed Against Patrolmen Dismissed by the Civil Service Board.

Efforts of State Representative George C. Hilton and Charles Joyce to "get even" with three policemen who arrested them on Oct. 8, may result in their rearrest.

Hilton and Joyce were accused by Dr. Daniel H. Cunningham of 3138 Jackson boulevard of running their automobile into his electric runabout ten times within a block. Before Municipal Judge Dicker the case was nonsuited at the request of Abel B. Cretski, assistant city prosecutor.

Then Hilton and Joyce filed charges with the civil service commission against Frank J. Malone, Alfred Johnston, and Richard S. Eatinger, the policemen who arrested them.

Schuettler Will Reopen Case.

After hearing testimony yesterday the civil service commission dismissed the charges. Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler announced then that he would recommend new prosecution of Hilton and Joyce.

Policeman Malone testified that Assistant Prosecutor Cretski urged him to drop the charges against Hilton and Joyce. "He asked me before the hearing," said Malone, "to 'lay down.' He said Hilton and Joyce were friends of his. When only part of the testimony had been heard Cretski interrupted the trial. After the doctor told his story the prosecutor asked to have the case nonsuited."

Threatened to "Get Jobs."

Hilton said he didn't know why Cretski had insisted upon a nonsuit. He testified the automobile in which he was riding only struck Dr. Cunningham's machine once and that he never fought with a policeman. He said he was dragged out of the automobile by the policemen.

The policemen and other witnesses said Hilton and Joyce fought the policemen. Dr. Cunningham declared that while running in Jackson boulevard between Dearborn and Clark streets he had to jump from his runabout, Hilton and Joyce pushing his car along the street with their automobile after he had left it.

Policeman Malone said Joyce declared: "I'll get your job if it takes all the rest of my life." He said Hilton declared: "I'll make a monkey out of you if you arrest me."

LITTLE SON WAITS JOHN HARRIS.

Two Months Old Boy Ready to Greet "Papa" on Latter's Return Home.

THE TRIBUNE has received a letter from Mrs. John Harris, 1920 Ninth street, South Rock Island, Ill., asking that publicity be given to the following:

"Little John Harris Jr., 2 months old, of South Rock Island, is patiently waiting for the return home of his papa, who has been gone from home since Jan. 3, 1911."

Postmaster D. A. Campbell received a letter yesterday from Hugh McFarlane Devine of Toronto, Can., asking help in finding his brother, William Devine, who left Glasgow, Scotland, sixteen years ago.

Bribery Case Dismissed.

James W. Millhouse, a building inspector, charged with accepting a bribe of $30 from L. E. Chipman, an attorney, was discharged by Municipal Judge Walker yesterday. Charles Barrett asked that the case be nonsuited because the position of building inspector is not a created office and Millhouse could not be convicted.

DOWD AGAIN SLUGS NEWSBOY

Ex-Convict Violates Bonds Imposed on Previous Attack.

NEW WARRANT OUT FOR HIM

Victim Badly Injured; Accused a Record Herald Employe.

Henry Dowd, who was arrested on Oct. 4 for an assault upon Otto Smith, a newsboy for THE TRIBUNE, is again in trouble.

Dowd, who is known to the police, having been convicted once for burglary, was brought before Judge Sabath for the assault on Smith and placed under $1,000 peace bonds to insure his future good behavior.

On Tuesday morning last Dowd made a second assault, this time upon a newsboy named Nick Pasaras, who sells morning newspapers at Forty-seventh street and the South Side Elevated railroad.

Pasaras was so badly injured by Dowd that he has since been unable to work and is under the care of a physician. A warrant has now been issued for Dowd for this latest assault.

At the time of the second attack, as well as at the occasion of the previous assault upon Smith, Dowd was an employé of the Record-Herald.

MURDER CHARGED TO ENRIGHT'S KIN

Brother-in-Law Arrested in Lynch Killing as Defense in Altman Case Ends.

WOMAN LAST TO TESTIFY.

Comes from Michigan; Declares Fred Irish Said He Did Not Know Slayer.

While the defense in the trial of Maurice ("Moss") Enright for the killing of Vincent Altman was closing its case yesterday William Dunne, a brother of Enright's wife, was taken to the stockyards station charged with the murder of William Lynch.

Enright's brother-in-law, William Dunne, when arraigned at the Englewood station after his arrest, had his case continued until Nov. 3. William Lynch, with whose murder Dunne is charged, died July 30. His father, George Lynch, told the police his son made a deathbed statement that Dunne shot him at West Thirty-ninth and South La Salle streets.

Defense Ready to Close.

The defense was ready to close its case yesterday, but awaited Judge McSurely's decision as to whether witnesses could be introduced to testify to Altman's dying statement.

A young woman who gave her name as Edith Winkler and her address as Saginaw, Mich., was the last witness introduced yesterday. She testified that she heard Fred Irish, who testified he saw Enright shoot Altman, tell William Kruse he did not know who did the shooting.

"What conversation did you hear about the murder?" State's Attorney Wayman asked.

"Mr. Irish came into Mr. Kruse's room, where I was, and said he had just seen a shooting," Miss Winkler answered. "Mr. Kruse asked him who was shot and he said he didn't know. Mr. Kruse asked him who did the shooting and he said he didn't know except that it was a tall man."

Enright Tries On Overcoat.

More daring even than the introduction of James P. Noonan of Springfield, Ill., as Enright's "double" was the posing by the defense of Enright wearing the overcoat about which so much testimony has been taken in the last week.

The state thought the overcoat, which it contends Enright wore when Altman was shot and which contained a revolver with one empty and four loaded cartridges when it was found in the Briggs house, fitted Enright well. The defense introduced a tailor, A. B. Kuntzman, who said the overcoat did not fit.

THE CONFLICT OF LOVE AND FAT

The average man will "jolly" with the stout girl; but he steals glances over her shoulder at that Miss Slender. He would sooner hold the hands of the latter in a fatuous silence than really enjoy himself with the other. Such is the power of line. Just a line—from chin to toe, or nape to heel—that's all. But it rings the merry marriage bell.

Fat women should not repine—but refine—their own lines by means of that phenomenal—the Marmola Tablet. No exercising or dieting is necessary. Simply take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime, and in a little while the overplus of fat—the coarseness of aspect—will disappear. The figure will become slight enough to permit of a maidenly contour, a pure outline, being fashioned with corset and gown. Then victory—if not revenge.

Although Marmola Tablets often take off uniformly a pound of flabby fat a day, they are quite harmless (being made of a famous fashionable prescription; ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water). Consequently, even timid ones are safe in using them, for no ill—not even a wrinkle or stomach ache—will follow their use; seventy-five cents secures a large case at any druggist's or by mail from the Marmola Co., 1409 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Will you let the world's best letter writer write a letter for YOU?

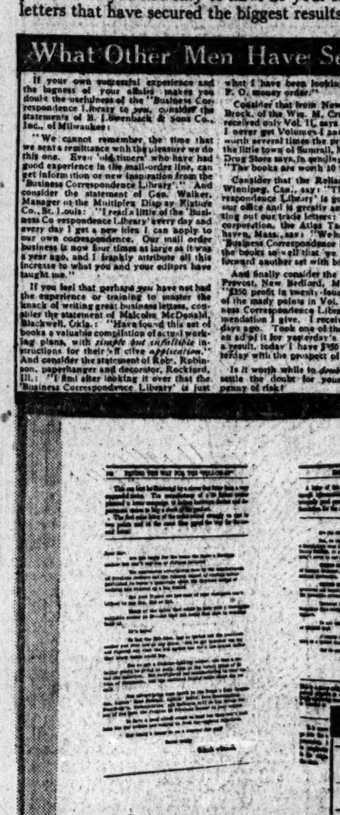

All that stands between you and the ability to put actual $200-a-week skill, genius, tact and ginger, into the letter you want to write—into every letter you may in future write or dictate—into every letter that is mailed with your or your firm's signature—is this:—

If you will merely forego the use—for a single week—of a single dollar from your pocket—not spend it, not even risk it, but simply place it on deposit for a few days with SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business—you will learn how it is now possible for you not only to have at your side, every time you need them, the letters that have secured the biggest results for other men, but to virtually have at your shoulder, whenever you have a letter to write or dictate—the best letter-writers of the world to help you.

For all that these men have learned from experience about making a letter produce results; all that they know about beginning a letter so it receives immediate attention, arranging it so it wedges itself into the reader's approval, and closing it so it gets the results; even the very genius these men have developed for choosing crisp, vivid words that leave a lasting impression—all this has been sifted out of their letters and gathered, grouped and classified for you to apply to any kind of letter you want to write. Letter after letter, paragraph after paragraph, have been reproduced as examples.

And you can try the effect of this remarkable work on your own affairs—prove its value—before you risk a penny on it. You can see for yourself that through the new "Business Correspondence Library," the men who have been most successful in writing letters virtually show you how to open each different letter, how to arrange it and express it most forcibly, and how to close it with a clinch that brings home the order or the check or the word you want. Will you not test what these men can do for you?

What Other Men Have Secured

A Library of the World's Greatest Business Letters

In its 672 pages are packed the success-secrets back of the letters that built up the sales of manufacturers, that closed big real estate deals, that brought streams of trade to retail stores, that made the sales force of a wholesale house break their sales-quota, that turned the tide with an obdurate life insurance prospect, that collected the money from hundreds of accounts considered worthless, that brought safety-deposit customers and savings-depositors to a bank, that won for their writers, interviews or jobs, fame or salary.

Here are not only letters by great mail order men that won orders for their goods, but the clear, easy way to make such letters bring orders for you.

Here are not only wonderful letters by collection experts that brought in the money from their accounts, but the easy way to make them bring in money on your bad accounts.

Here are not only letters by experts in promoting the sales of retail stores that flooded these stores with customers, but the easy way to make them set your tums afire with interest.

Here are letters that will open your eyes to the defects you have unconsciously been slipping into your own letters—that will give you new and clever ideas for making your letters stand out from the commonplace, yet carry quiet force and dignity.

Here the skill, ability and genius of the great masters of Business Language in Letters is so directed for you to your own needs, that it puts in your hand the way to develop for yourself a power of expression that will make your letters win.

$1 Brings the Books

Will you spare the use of a dollar for a single week to find out?

Will you not spare from your pocket one single dollar—that will positively return to your pocket as quick as the mails can carry it, if you are not more than repaid by your first experiences with the "Business Correspondence Library"—will you deposit with SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business, this one dollar, to find out for yourself what the "Business Correspondence Library" means to you?

For we cannot tell—and you cannot think—what you can get from these 3 volumes. Only the use of the books can show you that. J. B. Davis, sales agent, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I located within two minutes after I opened the first volume, two or three paragraphs that gave me ideas that I can use in my business, and worth several times the whole price." While another Davis—J. H. Davis, real estate man in the little town of Womble, Ark., says: "I have found one letter that is so concise and to the point that it alone will be worth the price of the three books."

Thus one man gets ideas—ideas that may go on earning money for him for the balance of his life—while another man finds exactly what he can use already written for him. In the little western town and in the big city, this work is equally helpful.

Sam. W. Hoke, President of the Hoke Sign Co., and knows among all advertising men as a writer and dictator of masterly business letters, says: "I want to tell you I have read less than half through Volume I of the 'Business Correspondence Library' and am positive it has had an improving influence already on my work in follow-up and business correspondence. It is with pleasure I enclose check in payment." And F. L. Arnold, Manager of the National Fur and Tanning Co., says: "Enclosed find check for balance on the 'Business Correspondence Library.' It is just what the writer has been looking for."

Not only do such men, with vast interests dependent on their firms' correspondence, find use for the "Business Correspondence Library", but C. V. Smith, in a General Store at South Branch, W. Va., says: "I find it brimful not only of ideas that are interesting, but schemes that are valuable to me;" and J. E. Heisenbuttel, of the Peerless Towel Supply Co., New York City, says: "I take pleasure in enclosing my check, since the 'Business Correspondence Library' has been of great aid to me."

To any man in business this wonderful set of books will be of help.

How to secure this help

Make no expenditure of money until you have actually seen the profit you will realize. Merely draw a dollar from the petit expense account or from your change pocket, to remain in SYSTEM'S hands while you look the books over.

If you are not satisfied, merely put the books back in the special carton—no troublesome wrapping is required—write SYSTEM'S address on the label, put your own name and address in the corner, and hand to the expressman within 5 days of their receipt by you. Your dollar will be returned to you at once.

But if you find—as you surely will—so much of immediate usefulness to you as to make the whole cost a mere trifle—(M. D. Prevost, New Bedford, Mass., made $350 in 24 hours by using one of the ideas in Vol. II as a newspaper ad.)—then merely send $2 each month for the next four months—making $9 in all. And not only will you have paid for the "Business Correspondence Library" complete, but you will have secured a full two years' subscription to SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business,—24 numbers, each one packed with profitable ideas, schemes and business plans.

3 Volumes—672 Pages

Beautifully bound in Maroon T-Pattern Vellum, with Blind Stamping, titles in gold. Printed on fine book paper, in large, clear type. 353 actual letters reproduced entire—whole collection follow-ups, sales campaigns, complaint answers, inquiry follow-ups, application letters—and hundreds of snappy, pointed paragraphs for beginning and closing letters for all purposes and for all businesses.

I enclose $1. Send me the 3-volume "Business Correspondence Library" and enter my name for a 2 years' subscription to SYSTEM, the Magazine of Business. I promise to send $2 a month for the four following months—making $9 in all. But—if I should not see my money's worth in the first glance through the books and the magazine, I have the privilege of putting them back in the special carton, and returning to you within 5 days of their receipt. And this it is agreed, shall release me from my promise, cancel my order, and you are then to refund my dollar by return mail.

SIXTH GAME.

Today at Shibe park, Philadelphia.
Probable pitchers—Plank and Wiltse.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Right at the ultimate instant today with two men out in the last half of the ninth inning, with the Athletics two runs ahead and only one more demise needed to terminate the world's series of 1911, the Giants rallied gamely, tied the score before they could be retired in that round, and won out with a man to spare in the tenth. Score, 4 to 3.

Otis Crandall, "Old Dr. Crandall" as he has come to be known, was the Horatius at the bridge. This pitcher, who never was figured to be in the series at all, was the man at bat when the issue hung trembling in the balance in that ninth inning, and he was the man who staved off a defeat that meant oblivion by smashing out a two base hit in the awful pinch, erasing a victory for which Jack Coombs was making heroic efforts.

Larry Doyle was the real hero among the victors, for it was his fourth straight hit that enabled the Giants to score the winning run in the tenth, and Doyle never worked harder in his life, because if defeat had been the lot of the Giants today it would have been largely Doyle's fault.

Defeat Dims Oldring's Star.

This upset at the finish robbed Rube Oldring of an everlasting niche in Philadelphia's hall of fame, for Rube was the man who put the world's pennant so nearly in possession of the Athletics with a terrific home run in the third inning with two men out and two runners on bases. That bread winning four base hit ought to have been good for the game and would have been if C. McGillicuddy, manager, had not allowed his big heart to overpower his better judgment.

Mack let Coombs stay on the slab after the big Maine pitcher had strained a tendon in his leg and had lamed himself so seriously that his efforts were pitiable as well as ineffective. Several times Mack sent lieutenants out to ask Coombs to let Eddie Plank finish the game, but Jack was obdurate and begged hard to be allowed to add the game to his credit. So Connie let the cripple stay in until it was too late.

Ames Replaces $11,000 Southpaw.

Marquard was elected to start the game and it was off the $11,000 left hander that Oldring made his sublime home run. As soon as that round was finished Manager McGraw blanketed the southpaw and trotted out Leon Ames, who held the Athletics at a standstill for four innings. Leon probably would have finished on the slab, but it came his turn to bat in the seventh inning in a bad pinch with a base hit badly needed, so Crandall was sent to bat for him. That time Crandall drew a pass and had no chance to gain glory. He might still be a second rater in the New York limelight if Coombs had passed Otis again in the ninth inning, but you never can tell.

Up to the seventh inning Coombs pitched a whale of a game. He had everything plus ten, and had the Giants completely at his mercy. In five innings he struck out eight men, and there was hardly a soul in the big crowd that did not think the world's series was over with that margin of three runs in favor of Coombs. In the seventh the Athletic slabman began to waver and issued a pair of passes, one of which proved fatal with the help of a fumble by Barry. That combination paved the way to a hitless tally for the Giants and enabled them to escape defeat eventually.

Josh Devore in Limelight.

Josh Devore was a secondary hero of the day, for Josh's bat produced the hit that actually tied the score and the same Josh pulled off a circus catch on the first ball hit in the game, which helped keep Marquard on his feet as long as he lasted. The southpaw might have gone the whole route, however, if a muff by Doyle had not set the stage for Oldring's home run. The side ought to have been out before Rube came to bat in that inning, and even if he had made his home run later it would have counted for only one tally instead of three.

Several of the hits made on both sides were scratches due to the poor condition of the grounds. With one more day to dry out the Polo grounds field was in much worse condition than that of Shibe park yesterday. On account of the fact that the outfield here is almost at sea level at high tide it dries out more slowly than the Athletic field does.

For two innings they fought on even terms without advantage. In that time each team made one hit. Rube struck out two opponents and Coombs fanned three in the second inning, and the pitching seemed almost superhuman. The first break came in the Athletics' third. Lapp singled with one out and should have been forced at second base on Coombs' sharp rap to Herzog. But Doyle squarely muffed a good throw in his haste to make a double play and both men were safe. Lord lifted a pop fly to Doyle and Oldring came up destined to be a world hero for nearly two hours.

Oldring Hits Home Run.

Oldring caught one of Marquard's fast ones squarely and pupiled it with the speed of a bullet into the left field bleachers. The ball went almost to the top row of seats on a line, and the thousands of Philadelphia rooters in the crowd went crazy as Reuben trotted around the bags, pushing two runners ahead of him. Marquard passed Collins, who stole second, but Baker could not connect for a second home run and went out.

Ames was substituted in the fourth and choked off all chance to make more runs. Two hits were made off Leon in four innings and neither of them was dangerous. But all of Ames' good pitching seemed wasted in the face of the way Coombs held the Giants at bay's length. These were moments of doubt when Meyers cracked open the third with a safe hit and again when Doyle led off in the fourth with a double over first. But Meyers was doubled up trying to steal on a third strike and Doyle's double was wasted, for Coombs struck out Snodgrass and Murray, hit Merkle, and then disposed of Herzog on a pop foul.

First Score for Giants.

Everything was airtight until the seventh. Then Giant partisans had their turn. Coombs gave his first base on balls to Merkle. Herzog slashed a hot one to Barry, who fumbled an instant, then made a quick toss which eluded Collins at second. The two runners were safe with nobody out. Fletcher forced Herzog at second, putting Merkle on third, and he scored on Meyers' long fly to Murphy. Here Crandall came to bat for Ames and was passed, but Davis knocked down Devore's rap and ended the wabbly inning. Crandall took the slab job and held the visitors until the end, only two hits being made off him.

In the eighth Doyle cut loose his third safe hit. Pitching the second ball to Snodgrass, Coombs' foot caught on the slab and wrenched a tendon in his right leg. After a brief interval for repairs Coombs resumed pitching and got through the eighth successfully, but at the expense of a severe limp which grew steadily worse. Harry Davis saved the game in that round by a brilliant catch of a wild throw by Baker.

Crandall's Clout Ties Count.

Going into the ninth two runs to the good, Coombs insisted on finishing. Barry threw out Herzog and thousands started to leave the stands. Fletcher deposited a wee Texas league fly back of third base just inside the line and just out of reach. He made two bases on it, but the dangerous Meyers was disposed of on a grounder to Barry and up came Crandall with the odds 11,000,000 to 1 against there being any sixth game in the world's series. Crandall smashed a long fly to right center, too far out for either Murphy or Oldring to get under it, and Fletcher scored, while Crandall reached second. In that situation Connie Mack surely ought to heve substituted Plank for the crippled Coombs, with left handed Devore coming to bat and the tying run on second base. But Mack took a chance and Devore earned a life job in New York by sailing a single over Barry's head, scoring Crandall. Josh was caught stealing second. The crowd was thrice crazy.

With one out, Coombs singled in the tenth and was prevailed upon to let Strunk run for him, but Lord and Oldring were Crandall's victims. Plank went in to pitch.

Victory for Giants.

Doyle opened the tenth with a double into left. Snodgrass bunted to Plank, who tried to throw out Doyle at third, but Larry beat the ball and was safe by an eyelash. Murray popped a fly to Murphy back of first and Doyle staid on third. Merkle then hit a long fly almost to the grand stand and close to the foul line. Murphy caught it and made a frantic effort to throw home ahead of Doyle, but the distance was too great. The game that apparently was safely won was lost and the game that looked hopelessly lost was won.

Many who were in position to see declared Merkle's fly would have fallen foul if Murphy had let it alone and blamed him for a bonehead play. Opinions differed and there was no real blame attached to Murphy's catch. It was so close to the foul line only the umpire out there could have decided and there was no foul line by which he could judge where fair territory ended. The soft ground constantly tramped on out there, had allowed the chalk line to be obliterated for a space of fifty feet from the stand.

J. T. BRUSH IN CHICAGO GETS GLAD TIDINGS FROM GOTHAM.

Owner of Giants Comes West Too Ill to Stand Strain of Excitement—Manager Chance and Wife Leave.

BY SAM WELLER.

While the New York Giants were beating the Athletics in the world's championship battle at New York yesterday afternoon the owner of the Giants, John T. Brush, lay in a room at the Congress hotel getting the news by innings, for he was too ill to leave the room. Mr. Brush, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Chicago in the morning. Mr. Brush has been an invalid for many years and came here for treatment from a local physician who has done much for him in the past.

The extra strain of the world's series was too much for the New York club owner and he broke down last week. He felt so badly that he decided to get away from the scene of the battles and come here for rest and treatment. The news of the Giants' victory cheered him greatly, but he received no callers, nor was he able to answer the telephone himself. Mrs. Brush announced he would stay here several days, after which he expected to return to New York.

Manager Frank Chance of the Cubs left last night with Mrs. Chance for California, where they will winter on their ranch. Chance announced before leaving he hoped to be active in baseball again next spring, believing that he will be able to take his old position of first base on the Cubs team. Mordecai Brown and wife left yesterday morning for Rosedale, Ind., for a short visit with relatives, after which they will go to California for the winter.

SERIES SYDELIGHTS.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Next game tomorrow in Philadelphia.

Snodgrass and Becker were cheered impartially when they first came to bat.

A brass band enlivened the day and may have been Coombs' jinx.

The choice of pitchers will not be made by either manager until tomorrow. It looks like Marquard and Plank again.

President Brush of the Giants was missing from the corner of the field where his auto has become a familiar sight. He went to Chicago for medical treatment.

Devore made a regular Jim Shekkard catch which robbed Lord of a line smash in the first inning. Devore caught the ball off the grass and finished on one ear.

There were many empty seats in the upper deck of the stand, two whole sections being practically vacant and showing plainly where the scalpers had been caught with unsold goods on their hands. These empty seats counted in the receipts, however.

COOMBS LOSES BY FAILURE TO CURVE

After Holding the Giants Helpless "Iron Man" Uses Straight Balls.

MACKS TOO CONFIDENT.

"Ty" Cobb Says Athletics Let Up When They Secured Three Run Lead in the Third.

BY TY COBB.

[Copyright: 1911: For The Tribune.]

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Victory for the Athletics has been deferred. The New York Giants by a 4-3 triumph after ten innings of spectacular baseball delayed the almost certain capture of the world's championship of 1911 by the American league team.

That wonderful rally of the Giants in the ninth inning, when they turned apparent hopeless defeat into a tie and then in the tenth made triumph sure when Doyle crossed the plate, will make baseball history. For five innings Jack Coombs pitched wonderful ball. He held the Giants absolutely helpless, retiring eight men on strikes—more than half the number who faced him.

In the sixth and seventh innings the "iron man" seemed to waver. He apparently forgot that he had a curve ball and everyone he shot over was a fast one. In the eighth he also was weakening, and in the ninth the New Yorkers broke loose, smashing out hits which tied the score and made possible the victory in the tenth.

Giants Show Determination.

The Giants showed in this game a flash of determination and that determination won for them. It showed bulldog quality and the ability to fight hard in the face of a heart breaking handicap.

Manager McGraw made several changes of pitchers and in each his selection was extremely good. Ames, who succeeded Marquard, was brilliant. Crandall was confident and his long hit in the ninth started the Giants on the road to success and was in a way responsible for the defeat of the Athletics.

I have one criticism to make on the Athletics' play. They seemed to be overconfident, satisfied with their score of three runs. They appeared to take it for granted that Coombs would hold the Giants down, but after New York had tied it up and was buoyed up by that determination to win, it was "all off" with the Mackmen. The American leaguers had their chance after scoring the three runs in the third and they seemed not to care about adding any tallies to the total.

Athletics Too Confident.

While I don't wish to detract anything from the glory which belongs to Ames, who stepped into the breach after "Rube" Marquard had been driven to the bench, and pitched good ball, I will say that the Athletics relied too much on Coombs' effectiveness and the three run lead, and took it for granted that the game was won. The American leaguers should have gone ahead and tried to pile up more runs so as to have cinched the game which would have made them world's champions for the second time in succession.

Now I want to add a word for the Giants. They deserve all the credit which can possibly be given them. They had all the "tough breaks," but kept right on the job, hustling every minute, and seemed to have more ginger and determination than has been apparent in the last three games.

The feature was the pitching of Ames and Crandall, the wonderful batting of Doyle, who made four hits for a total of six bases, and a timely home run by Oldring. "Rube" will be denied the glory which rightfully belongs to him, because the Athletics loafed in trying to score runs afterward.

Praises Work of Davis.

Only one man worked the pitchers in the way he should for the Athletics. That was Harry Davis, the veteran first sacker and one of the heroes of this series. Davis' fielding has been wonderful and absolutely perfect, and his batting the one connecting link in the Athletics' chain of successes.

The work of the catchers was just the opposite to what it had been in the four games played previously. Both backstops, Lapp and Meyers, seemed unable to peg true to the second bag. It must be said, however, that the pitched balls were extremely hard to handle on several occasions. The Athletics' runs were made after the side should have been retired. The majority of the tallies credited to the Giants were earned.

Marquard, the famed left handed pitcher, fell down in his desire to win for the New Yorkers as he was taken out in the third inning to let some one hit for him. I must say, in discussing his work, that he has a fast ball which looks good, but his curve ball is of no use to him. "Rube" was pretty wild and the majority of the Athletics continually had him "in the hole."

Good Hurling by Ames.

Ames' twirling was truly great, but the Athletics did not make him go his limit. It might have been much different had he started a game where he had everything to lose. In this game his impression must have been that the Giants were already practically licked and he had nothing to lose. Under these conditions I believe a pitcher often does better work. This is not said to take any credit away from Ames, but to show that under different conditions he might not have been so effective.

I still think the Giants' chances are extremely slim. The American leaguers have Plank, an effective pitcher, well rested for tomorrow's game, while the New Yorkers certainly will have to send in Marquard, Wiltse, or Crandall. They have no pitcher that they can really depend on.

Believes Macks Will Win.

I still believe the world's series is practically won by the Athletics, despite the reverse today. The American leaguers must win only one more game to clinch it, while the National leaguers have to get two. Of course, nothing is impossible, and a victory for the Giants tomorrow would give each team three games and make the deciding conflict necessary. With Plank in good shape tomorrow and pitching on his home grounds with the support of the loyal Philadelphians, I think the Athletics will get revenge and be the world's champions.

HAMMOND FIGHT CALLED OFF.

Hostility of Police Results in Giving Up Plan to Hold Schlossberg-O'Neil Bout.

The fight between Phil Schlossberg and Tim O'Neil, scheduled for a Hammond ring on Nov. 2, was called off yesterday when the promoters and managers of the fighters met. Chief of Police Lufken of the Indiana town put an end to the affair by announcing that he would swear in deputies and make wholesale arrests if an attempt was made to pull off the contest.

The managers of the boxers said that they would hold the bout open for bids from other places and that the men would continue in training for at least ten day.

Johnny Coulon, Chicago's crack bantamweight, will start his public campaign next Sunday, when he opens a week's engagement at a Milwaukee avenue theater. At the conclusion Coulon will be ready for matches.

Williams Fouls Wagner.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—Billy Wagner of Chicago was given the decision on a foul over Earl Williams of Cleveland in the ninth round of their ten round bout tonight.

Matt Brock of Cleveland won the decision over Johnny Moran of New York in a ten round bout.

Donahue Outpoints Hyland.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Harry Donahue of Pekin outfought "Fighting Joe" Hyland of New York in a ten round no decision bout here tonight. Soldier McGinley outclassed Harry Baker of Springfield in the semi-windup, and "Young" Atwood outboxed "Kid" Murphy in the preliminary.

To Start Highlander Plant.

New York, Oct. 25.—Work on the new park of the New York American league baseball club will begin here next week and will be rushed to completion so that the Highlanders can open at the new plant next spring. The main stands will be double decked, with a seating capacity of 22,000 persons. More stands along the left field will provide 11,000 seats.

PLATE MISSED BY DOYLE IN TENTH

Umpire Klem Says Larry Did Not Touch Home Base with the Winning Run.

MACK MAKES NO APPEAL.

Athletics Fail to See Mistake When Giant Star Slides In or Game Might Be Tie.

New York, Oct. 25.—The run credited to Capt. Larry Doyle in the tenth inning of today's game, which gave the New York Giants their second victory, was not legally scored, according to a statement made after the game by Umpire William J. Klem of the National league, who was officiating behind the plate. Doyle did not touch the plate, according to Klem, and if the Athletics had made an appeal the umpire said he would have declared Doyle out and the inning would have ended with the score tied. As it was getting dark, the game could not have gone much farther.

Umpire Klem's declaration that Doyle did not touch the plate was corroborated by the official scorers appointed by the national commission. Manager McGraw of the New Yorks admitted after the game, according to Mr. Klem, that Doyle missed the plate.

Too Late for a Protest.

Despite the fact that the umpire in chief and the official scorers say Doyle did not touch the plate to make the run legal, no protests can be lodged with the commission as to the result of the game because the Philadelphia club made no appeal on the play.

There was a question raised among the scorers as to whether the ball caught by Right Fielder Murphy off Merkle's bat in the tenth inning was caught on fair or foul ground. Klem said the ball was caught by Murphy in fair territory, that he made his decision that way, and that he was corroborated by Umpire Brennan, who was on the right field foul line near Murphy.

"Doyle never touched the plate," Klem then volunteered, "but as the Athletics made no appeal the game goes as a victory for New York.

Klem Waits for an Appeal.

"When Murphy caught the ball in right field," continued Klem, "I set myself to see the plate on Murphy's throw. Doyle came in like a streak and made a long, wide slide into the plate. He went across with one leg back of the plate and the other over it about eight inches or a foot. He never got any nearer than that. I saw it plainly and waited. Usually I run to the dressing room when a game is over, but this time I stood at the plate for several seconds, waiting to see if the Athletic players would appeal.

"Lapp evidently did not see that Doyle missed the plate, as he was busy taking Murphy's throw, and probably took it for granted that Doyle had really touched the plate. None of the Athletics made the appeal, and, as I was about to move away, McGraw, in passing from the third base coacher's box to the players' bench, said to me:

"'Did you see it, Bill?'

"'I certainly did,' I said.

Might Have Caused Riot.

"'What would you have done about it if they had appealed?' McGraw asked, and I replied that if the claim had been made that Doyle did not touch the plate I would have given my decision as I saw it, but you see what a mess I would have gotten myself into.

"'Well, I would have protested you,' McGraw replied as he walked away.

"I would have declared Doyle out if the appeal had been made, but none was made."

When Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National league, was told of the incident tonight he said that so long as there was no appeal made the game will stand as a victory for New York.

Doyle Says He Touched Plate.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—"Sure, I touched the plate when I slid home," said Larry Doyle, captain of the New York Giants tonight upon the arrival of the team at the Majestic hotel.

"Why, I wiped that plate cleaner than a hungry kitten would have lapped up a bowl of milk. When I hit the dirt I slid a mile, and I would have done anything short of suicide to have scored."

ATHLETICS SERENE IN DEFEAT.

Team Returns to Philadelphia Confident of Taking Game from New York Today.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—The Athletic players reached here tonight and did not appear downcast over today's defeat. They fully expect to win the sixth game of the series tomorrow. It is probable that Plank, who was sent to the relief of Coombs in the tenth inning, will take up the burden for the Mackmen tomorrow.

TU ORS OVERLOOK PLAYS ON PUNTING

Kicking from Regular Formation After Touchback Is Ground Gainer.

STAGG SEES ADVANTAGE.

Possibilities of Booting Seen When Maroons Score Touchdowns on Illinois.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

While a rule has been enacted which allows the team upon which a touchback has been scored to put the ball in play on the twenty-five yard line either by kick or scrimmage, few coaches are taking advantage of the ruling.

In the great majority of cases the captain elects to punt from the regular kickoff formation. The defensive team lines up in receiving formation and players of the kicking side can be checked as soon as the ball has gone ten yards. In this manner the man who catches the oval has many opportunities of bringing it back at least half the distance of the kick and sometimes a great deal farther.

As the center of the defensive eleven may stand upon the twenty-five yard line, the kicker must boot the ball from some point at least five yards back of the restraining line. Consequently he generally boots the oval from the eighteen or twenty yard mark. The only advantage which a team has which kicks from such formations is that the players are onside and have the right to recover the ball at any time except when it is kicked out of bounds before being touched by a player of either side.

Should Use Punt Formation.

In order to take all advantage possible, a team, if the captain elects to punt, should follow the regular punt formation. Then players of the kicker's side cannot be interfered with until the ball has gone twenty yards. Under such conditions they have a greater advantage than if they went down under a punt from the kick-off formation. A booter kicking from the regular kicking formation practically sends the oval away on its flight from the same spot as does the team which kicks without assuming the scrimmage punt formation. He is afforded better protection, has vital spots in the field to kick to, and it gives his team a better chance of recovering the ball safe from preventing the receiving backs from running the ball back any considerable distance.

To the average follower of football the importance of this ruling does not have much weight, but if the alteration is given thorough attention and consideration the benefits of kicking from a scrimmage punt formation soon will be realised. Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago has taken advantage of the ruling and has obtained the desired results in every contest.

A team which constantly is being pressed and is having touchbacks scored on it frequently should take advantage of this ruling, especially when the opposing eleven has the advantage of a strong wind. A booter when kicking in the teeth of a wind should always try to kick the ball out of bounds as far down the field as possible, and his attempts always should be of the low drive variety.

Kicker's Judgment Factor.

In the games played this year, especially in the western conference colleges, the keen judgment of the kickers in placing their attempts and getting their kicks away in faultless fashion has been one of the most important factors in deciding contests. Under the present rules an eleven cannot hope for success unless kickers are developed who can be depended upon absolutely to get their kicks away, even in the face of adverse conditions, and who can drive the ball to deserted parts of the gridiron.

Those who saw the Chicago-Illinois game on Marshall field on Saturday will remember the gift of a touchdown which Merriam, the Orange and Blue kicker, gave Chicago when trying to punt the ball from behind his own goal line. Merriam never thought to ascertain whether his defense was set properly to give him the desired protection. He simply stepped back, signaled for the ball before his forwards had a chance to get set or his defensive backs had opportunities to adjust themselves to check Chicago's rushing smashers. As a result his kick was blocked and a Maroon fell on the oval for a touchdown.

Today, the Illinois half back who last year was considered invaluable to his team, also made the same mistake when one of his kicks was blocked in similar fashion and Sauer gathered in the oval and ran for a score. A successful punter or field goal kicker always will take time to adjusts his defense to frustrate the blocking attempts of opponents.

INJURY HURTS LANE'S CHANCES.

Delaney Out of Hyde Park Game with Wrenched Ankle—Apelt Other Man Lost to Team.

Lane High school, contender for the Cook County High School Major league football title, met with an unwelcome mishap in two days when Delaney, star right tackle, wrenched his left ankle so severely in scrimmage against the "scrubs" that he will be unable to participate against Hyde Park. "Dutch" Apelt, the right end, suffered the first accident on Tuesday when he hurt his right knee. It is doubtful whether he will be able to play in the contest against the south siders.

The loss of two regulars has caused Coach Paine much worry, and as a result of the accidents he has ordered his team to slow up in the scrimmages. One more hard drill is scheduled for this afternoon at the north shore playgrounds, while only light work is carded for tomorrow.

Coach Herschberger is working hard with his Lake Forest academy team, in preparation for the game with West Aurora High school on Saturday. The second team will meet the Medill High school team at Lake Forest.

VARSITY BEATS FRESHMEN, 10-0

Yearlings Put Up Strong Defense, Holding Stagg's Regulars to Two Touchdowns.

Yesterday's practice at the Maroon camp was quiet in another scrimmage with the freshmen. The varsity team was hard pressed throughout the session, the plays of the yearlings being those used by the Gophers in most of their games this year. At one time Bennett of the first year squad ran away from the varsity, and would have reached goal had not Payne reached him at the five yard line. The Maroons were only able to make two touchdowns, Payne making one and Davenport the other. The varsity players were R. E. Mohlander, L. T. Carpenter, R. G. Harris, C. Whiting, L. G. Sellers, L. T. Dottard, L. E. Walker, Q. Payne, L. H. Fonger, Davenport, F. Pierce, and Fitzpatrick.

There is not much hope that Kasoulker will be able to do much more this year, as his condition seems to become worse right along.

EVANSTON SEATS LOW PRICED.

Coach Hammett Says Statement Tickets for Conference Games Are High Is Incorrect.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Sporting Editor of The Tribune.]—The impression seems to be prevalent that there are no moderate priced seats at the conference football games, articles to this effect having appeared in three Chicago papers during the last week. Coach Hammett wishes to say this impression is incorrect. For instance, at the game this Saturday between Wisconsin and Northwestern there are at least 2,000 seats at $1 and room for over 2,000 standing at 50 cents. Won't you see that "The Tribune" corrects this misunderstanding and further the interests of football in this city?

FIFTH BATTLE IN WORLD'S SERIES TOLD IN DETAIL.

Larry Doyle

First Inning.

ATHLETICS—Marquard used great speed, but was inclined to be unsteady, and Lord had three balls and two strikes on him when he drove a short liner to left, on which Devore made a wonderful shoestring catch. The great crowd cheered the catch. Oldring was out on a grounder to Doyle, who made a pretty play on the ball to Merkle. Oldring broke his bat in smashing the ball. Marquard seemed slightly nervous and Meyers went down and patted him on the back. Collins was out on a fly to Snodgrass.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—Devore hit the first ball pitched to Barry, who got his man handily at first. Doyle hit a weak foul, which Baker captured. Snodgrass was given a big cheer when he stepped to the plate. Snodgrass went out by the Baker-Davis route. Davis made a nice pickup of Baker's throw.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning.

ATHLETICS—Baker got a big hand when he came to the plate. There was another cheer when Marquard fanned Baker. Marquard's speed was terrific. Murphy singled sharply to left. Marquard almost pinched Murphy off first on a snap throw. The crowd jeered Umpire Dineen when he called Murphy safe. Davis waited Marquard out and then fanned. Murphy tried to steal second, but was out, Meyers to Doyle.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Murray struck out. Merkle was another strikeout, the third strike completely fooling the Giant player. Herzog bunted between Barry and Baker after Coombs had two strikes on him. Herzog stole second, the second base stolen by the Giants in the series. Fletcher fanned and Coombs was cheered.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning.

ATHLETICS—Barry was out on a grounder to Herzog. Lapp singled over second, hitting a ball that was far over his head. Meyers had Lapp caught off first on a beautiful throw, but Merkle dropped the ball. Coombs hit a grounder to Herzog, who threw to Doyle, but the Giant second baseman dropped the ball in his eagerness to make a double play. Lord sent up a high one to Doyle. Lapp, Coombs, and Oldring scored on Oldring's home run drive into the left field stand. The crowd went wild and the Athletics shook Oldring's hand as he came to the bench. Oldring's smash unsteadied Marquard and Collins strolled to first on four wide ones. Collins stole second. McGraw sent Ames out to warm up. Baker was out on a grounder to Merkle unassisted.

Three runs, two hits, one error.

GIANTS—Meyers rapped a single which bounded off Baker's legs. Becker was sent to bat in place of Marquard. Becker shot a liner to Barry, who tried to double Meyers off first, but Davis dropped the ball. Devore struck out and Meyers was out attempting to steal, Lapp to Collins.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

ATHLETICS—The crowd howled when Ames, who took Marquard's place, curved the first ball over for a strike. Murphy sent up a high foul which landed in Meyers' mitt. Davis was out when Merkle took his grounder and ran to first. Ames was using a big drop and a wide out curve. Barry was out, Fletcher to Merkle.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—Doyle hit a long fly into the right field seats and the crowd groaned when it went foul. Doyle slashed a double down the right field foul line. The crowd tried to rattle Coombs, but it seemed to have little effect, for he fanned Snodgrass. Murray fanned for the second time. Merkle was hit by a pitched ball, a fast in shoot, and took first. Herzog ended the Giants' hope, sending a high foul to Lapp.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

ATHLETICS—Lapp went out, Doyle to Merkle. The stands gave Coombs a big cheer when he came to bat and he responded by singling to left. Lord forced Coombs at second on a grounder to Doyle, who threw to Fletcher. Oldring was out, Fletcher to Merkle.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Fletcher sent a high fly to Lord. Meyers struck at a ball which hit him in the leg. Then he drove a long foul into the left field seats. He finally fanned on a high one which was a foot over his head. Ames was Coombs' eighth strikeout victim.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

ATHLETICS—Collins fouled out to Merkle on an attempted bunt. The outfielders moved back when Baker came to the bat. Baker was out, Doyle to Merkle, on a close play. Murphy struck out on Ames' drop curve.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

GIANTS—Devore was out when Collins scooped his grounder and shot it to first. Doyle sent a single to right just out of Collins' reach. Snodgrass put up a high one which Murphy took. Doyle stole second. Murray flied to Lord.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

ATHLETICS—Davis was out on a bounder to Fletcher, who made a pretty play on the ball and had the runner at first by several feet. Barry got a Texas leaguer to right. Barry stole second, making a beautiful slide. Lapp fanned. Coombs popped to Fletcher.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Coombs was wild and Merkle walked. Herzog shot a grounder to Barry, who fumbled the ball. Both Herzog and Merkle were safe. Fletcher shot a grounder to Davis, who threw to Collins, forcing out Herzog. Merkle scored on a sacrifice fly by Meyers to Murphy. On Murphy's throw to the plate Fletcher went to second. Crandall was sent to bat for Ames. Coombs was unsteady and Crandall walked. Devore was out on a grounder, Davis to Coombs.

One run, no hits, one error.

Eighth Inning.

ATHLETICS—Crandall started pitching for the Giants. Lord flied to Snodgrass. Oldring singled through short. Collins flied out to Devore. On a wild pitch Oldring took second. Baker fouled out to Herzog.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Doyle singled to right. Coombs appeared to have sprung a charley horse in his leg and time was called while Davis rubbed the limb. After a minute play was resumed. Coombs threw out Snodgrass, Doyle taking second. Murray fanned. Merkle grounded out, Baker to Davis.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning.

ATHLETICS—Murphy hit to short and Fletcher fumbled long enough for the runner to be safe. Davis forced Murphy on a bunt to Crandall, who threw to Fletcher. Barry forced Davis, Herzog to Doyle. Barry was out stealing, Meyers to Fletcher.

No runs, no hits, one error.

GIANTS—Herzog was out, Barry to Davis. Fletcher dropped a double in left. Meyers was out, Barry to Davis, Fletcher taking third. Fletcher scored on Crandall's double to right. Crandall scored on Devore's single to left, tieing the score, and the crowd went crazy with delight. Devore was out stealing, Lapp to Barry.

Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning

ATHLETICS—Lapp was out, Crandall to Merkle. Coombs scratched an infield single. It was a close play at first on Meyers' throw to Merkle. Strunk ran for Coombs. Lord flied to Devore. Oldring out, Meyers to Merkle.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Plank started pitching for the Athletics. Doyle doubled to left. Plank grabbed Snodgrass' attempted sacrifice and threw to third base, but too late to catch Doyle. Murray flied to Murphy. Snodgrass was now on first and Doyle on third. Doyle scored on Merkle's sacrifice fly to Murphy.

One run, one hit, no errors.

PURPLE TEAM IS GIVEN HARD SCRIMMAGE WITH FRESHMEN.

Regulars Score Many Touchdowns Against the First Year Men—Kraft Added to Hospital List.

By way of a change the Northwestern team was opposed by the freshman eleven yesterday, Coach Hammett wishing to see how his men would perform against a side not familiar with their signals. The second team is conversant with the varsity plays and so the freshmen were substituted. The regulars had no trouble in getting touchdowns in rapid succession, the coach not letting his men take time to kick goals.

One more regular was added to the injured list, Kraft, who has been at left end, hurting one of his hips. It is possible he my be unable to get into the game against Wisconsin on Saturday. Gruhn and Lamke, who were hurt on Tuesday, were kept out of the practice. If Gruhn's ankle does not improve he may not face the Badgers, in which case Monahan and Wells will get a chance at the full back position.

After trying all his men at kicking, Hammett has about given up, coming to the conclusion there is not a reliable kicker on the team. Linn, at quarter, and Gleason, at right guard, have done the best work, but neither of them has shown great ability, and Hammett believes he will have to get along without a punter and make up for the loss in some other way.

PREPS IN BIG SWIM TONIGHT.

Forty Natators to Meet in Interscholastic Events at I. A. C., Opening the 1911-12 Season.

Forty preparatory school natators, representing Crane, Medill, and Lane High schools, Evanston academy and Lewis Institute, will compete in the first interscholastic swimming meet of the 1911-12 season in the Illinois Athletic club pool tonight. Several members of the Northwestern university squad will meet the I. A. C. swimmers in the open events on the card. As a special feature, two teams of club members will clash in the first game of English water polo ever played in Chicago. As the man with the ball is the only one that can be tackled, the game is less strenuous than American polo, and encourages fast swimming and more passing.

DAN D. TAKES FEATURE EVENT IN WEST CHICAGO CUP RACES.

Wins Two of Three Heats in Free-for-All—Ardmore Proves Surprise in the 2:15 Pace.

Dan D.'s victory in the free for all pace was the feature of the annual cup races of the West Chicago Driving club yesterday. Mr. Beveridge drove the horse the first heat, which A. G. I. won, but after that Al Whitney got up behind the Prodigal gelding which stepped the next mile in 2:13, the half in 1:05, with the second horse not a half head away. The third heat was a repetition of the second.

The surprise of the day came when Ardmore, owned and driven by Cornelius Sullivan, postmaster at Riverside, won the 2:15 pace, in which he was not conceded a chance. Princess J. beat him out in the second heat in a close finish, but in the other two heats he won easily.

The 2:15 trot was another surprise when E. I. Weil's Irish Lad beat the good trotters, Empress Yula and Marnut, in easy fashion. Summaries:

PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN WOMEN

Queensberry Says They Have Every Quality That Makes Happiness.

ADMIRES COLLEGE CO-ED.

Marquis Holds in Utter Contempt Man Who Marries Girl for Money Alone.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.
[Copyright; 1911: By the Marquis of Queensberry.]

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—I am continually being asked to write my impressions of American women. It is such a complex question that I would really rather not do it, but I know that until I do I shall be pestered to death, so here goes.

As a matter of fact, although I have been nine weeks in America, I really have got to know but few American women. I have made a great many friends in Chicago, some of them friends that I shall never forget, and I have met some of their wives, but it always has been at a restaurant or a hotel and not in their own homes. Therefore, for me to be asked to express an opinion on American women is hardly fair. I feel like calling "Time, time."

However, I have formed an opinion of American women, and all I can say is that were I not already married to the sweetest woman on God's earth, I would marry an American girl if she would have me, always provided she had no money. If there is one thing in the world that I hold in utter contempt it is a man who marries for money. I know that there is a lot of feeling about it on this side, but I can assure you that we are just as disgusted about it on our side of the water.

Likes American Women.

I am quite honest in my opinion as to what I say I would do were I not married, because from what I can see of American women they have practically every quality that makes for perfect happiness.

I think your college life here, men and women together, is one of the most interesting features of American life. I cannot conceive any more beautiful period of a man's life than four years passed at one of your American colleges. When a boy is just budding into manhood it is worth everything to him to meet women on an even plane. I think it must, and no doubt does, have an enormous effect on a woman's character. To me the American college girl is one of the most perfect specimens of womanhood that it has yet been my fortune to meet.

I think in the next generation or so you are going to find that it will have a great effect on your divorce statistics. A college bred girl who knows what life really is, is not going to break her heavenly contract for some slip or even a bad mistake on a man's part. Her mind has been widened by contact with men and she has learned to understand that even the best of us at times will kick over the traces. But the good woman will always wait and win her husband back again, as she always can if she only knew it. That is just what the American college girl is going to do.

Dress as Well as in Paris.

I think the women here dress quite as well as they do in Paris. Personally, however, I am not much of a judge of women's dress. I like to see a lady in a little print dress of the simplest kind. I am quite sure that women don't really dress to please men, but only dress to cut each other out.

Likewise there is one thing in the world that I do hate and that is to see a woman's hand covered with jewelry. I think there is nothing in the world so beautiful as a woman's hand, and no woman who has a fine shaped hand and who has any artistic sense should ever put a ring on at all except the plain gold band she gets from the man she loves best.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

NOT EVEN HINTING.

Not given much to the recoil,
Or spitefully retelling it,
Thus seeking some one's yarn to spoil
By deadly-paralleling it

The preachment that is put across
So strikingly spectacular,
Just like the dictum of the boss,
Persuasive and oracular—

Should be allowed to take its rest
Just as the man delivered it,
E'er cruel facts lit on its chest
And rudely shook and shivered it.

We hold that he who has the nerve
To shape our thought and play with it,
Should be allowed, without reserve,
To duck and get away with it.

Far be it, then, from us to pull
Reminders that he told us that
All tips but his were so much bull—
He put it just as bold as that.

Before we'd say he wasn't right
We'd suffer just as much again.
We'd even deny it, if we might,
That Chicory got in Dutch again.

Coach Hammett of Northwestern must be some "caustic critic," gaw's strewth. Having been rebuked by him for their seeming lethargy in scrimmage work, the warriors gallantly responded by laying at their chief's feet at the end of the practice two twisged necks, two wrenched ankles, and one bruised shoulder. The French soldiers never did more than that for Napoleon.

Really, these reports of football practice are a most interesting study, even for a casualist. For example, in preparation for the game with Wisconsin Coach Hammett gives his substitutes the Wisconsin formations and they put it all over the regulars. At the same hour the Wisconsin second eleven using the Northwestern formations inflict similar punishment on the first eleven. When the football student has Fletcherised on this for a spell he can stick it on the bottom of the chair.

The subtle attribute of "class" in baseball seems to have moved out of the flat it was reputed to occupy into the one across the hall without leaving even an old shoe behind.

REPLYING TO G. W. H.

Why should you ask of us in tones like that
What the commission does with all its dough?
Why should you put that question cold and flat?
As if, forsooth, we were supposed to know!
How much of it goes out for what you say
We do not know, nor guessing would we tell.
They may be "carried 'helpless' to the bay."
They've spending none of ours—so what the?

REFERENCE TO MEMPHIS ASSESSORSHIP.

Dubuque, Oct. 24.—Dear Teach: The heart throbs from the inside at the kind words for T. G., the joy of the days when knighthood was in fairer flower. And let it be recorded that T., in addition to having class on the social speedway was a clever boy with his dukes and good to his folks—always.

L. D. M.

O WHY DID THEY HIT HIM LIKE THAT!

"The greatest pitcher that ever hurled a horsehide sphere across a rubber slab."

"Outpitched, outhit, outplayed, and beaten at every point, the great veteran stalled and staved off defeat again and again."

"Only the cleverness, the skill, and the headwork of Mathewson saved New York from a terrible beating."

"The greatest of modern baseball heroes."

"They swatted him for eleven safeties, seven of which were two baggers, yet so magnificently did he rise to the occasion," etc.

And just to think the jury overlooked all that and awarded the gas wagon of excellence to Frank Schulte!

C. A. K.—Will take care of clipping if we don't republish. Thank you.

That will be all right. A stern chase is a long race—with those Athletics making the pace.

Now some thinker of evil will find it in his heart to suggest that possibly the thing is being "juggled" to give the club owners another crack at the oof bird. But nothing like that—nothing like that, we assure you.

CAR OVERTURNS; BUTLER DEAD

President of A. A. A. Killed on Glidden Tour; Walker Hurt.

STEERING GEAR GIVES WAY.

Officials Think Tragedy Will Not Halt Progress of Motor Run.

Tifton, Ga., Oct. 25.—S. M. Butler of Brooklyn, chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile association, was instantly killed near here this morning when the automobile which he was driving in the Glidden tour was overturned. Referee P. J. Walker of San Francisco and his wife, who were in the car, were hurt.

The accident was caused by a break in the steering gear. The car was wrecked and Mr. Butler was instantly killed when he was crushed by the wheel hub. Referee Walker sustained a dislocated shoulder and broken collarbone. Mrs. Walker's arm was broken. Charles F. Kellman of Rochester, N. Y., was in the wrecked car, but escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Mr. Butler is married, leaving a widow and two daughters.

After a delay of a couple of hours, the balance of the cars in the tour continued on their way to Valdosta, and, after a stop of an hour and a half for lunch, proceeded to Live Oak, Fla., the night control.

Go Over Rules for Motor Run.

Drivers, observers, and officials who will take party in the 1,400 mile reliability contest of the Chicago Motor club met at the New Southern last night and went over the rules that will be in force during the five states' tour that starts tomorrow morning, and ends with the return to Chicago one week lated. Changes in drivers were announced on the two Moline entries, J. A. Wicke being switched to No. 100 in the roadster class, and N. Van Dervort to No. 1 in the touring car division.

FURTHER LOSSES SCORED IN GRAIN

Liquidation by Holders Causes Break in Wheat; Foreign Markets Weak.

DECEMBER CORN LOWER.

Continued Selling by Bartlett-Frazier Feature; Hog Products Close Heavy.

Wheat prices suffered further losses yesterday, due to continued heavy tone in foreign markets, more liberal offerings of what from the country, and weakness in corn. Northwestern receipts continue liberal, and the colder weather with more settled conditions is expected to keep the movement of liberal proportions. Buyers were timid and there was further liquidation by local holders. Last prices were ⅛@⅜c lower.

Trade was of moderate proportions and on the first break to $1.01 for the December there was fair buying, but offerings were liberal on all the hard spots. Outside buying was on a minimum scale, and the local bear traders took advantage of this condition to pound prices whenever they showed any weakness.

Cash Demand Is Quiet.

While there were rumors of heavy cash sales late in the day they were not confirmed, and if made were not given out. On the other hand, the southwestern sample markets were weak, with more pressure to sell from the country. St. Louis and Kansas City were both weak for cash wheat. In the northwest there was a good milling demands, but receipts were 455, against 412 cars a year ago. Winnipeg receipts were 757 cars, against 450 cars a year ago.

Primary receipts were 901,000 bu, or 100,000 bu more than a year ago. Receipts here were 87 cars, with 41 cars the estimate for today. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 550,000 bu for four days. There were some complaints of dry weather in Kansas.

Argentine Reports Favorable.

Reports from Argentina continue favorable, and this fact caused a heavy tone abroad, as the expectation of a bumper crop in that country is causing foreigners to believe the Argentine crop will make up for deficiencies elsewhere. Liverpool was ⅝@½d lower, Paris ⅛@⅞c off, Antwerp ⅝c down, Berlin ⅛c up, and Budapest ½c off. Clearances for the day of wheat and flour were 105,000 bu.

Selling of wheat was led by Shearson-Hammill, O'Brien, Barrell, Noyes-Jackson, and Rankin. On the break there was good buying of the May by Ware-Leland and Logan-Bryan. Harris-Winthrop were on both sides of the market. Wire houses generally bought on the break.

Bear Pressure in Corn.

Corn was weak right from the start. Opening prices were lower, and there were further declines during the day. Bartlett-Frazier were again heavy sellers, especially for the December. Champlin, Lamson, and Canby were also on the selling side. Valentine, Cutten, and Ware-Leland bought on the break. Final quotations were ⅝@⅞c to 1⅜@1½c lower. Cables were unchanged from Liverpool.

There were quite a few cars of new corn in the receipts yesterday. Arrivals were 235 cars, with 152 cars estimated for today. Kansas City reported a good demand for cash corn. Cash prices here were steady to ½c lower, with sales of 130,000 bu. Charters were made for 200,000 bu corn to Georgian bay points. Receipts in the west were 515,000 bu, against 458,000 bu a year ago. Weather conditions in the main were favorable. Country offerings were a little larger.

Moderate Trade in Oats.

Trade in oats was of moderate proportions. The tendency of prices was lower in sympathy with other grains, closing prices being ⅜@½c to 1c lower. Country offerings were only fair, but the cash demand was quiet, with sales of 150,000 bu. Sample prices were unchanged to ¼c off. Receipts here were 180 cars, with 118 cars the estimate for today. In the west receipts were 585,000 bu, against 654,000 bu a year ago.

Easy Tone in Products.

Provisions were easier, the big hog receipts here and in the west, with the lower grain markets, causing further scattered selling, while the demand was moderate. Hogs at the yards were 5@10c lower and receipts were 32,000, with 25,000 the estimate for today. Hog run west was 99,700, against 70,100 a year ago. Meats at Liverpool were unchanged, with lard weak and 9d lower. Receipts of product here were 43 cars, with shipments 115 cars.

Medium Barley Higher.

Barley market was strong to 1c higher for medium malting grades. Malting, $1.00@1.25; feed, 75@95c; screenings, 40@70c. Receipts were estimated at 44 cars.

Rye held steady. No. 2 sold at 97c; No. 3, 94@95c; No. 4, 92c. Receipts estimated at 4 cars.

Timothyseed was steady, with March $16.50 bid and cash lots, $13.00@15.50. Cloverseed quiet, with October $20.50 nominal and country lots $14.00@19.50.

Duluth flax, 1½@2c lower. October, $2.41; November, $2.37½; December, $2.32. Receipts, 48 cars. Minneapolis flax was 2c lower, with cash on track $2.37½. Receipts, 41 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

There were rumors of liberal sales of cash wheat yesterday, but no particulars wire given, and the only sales reported were 10,000 bu No. 2 hard at 2½c over the December. Generally cash dealers reported a poor inquiry, and a feature of the situation was the poor demand in the southwest and the comparatively large receipts in the southwest. Omaha continues to receive a lot of wheat, and the milling demand at St. Louis and Kansas City was slow, with indications that farmers have sold quite freely the last few days. Prices for cash wheat had been forced to a level where they were attractive to country holders. St. Louis No. 2 red was ½c off and No. 2 hard 1½c off. Kansas City was about ¼@1c lower. At Minneapolis premiums were firmly held, with local mills there paying about 1c over December for No. 1 northern and country mills taking some at 1¼@1½c over. Winnipeg reported the export demand slow.

"I do not believe there will be more than 50 per cent of the feeding of hogs and cattle in Illinois there was last year," said J. J. Stream. "The marketing of hogs and cattle shows conclusively that the high prices of corn have caused the farmers to sell their stock rather than feed. Hog prices are lower, while cash corn prices have been high, which naturally will cause farmers to sell their live stock and also market their corn. There will be more corn to market from a short crop this year, if prices are maintained at a high level, than there was from the big crop of last year. Moreover, there has not been the amount of new corn placed abroad this season there usually is on account of the high quotations, and this will make a big difference."

Further selling of December corn by Bartlett-Frazier caused a further slump in that future, and there was free selling by local longs. Cash prices were steady to ½c lower, and the offerings from the country were moderate, but there was no demand of importance in the speculative market for the nearby future. The Bartlett-Frazier house was credited with selling about 2,000,000 bu corn during the day, mostly December, part of which was supposed to be for Patten. Champlin was credited with selling out a line of corn on the dip, and other bulls were forced to unload by the decline. The fear of more liberal receipts of new corn was a big factor.

W. L. Gregson: "Contrary to expressed local sentiment, early selling orders were not of enough volume to put the product on a lower basis, although hogs were on the lowest level of the season so far. The great trouble seems to be that trade both at home and abroad are rather impressed with the idea that the product out of 6c hogs will be all right for merchandising later on, and are, therefore, inclined to send buying orders instead of selling orders on that basis."

Forrest, Ill., report to Bennett: "Husking of new corn is general through this section. A local elevator man tells me he will get some new corn this afternoon. This is the first of the season. The weather is ideal for the movement and husking. No old corn lies back in the farmers' hands. The farmers are holding oats for more money."

Complaints of dry weather are being received from Kansas. In some places in this state within 100 miles of Kansas City farmers are said to be hauling water. Dust storms were reported in western Kansas. Omaha advices said there were no complaints from that state, but that rains would be beneficial.

Broomhall cabled: "The continued favorable reports from Argentine and a free and cheaper Argentine offers of new crop wheat serve to check any attempts at an advance. On this point the trade is bearish, as it is thought that whatever shortage in other countries will be offset by a large yield in Argentine."

Kansas City wired: "So far there have been no arrivals of new corn in this market, but some is on the way. The reports that I have heard are disappointing as to yield. Some samples came in yesterday. They were damp and would be hard to shell on account of so much wet weather last few days."

Winnipeg wired: "Light snow is more or less general over the northwest. There is going to be a still further falling off in quality of wheat coming forward. Export demand for all grades continues good. Cash demand for No. 4, 5 and 6 wheat and feed continues good."

It is proposed by the directors of the Chicago board of trade to change the rule governing the delivery of short rib sides as follows: Sides weighing 50 to 60 lbs at contract price; 60 to 70 lbs at 30c discount per 100 lbs; 70 to 80 lbs, 50c discount per 100 lbs.

A Montreal message said: "The Bank of Mengentina has a cable from their correspondent in Argentina that prospects there are for the biggest crop ever raised and that there is nearly a million more acres under cultivation this year than last."

Cash corn was steady to ½c off, and oats unchanged to ¼c lower. Cash sales were 130,000 bu corn and 150,000 bu oats. The shipping demand for oats was moderate.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 41 cars; corn, 152 cars; oats, 118 cars; rye, 4 cars; barley, 44 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛c higher to ½c lower; corn, 1@2c lower; oats, ½c lower; rye, unchanged.

A moderate increase in country offerings of corn, but total purchases were not heavy.

George Watkins posted his membership on the board of trade for transfer.

"CROP FAILURES" ENRICH FARMERS

Agricultural Editor Declares Short Yields Are Most Profitable.

CONSUMER ONLY SUFFERS.

Cost of Production Cuts Returns When Bumper Growth Is Harvested.

BY CLIFFORD V. GREGORY.
[Editor of the Prairie Farmer.]

Some persons who have never husked corn nor swilled pigs have an idea that the farmer's prosperity is measured by bushels and tons rather than in dollars. When drought or bugs or hail diminish the crop, these friends of the farmer shed tears of sympathy and predict a national calamity.

Short crops are a national calamity in a way, but not to the farmer. His feelings of sorrow for the city man who must curtail his purchase of theater tickets to buy beefsteak is short lived. He is too busy adding to his bank account to feel sorry for anybody.

The fact that a "fat year" is often a poor year for the farmer is well brought out in a letter I just received from a Michigan reader at Paw Paw. He says: "In the field, orchard, and vineyard we have big crops, but no market. Tons of peaches were left this year to rot on the ground. Grape growers are getting 6 to 9 cents and paying half a cent for selling, 2½ cents for baskets, and 1 to 1½ cents for harvesting. Poor encouragement for the man behind the grape hoe, eh?

Inflated Reports Cut Profits.

"Apples have been a big crop, too, especially early apples, and you know how Chicago received our apples. On some we did not get back enough to pay for the basket. My net profit was only about 20 cents a bushel."

The truth is, a short year is about the only time when the farmer gets a square deal in the way of prices. When the crop is anywhere near normal inflated reports, fostered by all agencies from the secretary of agriculture down, depress prices considerably below their normal level. When crops are harvested and prices are regulated by bushels rather than by reports the normal level is reached.

But in the meantime the man who had to cash in quickly to pay his rent or an installment on the mortgage or a payment on his new auto has sacrificed his crop for several cents a bushel less than it was really worth. It takes an off year with "crop failures," a standing headline in the daily newspapers, to bring the farmer his due in the way of prices.

1911 Crops Not Abundant.

So it is that this year the farmer is not figuring on wearing his old suit another season or putting off buying that new gasoline engine. While his condition varies in different sections of the country, he is nowhere casting his eyes toward the poorhouse. In general it is true that this year's crops are not generally abundant in all sections. The states of lesser rainfall suffered the worst from this season's drought, though in the case of North Dakota crops this year are better than last.

Iowa was one of the worst sufferers, showing, according to the October crop report, a falling off of sixteen points on corn and nearly thirteen bushels to the acre on oats as compared with last year. East of the Mississippi river the damage, while severe in some sections, is not so widespread.

In order to prove my statement that a moderate shortage in crops benefits rather than injures the farmer under our present conditions of marketing and distribution I have prepared tables showing the Illinois farmers' profits from grain in 1911 as compared with 1910.

Tables Show Farmers' Gain.

	Selling value, 1910	Net profit, 1910.
Winter wheat	$16,953,416	$6,308,838
Spring wheat	1,352,932	755,020

	Selling value, 1911.	Net profit, 1911.
Winter wheat	$16,733,246	$4,912,621
Spring wheat	888,216	237,193
Oats	30,232,813	6,593,249
Rye	660,029	214,241
Barley	726,541	402,419
Hay	21,641,209	8,668,087
Corn	195,428,289	100,159,469
Totals	$266,310,343	$121,187,279

These figures are net, after deducting the cost of growing the crops, and are taken from the reports of the Illinois state board of agriculture, except in the case of corn. The corn figures are estimated, as the crop has not yet been gathered. This estimate, however, I believe to be fairly accurate. The following figures show how it was obtained:

ILLINOIS CORN.

	1911.	1910.
Yield, per acre	*33.8	†39.1

Cost production per acr.	8.98	6.98
Total cost production	95,268,820	94,316,940
Total profit	100,159,469	63,312,060

*Estimated bushels. †Bushels.

Price Expected to Go Up.

In this table the United States department of agriculture is authority for all figures not otherwise accounted for. The yield per acre for this year was obtained by comparing the condition on Oct. 1 this year with the condition on the same date last year. Last year the condition on Oct. 1 was 88, and the final yield 39.1 bushels to the acre. This year the condition on Oct. 1 was 76. Figuring on the same ratio, the yield will be approximately 33.8 bushels per acre.

The farm value Dec. 1, 1911, is the approximate price quoted for December delivery less 9½ cents, the average cost of marketing corn in Illinois. The cost of production per acre is taken from the reports of the Illinois state board of agriculture.

According to these figures, Illinois farmers will have more than $24,000,000 additional to their bank accounts this year than they did last—an increase of about 25 per cent.

Of course it is possible that the price of corn may take an unexpected slump before the farmer has a chance to cash in. With a general shortage, however, and a heavy demand, it is more likely that the price will go up rather than down enough to cut a big hole in the farmer's profits.

That is why the Illinois farmer is wearing a broad smile and saying little about famine or crop failure.

SWINDLING GANG GETS $6,000.

Floats Worthless Checks on Gary Steel Mill on Pay Day—Merchants Victims.

The Chicago police were asked yesterday to search for a gang which, because it was pay day on Tuesday for the employés of the steel mill in Gary, Ind., took advantage of the occasion to float worthless checks to the amount of $6,000. Saloonkeepers, store owners, and business men of Gary were the victims.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—At the beginning of business today the condition of the United States treasury was:

Working balance in treasury offices	$76,133,687
In banks and Philippine treasury	34,155,147
Total balance in general fund	134,705,313

Ordinary receipts yesterday were $1,933,429, with ordinary disbursements of $1,326,569.

The deficit to date this fiscal year is $22,083,910, as against a deficit of $16,418,632 at this time last year.

These figures exclude Panama canal and public debt transactions.

CALL SHERMAN ACT CRUEL AND IMPOSSIBLE TO ENFORCE.

Coal Men Urge Change to Allow "Reasonable Agreements"—National Congress Asks Federal Aid.

Modification of the Sherman anti-trust law to allow "reasonable agreements" between coal operators was urged before the American Mining congress yesterday as an essential to continued progress in mining development and satisfactory service to the public.

"The Sherman law is almost cruel in its operation against our industry," said Z. T. Vincent, a coal operator from Huntington, W. Va. "If it were strictly enforced it would not only bankrupt us but it would bankrupt 90 per cent of the business interests of the country. The only reason we have been able to attain the business importance which we now enjoy is because the department of justice has found it impossible to enforce this law."

Mr. Vincent also spoke at some length on the importance of a comprehensive workingmen's compensation act, declaring uniform legislation by the states on the matter to be beyond hope and suggesting national legislation through a national bureau as the only solution.

During the day the congress indorsed the movement for the deep waterways as an important addition to transportation facilities that would lower the cost of final delivery to the consumer.

John Dern, owner of the Mercuric Consolidated gold mines of Utah and president of the mining congress, made a demand for greater help from the government, commensurate with that given the agricultural industry, and also pleaded for a fairer understanding of mining interests.

EXPECT LOWER ORE PRICES FROM CANCELING OF LEASE.

Scale of Mill Operation Still Large—Markets for Structural Material and Plates Irregular.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"Changes in the market position have been of less importance in the last week than the announcements concerning lower iron ore freights on Minnesota roads and the decision of the steel corporation to terminate its lease of the Great Northern ore lands.

"The whole trade is deeply interested in this latter move, which is taken to mean a reaction from high royalties on lake ores and in time an adjustment of ore prices to open market conditions in finished steel.

"Some cross currents are noticed in business in finished material. Pittsburgh reports that the low prices of the last fortnight are stimulating new demand to a considerable extent. At Chicago, on the other hand, it is noticed that specifications show some falling off.

Price Tendency Still Downward.

"In general the scale of mill operations is still large. The downward tendency of prices has not been arrested, but buyers are trying to buy for longer periods, an effort to which some manufacturers are responding more willingly than others. The chief reduction of the week has been in wire products, sales to jobbers having been made at $1.60 for wire nails and at $1.40 for plain wire.

"The markets for structural material and plates show some irregularities, and a good many buyers have been unable to obtain the lowest prices recently made on large orders.

"In several directions pig iron is weaker. In the east the fact that melters are calling for more iron than furnaces can ship has had no effect upon prices for forward deliveries. Sales are made in all districts for delivery over the first half of 1912 on today's basis. In the Buffalo and Chicago districts sharper competition has appeared in the last week."

Ore Rate Reduction Soon.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

"The reduction in ore freight rates on Vermilion and Mesaba ranges, which will soon become effective, is of far reaching importance to producers and consumers. A readjustment in ore prices for 1912 will necessarily follow, causing a decline in rate from 40 cents to 80 cents on the oro required, to a flatt rate of 60 cents a ton for iron made on both ranges.

"Specifications and current orders for material in the Chicago district showed a slight falling off during the last week. Lw prices are the rule, and each mill is making prices according to its own geographical position without much regard to the Pittsburgh base."

CLASHES MARK WOOL HEARING; ROADS MUST SHOW REVENUES.

Rail Attorneys' Objection Is Overruled—New York Central Admits "Understanding," Denies "Agreement."

Attorneys representing the interstate commerce commission and the National Wool Growers' association clashed yesterday with attorneys of the New York Central lines during an interstate commerce commission hearing of charges of discrimination by the railroads against western wool and hide shippers.

The arguments arose over whether or not the railroads should be required to produce figures showing their gross tonnage of wool and revenues derived therefrom, together with the division of through rates by the railroads. The examiner ruled that the roads should give their gross tonnage and the revenue therefrom, but need not go into the matter of the division of through rates.

A second dispute came up during the testimony of James Webster, assistant freight traffic manager of the New York Central lines, over the words "agreement" and "understanding." Mr. Webster testified regarding the "understanding" between his lines and the Harriman lines and the Nickel Plate road concerning the division of traffic.

Mr. Webster said that in exchange for unconsigned wool traffic passing through Chicago and Mississippi river basing points the New York Central lines turned over automobile traffic west bound to the Harriman lines. Attorneys representing the railroads objected to the word "agreement" used by the examining attorneys on the ground that there was no "agreement," simply an "understanding." The objection was sustained.

Telegraphic advices from Washington stated that the efforts to obtain lower freight rates on the immense flour traffic from Minneapolis and other northwestern points to the Atlantic seaboard were thrown out of the commerce court yesterday when that tribunal declined to extend its mandamus to compel the Lehigh Valley railroad to make a 9.2 cent rate per 100 pounds from Buffalo to New York.

The court's decision was based partly on the fact that the proposed lower rate was not on file with the interstate commerce commission and partly because it did not wish to interfere with percentages already initiated by the flour city line against the Lehigh Valley before the interstate commerce commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today of the purchase by the $2,000,000 Maryland Casualty company of the $500,000 Bankers' Surety company of Cleveland. President John T. Stone of the Baltimore concern has been elected president of the Bankers' Surety company, which is to be continued as a separate corporation by its new owners.

FLAT BUILDINGS SHOW BIG BOOM

Construction Continues on Unprecedented Scale; May Set New Record.

PLANS REACH $7,000,000.

Projects Announced in Last Six Weeks Exceed Any Such Former Period.

The construction of flat buildings continues on an unprecedentedly heavy scale and if the present activity is maintained for the next two months it is thought the total building for the year in this field will come close to the record, despite the extent to which building has been slowed up by the labor troubles of the year. Permits taken out and new projects announced during the last six weeks will approximate $7,000,000, record figures for any such period.

Some of the more important projects announced during the last week comprise a $200,000 building, to contain 100 apartments, at Oakwood boulevard and Ellis avenue; a twenty-five apartment building at Lexington avenue and Sixty-second street, to cost $80,000; a sixty-four apartment building at Belmont avenue and Ravenswood Park, to cost $110,000, and two eighteen flat buildings at Central Park avenue and Polk street and Homan avenue and Polk street, to cost $80,000.

West Side Shows Activity.

There is considerable activity in the South Forty-eighth avenue district on the west side, several transactions being made matters of record yesterday.

Fortune Bros. Brewing company have acquired from Frank P. Keogh the southeast corner of Forty-eighth avenue and Van Buren street, 33x100 feet, the consideration being withheld. The brewing company has also acquired from Thomas J. Harper the southwest corner of Central Park avenue and Fillmore street, 75x125 feet, consideration withheld.

The property in West Madison street, between South Forty-eighth and South Forty-ninth avenues, 50x132 feet, north front, has been sold by Julius Herdecke to George F. Walsh for $2,500. It is understood that all of these are to be improved.

West Madison Property Sold.

The property on West Madison street, 411 feet east of Sacramento avenue, 72x100 feet, north front, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by William H. King to Samuel E. Silverman, the consideration being withheld.

Oliver L. Watson has sold to Max Goodman the property in Western avenue, 48 feet south of Fullerton avenue, 96x100 feet, west front, improved with six one story stores, for $10,500, subject to an incumbrance of $5,600.

The property on West Lake street, 200 feet east of North Forty-second avenue, 50x150 feet, south front, with store improvements, has been sold by Leopold Simon to Julius M. Tornheim for $10,000.

The apartment house property on Irving avenue, 260 feet south of Polk street, with 75x125 feet of ground, east front, and other property, has been sold by Vladimir A. Geringer to Laura Schwartz, the consideration being nominal, and subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

Apartment House Transferred.

Vinzenz Fegel has conveyed to Karsten J. Rehling the apartment house property on Grand boulevard, 410 feet south of Thirty-fifth street, with 50x132 feet of ground, east front, for a stated consideration of $4,441, subject to an incumbrance of $18,000.

Sinclair M. Seator has given a trust deed to J. H. McCortney to secure a loan of $49,000, five years, at 5½ per cent, upon the property in Kenmore avenue, 100 feet south of Balmoral avenue, 100x150 feet, east front, with apartment house improvement.

Abel Davis, president of the Real Estate Title and Trust company and county recorder, will talk on "Efficiency in Public Office" at today's weekly luncheon of the Chicago real estate board.

TAX BODY GUILTY OF CONTEMPT?

Maxwell Edgar Begins Action Against Reviewers—Wants Stock of National Box Company Assessed.

Proceedings to have members of the board of review cited for contempt of court for failure to assess the capital stock of the National Box company were taken up yesterday by Judge Mangan in the Circuit court. Leave to file a petition for an attachment to issue against the members of the board for contempt was asked in a petition presented by Maxwell Edgar.

The petition was presented to the court, but was not filed. A return was made by the board of review setting forth that the capital stock of the company had no value in excess of the value of its tangible property.

The case several months ago was carried to the Supreme court and a writ of mandamus ordering the board of review to make the assessment was issued.

MARSHALL SLAPS ALDRICH PLAN

Indiana Governor Says Scheme for National Reserve Association Means Central Bank.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. Marshall, addressing the Indiana Bankers' association today, expressed disapproval of the Aldrich plan for a national reserve association—which he says means a central bank—or any other plan which tends to centralize capital in Washington or New York.

About half the bankers present applauded the governor and the association gave him a vote of thanks for his speech.

A. Piatt Andrew, assistant secretary of the United States treasury, made an address advocating the Aldrich plan.

A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

A well-known young business man about to open a high class commercial establishment on Michigan avenue would consider giving an interest to young man of good connections with $15,000 to invest. This is an exceptional opportunity for a father of means to establish his son in a high grade business.

ATCHISON SHOWS DROP IN EARNINGS

Preliminary Report for September Gives Increase in Gross; Expenses Grow.

SOUTHERN LINE GAINS.

Exhibits Increase in Gross and Net Returns; Union Stockyards Plan Wins.

The preliminary statement of the Atchison for September makes an indifferent showing with a decrease of $114,218 in gross. The total gross for the month was $8,954,227. Compared with the month of August, there is improvement in gross, since the figures for that month were $8,867,640.

Owing to an increase in operating expenses the net income from operation for September decreased $470,252 compared with the corresponding month last year. There was an increase in taxes amounting to $66,486.

For the first three months of the current fiscal year the gross operating revenues decreased $815,826, while operating expenses increased $1,822,179. The operating income for three months has decreased $1,716,932.

The Southern railway also issued yesterday its figures for September. These make a favorable exhibit, with an increase of nearly $400,000 in gross and a gain of over $118,000 in net from operation. For the first three months the operating income increased $276,122.

Union Stockyards Common.

It is announced that to date between 62,000 and 63,000 out of a total of 65,000 shares of Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stockyards common has been turned in under the agreement whereby the holders were given the option of a guaranteed 9 per cent dividend from the Chicago Stockyards company, or 10 per cent in the form of 5 per cent bonds at 100 for their stock. Of the stockholders who have assented to the plan about 66 per cent have expressed preference for the 9 per cent dividend guarantee, while 33 per cent have elected to take bonds in exchange. Their stock is deposited as collateral back of these bonds.

All the $1,000,000 stock of the Chicago Stockyards company, the leasing company, has been paid in in cash. It is reported that the packers own all this stock.

Corn Products Grind Normal.

E. T. Bedford, president of the Corn Products Refining company, has been making an inspection of the company's plants. He is reported as saying:

"We are inspecting the plants and hope by Jan. 1 to see the Argo plant of the Corn Products company reach 50,000 bu capacity. It is grinding 40,000 bu daily and the Edgewater plant 30,000 bu, while all our plants are grinding a total of about 100,000 bu, or normal consumption.

"We expect to improve our Pekin and Granite City plants to produce more and better. Among our plans for Argo are facilities for manufacturing Karo sirup which we produce at two other plants. Demand for this product is enormous. High prices of corn affected our profits somewhat, but we are earning our dividend. No financial plans are just now under contemplation."

May Pass Cotton Oil Dividend.

Directors of the American Cotton Oil company will meet on Nov. 9 to take action on the dividends on the preferred and common stocks. The dividend on the preferred was not earned last year and of course there was nothing for the common which paid 5 per cent. The impression obtains in Wall street that the common dividend will be passed, although the position of the company on current business is now good.

Big Four Annual.

At the annual meeting of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad company, held at Cincinnati, the retiring directors were reëlected. The stockholders approved the execution of an agreement to a lease of the Saline Valley railroad by the Big Four for ninety-nine years, as well as an operating agreement dated Nov. 1, 1910, with the Evansville, Mount Carmel and Northern road, under the terms of which the Big Four has the right to use the railroad property and franchise for ninety-nine years.

Jump in Union Carbide.

Union Carbide stock has had a quick advance on the local curb. It sold last Saturday at 109½. It jumped yesterday to 114½. The market appears to have been cleaned up and insiders are offering none.

New Haven Dividend.

President Mellen of the New Haven railroad in discussing the prospect for continuing the 8 per cent dividend said yesterday:

"So far as I can see there is no reason to expect any reduction. The present condition of the New York stock market as far as the New Haven road is concerned is due to two causes. The New Haven is being managed conservatively. But because of the acquiring of the Boston and Maine railroad there was a feeling that the Boston and Maine was a burden too heavy for the New Haven to carry. The road is barely making expenses. Within four years, however, I think the Boston and Maine will be a big dividend earner for the New Haven."

Rhodesian Gold Output.

The output of gold in Rhodesia, South Africa, in September showed a falling off from August. The following table shows the output by months since 1908:

Canadian Railroad Project.

A. D. McArthur, a railway contractor of Winnipeg, and several associates have acquired a charter for a railroad extending from Edmonton to Fort George, B. C., and south to St. Paul. The proposed line will traverse the richest portion of the Peace river district, crossing British Columbia, via Pine River pass, north of Yellow Head pass, and opening a vast region. The road will be more than 2,000 miles long and take the form of two sides of a triangle whose apex will be at Pine River pass.

An exploratory survey party is now going over the route. It is expected the line will be completed within four years.

TOBACCO TRUST'S PLAN TO SUCCEED?

Wall Street Thinks Scheme's Chances Increased by Richardson Settlement.

REPUBLIC STEEL LOWER.

Interest on New York Exchange Confined to Two or Three Securities.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—With the approach of the date for the hearing on the American Tobacco plan, interest in the financial community is becoming more centered on the situation presented by the efforts of the tobacco trust to reorganize in keeping with the decree of the Supreme court.

Interest in the matter was heightened today by the announcement of the settlement between the American Tobacco company and the Richardson company, which leaves the company itself and the government as the only remaining parties to the suit, and the interpretation Wall street put upon this incident was that it increased the chances of the American Tobacco plan being put through without important alteration.

This conception of the case was based in part on the belief that Attorney General Wickersham is satisfied with the broad outlines of the plan proposed by the company. There must necessarily exist more or less uncertainty on this point until the government has stated its position before the court, but meanwhile attention is being paid in Wall street to the opinion being expressed in banking circles that no serious objection will be raised by the government against the general terms of the proposed readjustment.

Interest in Independents' Brief.

A good deal of interest was taken in the suggestions advanced by the independent tobacco interests in the brief their counsel filed with the Circuit court today, but the form of stock distribution suggested by them was not regarded as feasible inasmuch as it was thought to be almost certain that some, at least, of the American Tobacco stockholders would object to the distribution to them of anything less or anything different than that allotted to other stockholders under the plan of dissolution.

The suggestion that the company should be split up into a still larger number of units than those provided for under the company's plan might be adopted without materially affecting the situation unless some way were also found of preventing control of all of these companies being lodged in the hands of the same individuals.

The independents are insistent that this should be done, but no plan the financial community regards as feasible seems yet to have been suggested whereby this purpose could be accomplished. American Tobacco securities were strong in today's trading, reflecting belief in the probable success of the company's plan.

Apart from the forward movement in the tobacco securities, the trading on the stock exchange aroused little interest except in the cases of two or three securities.

Decline in Republic Steel.

The most pronounced changes of the day among the stocks at all active were the declines in the stocks of the Republic Iron and Steel company, for which there was no explanation advanced apart from the fact that the recent course of steel prices has greatly reduced manufacturing profits, and that net earnings at the moment are, therefore, profiting little by the fact that the volume of output is large.

Monetary matters contributed their quota to the day's developments of interest, among them being the excellent report of the Bank of Germany, which showed further substantial recuperation from the strain to which the German money market was submitted last month. The comfortable progress of the fortnightly settlement at London and improvement in consols and rentes were among the cheerful contributions to the day's financial record.

The rapid outward movement of cotton has been one of the things which have contributed to the large expansion in this country's credits abroad.

Money on call, steady, 2@2⅜ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜ per cent; closing bid offered at 2 per cent. Time loans, easier; sixty days, 3¼@3½ per cent; ninety days, 3½@3¾ per cent; six months, 3¾ per cent. Closing: Prime mercantile paper, 4½@4¾ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8375 for sixty day bills and at 4.8695 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83. Bar silver, 54⅛c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds, steady. Railroad bonds, steady.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were quiet today. The general settlement commenced on the stock exchange and carry over rates for American shares ranged from 4 to 5 per cent. Business for the new account was good, and fresh buying and bear covering gave the markets a firm tone, especially in the home rails, Kaffirs, and gilt edged securities sections. Chinese issues were weak exceptions. American securities after a quiet opening advanced on fair buying. This demand subsided at the end of the first hour, and the market scarcely moved until the last half hour, when New York offerings caused recessions and an easy closing.

LOW GRADE EGGS TAKE RISE; RECEIPTS MEET BRISK CALL.

Potatoes Reach Higher Average—Butter Firm—Cheese Up—Poultry Shows Dull—Live Hens Lower.

Low grading eggs at Chicago yesterday were advanced 1c a dozen, bringing quotations on seconds to 8@11c. General receipts of eggs were 4,087 cases, all of which cleared briskly at firm prices. Butter arrivals were 7,767 tubs and the market was firm. Cheese values were firm to ½c higher.

Cheap Wisconsin potatoes were raised from 57c a bushel to 60c in carload lots. Minnesota potatoes were unchanged. Total receipts were 81 cars. Business in fresh fruits and green vegetables was quiet, with prices showing few changes.

A reduction of ½c a pound was made in the price of live hens, and there was a slow market for spring chickens at the former quotation of 10c a pound. Most of the stock received was of inferior quality and dressers, the principal buyers, took hold sparingly.

PROTEST ON TOBACCO PLAN.

Three Independent Associations Claim That Competition Will Not Be Restored by Scheme.

New York, Oct. 25.—Formal objections to the proposed plan of reorganization of the American Tobacco company were filed today with the United States Circuit court by counsel for three associations of so-called independent tobacco manufacturers and producers. The brief states that the plan will not restore competitive conditions because ownership of each of the new companies is practically identical.

Dairy Freight Rate Unreasonable.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—Proposed increases in the freight rates on cream and condensed milk from the dairying districts of Ohio and Indiana eastward to Pittsburgh were held by the interstate commerce commission today to be unreasonable.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

STRIKE VOTE IN ON ROCK ISLAND

Decision as to Peace or War on System Will Be Known Within Few Days.

AFFECTS MORE THAN 5,000

Wages Question at Issue, Employes' Federation Already Having Been Recognized.

On the outcome of a referendum vote just finished largely will depend whether the Rock Island system will become involved in a shopmen's strike similar to that through which the Illinois Central is now passing.

The result of the vote will be known in a few days. Its announcement will be made to the officials of each of the following five crafts represented, involving between 5,000 and 6,000 men:

Blacksmiths, Car men,
Machinists, Sheet metal workers.
Boilermakers,

Federation Already Recognized.

The Rock Island situation differs from the Illinois Central strike in that a question of wages and not recognition of the federation is the point at issue, the Rock Island officials having recognized the federation two months ago when a conference was held between representatives of the railroad company and the federation. The referendum is as to the question of acceptance of the wage scale submitted.

Propositions and counter propositions were submitted by the federation and the railroad company, the matter sifting down to a final proposition by the company, which now is in controversy.

Illinois Central Makes Claims.

Officials of the Illinois Central claim conditions are rapidly approaching normal, notwithstanding the shopmen's strike is still in effect. Freight traffic is reported to be 93 per cent of normal, and the coal traffic on the St. Louis division is placed at normal, 500 cars a day.

The only points at which there is any real trouble are Water Valley and McComb, Miss., where the militia are on guard.

Prayer opened the massmeeting yesterday of the striking Illinois Central shopmen in Turner hall, East Seventy-fifth street and Dobson avenue. It was estimated 3,500 strikers and sympathizers attended.

James W. Kline, international president of the railway blacksmiths, predicted a gigantic industrial upheaval as the result of the Illinois Central and Harriman strikes.

FINNERAN JURY IN DEADLOCK; STRICT WATCH MAINTAINED.

State Prosecutor Day During Argument Impugns Motive of Defense in Retaining Attorney Rittenhouse.

After hours of deliberation the jury in the case of James Finneran, who is on trial before Judge Gridley on a serious charge, was deadlocked late last night. Finneran, who is president of local No. 571 of the Electrical Workers' union, is accused of attacking 15-year-old Evelyn Florin, a student nurse at St. Margaret's hospital of Hammond. The case was given to the jury at 2:30 p. m. yesterday.

Under orders from the court an unusually strict watch was maintained over the jury room.

Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Day, in his closing argument, declared Attorney W. A. Rittenhouse, counsel for the defense, had been brought into the case for the purpose of influencing him in his prosecution. The prosecutor explained that Rittenhouse is an intimate friend.

Rittenhouse was made the object of a sensational charge during the progress of the trial as a result of an alleged blow given Mother Superior Eusebia, head of the hospital at Hammond, where the Florin girl was a student. The attorney subsequently was vindicated in a hearing before Judge Gridley.

ALDERMEN GO ON EXPEDITION 140 FT BELOW LAKE SURFACE.

City Fathers Inspect Water Tunnel—Mule Runs Away and Sitts Falls Into Pool.

Attired in hip boots and carrying lanterns, twenty-one aldermen shouted and sang yesterday as they unofficially inspected the five mile water tunnel 140 feet below the surface of Lake Michigan.

Ald. Bellfuss and Twigg refused to finish the adventure when an unusual amount of seepage in the center caused a panic in the promenade. A runaway mule contributed further to the adventure, and Ald. John S. Derpa proved himself a hero by rescuing Ald. Sitts from a deep pool into which he had slipped.

All pronounced the work a great success. The tunnel, recently constructed, is at Seventy-third street and will provide the far south side with a new water supply system. When the floodgates of the tunnel are opened, soon after the first of the year, it is estimated that a daily supply of 3,000,000 gallons can be maintained if necessary. The tunnel connects a pumping station two and one-half miles out in the lake.

GEMS WORTH $10,000 STOLEN.

Sample Case Disappears from Lobby of Hotel While Porter Is Guarding It.

A sample case containing about $10,000 worth of jewelry belonging to W. C. Barry of Barry & Co., jewelers, of Newark, N. J., was stolen from the lobby of the Palmer house yesterday.

Barry registered last Friday. Yesterday morning he and his assistant took three sample cases from his room and carried them to the lobby. The assistant left one with a porter.

While the porter's attention was distracted a man picked up the sample case and walked out of the lobby. The jewelry consisted chiefly of diamond scarf pins, diamond rings, diamond watch fobs, and diamond lockets.

GOODWIN ACCUSED. AS FAKER.

Actor's Mining Company Scored by Government in Trial of "George Graham Rice."

New York, Oct. 25.—A jury for the trial of Jacob Herzig, otherwise known as George Graham Rice, and associated in the brokerage firm of Scheftels & Co., was completed in the United States Circuit court today. The government prosecutor declared that the Scheftels took over the business of the Nat C. Goodwin company when that corporation ceased to exist in 1909, and that "false representations made by the Nat C. Goodwin company were continued by the Scheftels." They especially "played up," he said, "the Rawhide Coalition mines stock inherited from the Goodwin company."

Receipts of 27,000 Head Cause Sharp Break in Figures.

HOGS ALSO SELL LOWER.

Bulk Clears 10 Cents Down; Sheep and Lambs Hold Level.

Under stress of receipts of 27,000 head beef cattle prices at Chicago yesterday broke 10@25c, with the plain and medium steers showing the maximum loss. Fancy beeves escaped with a decline of 10@15c, topping at $8.75, as contrasted to $8.90 Monday. The trade was exceedingly slow and the market closed at the bottom, with late sales at the full decline. Cows and heifers were lower than at any previous time this season, while calves held at the foregoing day's break of 75c@$1.00, with fancy vealers at $8.00@8.25.

Hogs opened at a decline of 5@10c, and the bulk of the supply cleared at prices that were fully 10c lower than Thursday's general range. The average figure dropped 9c to $6.26, while the top for the day was $6.45, a decline of 10c.

Sheep and lamb receipts disappointed buyers and a temporary check was placed on the downward movement of values. Sellers could not enforce better prices, however, and native lambs could not pass the $6.00 mark, although rangers reached $6.10. Best sheep made $3.80.

To everybody who wants a good high-class piano, but doesn't want to put much money into it:

Why not step into the Bent store and reap the benefit of our last week's sales of player-pianos?

Some really splendid pianos have been turned in by customers who have just changed over to our Bent Angelus, Emerson Angelus, Crown Combinola, and other improved instruments. Most of these exchanged pianos have been used more or less—some very much less.

All that are offered below are in good condition—a great opportunity to get a high grade piano for much less than even a cheap instrument would cost you new. Come in and look and listen.

The Geo. P. Bent reputation for generous value and square treatment is your protection in the purchase of a used piano just as in buying a brand new one.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit, and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4303 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the state of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

THRONG ATTENDS WALSH'S FUNERAL

Hundreds of Former Business Associates and Employes Fill Residence.

HIS WISHES CARRIED OUT.

Banker's Desire for Simple Ceremonies and Private Burial Fulfilled.

Several hundred persons, many of them former associates and employés, filled the Walsh residence at 2133 Calumet avenue yesterday afternoon when the funeral of John R. Walsh was held. A large crowd was on the street to watch the departure of the family, and a few close friends for Oakwoods cemetery, where the services were private.

All day—in fact, ever since the former banker's death Monday evening—neighbors and old business associates filed through the house. The hall and the rooms on the first floor were banked with flowers. Automobiles which went to the cemetery ahead of the funeral party at the close of the service carried many flowers.

The service, in charge of the Rev. William E. Toll, was simple, as Mr. Walsh had wished. The selection of the pallbearers from among his old employés also was as he had wished. The private service at the cemetery he suggested months ago when he first began to think he had not long to live.

At Bedford, Ind., the center of the territory which had been built up by Mr. Walsh in his railroad and industrial enterprises, all business was stopped for part of an hour while the services were in progress 260 miles away.

ARMY RECRUIT UNDER FIRE FALLS ON KNEES IN PRAYER.

Private Early Shows Mettle When Blaze Threatens Recruiting Office—Girls Carried Down Ladders.

Within a few minutes after he had signed the papers that made him a part of the national fighting machine, Private Robert Drake, a colored recruit of the United States army, was put under fire yesterday. A blaze broke out in the building at 501 State street, on the third floor of which the recruiting station is located. Drake was the first to sniff the smoke. Instantly he dropped to his knees and called out to the other soldiers in the room:

"Say your prayers, boys. We're all going to be burned to death."

The flames had made such headway before the firemen arrived that two girls, Bessie Churchill and Tessie Young, attendants in a bath parlor on the second floor, could not get down the stairs. Rescuers found them screaming in the windows and carried them down ladders.

Drake and his companions in the meantime had escaped.

"I hope war ain't nothing like this," said the colored soldier, as he wiped the beads of perspiration from his brow.

The Reputation of

OUR FURS

FOR THOROUGH RELIABILITY

This reputation has been built up by our standard of fur quality, which demands the use of materials of the highest character, as well as the high-grade workmanship of our perfectly equipped manufacturing plant.

Experienced buyers of furs understand how important a large stock of skins is in securing the perfect matching, which adds so much to the appearance and value of a fur garment or set. Every skin in our superior stock has been personally selected for its individual excellence by our representative at the primary fur markets of the world. These superior skins have been cleverly worked into garments, scarfs and muffs of style that merit the most exacting standard of criticism in every detail.

While some of the garments and sets are made of the rarer furs, and are, necessarily, expensive, many others are equally desirable for their style and beauty and are very moderately priced.

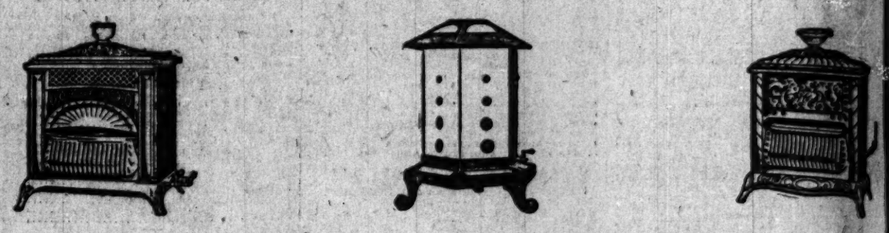

FOURTH FLOOR, NORTH ROOM.

You Roast One Minute and Freeze the Next

when you try to heat a house in Fall weather with a stove or furnace.

A gas heater is the only heater that will actually furnish heat on tap—for an hour or two every frosty morning and every damp, chilly evening. Just enough heat to keep the house warm and cozy all through the Fall.

A gas heater postpones the necessity of starting up the more expensive and less controllable regular heating plant until real winter comes.

These little gas heaters have been greatly improved recently. They cost from $3.50 to $18 and are sold on liberal monthly payment terms, which we will be glad to explain at our downtown or any of our outlying stores.

Of course we deliver and connect them for home use FREE.

ANTIQUES

That Lend Distinction

"It is just these old relics of days gone by that lend the final touch of distinction to our modern homes. They link us with the past—they give us solidarity. They make us feel our heritage in a time that is no more. Frequently it is just some such little object—of itself of no vast significance—which brings atmosphere and feeling to an otherwise meaningless room."

¶ Here in Chicago we are fortunate in having the most complete stock in the West of authentic Imported Antiques—in Furniture, Paintings and Bric-a-Brac of various kinds. You will find much here that will interest you, much that is quaint and curious. Perhaps there is also the article you have been seeking for your library or living room. Your inspection is invited.
